NO PREMEDITATION SHOWN

The evidence before Justice C. M. Brown in the preliminary hearing of Josh Mills on Monday is published in today's News.

The evidence does not disclose any premeditation, therefore the case can hardly be one of first degree murder and older murder in the first degree of manslaughter.

It would appear that the attorneys for the defense are quite sure that the defendant would not be admitted to bail. Immediately after the justice had announced his decision and almost before he had finished Mr. Daniel, attorney for the prosecution drew from his pocket a typewritten commitment already prepared and handed it to the justice with the request that he sign it.

LOCAL MAN PREFERRED

The Daily News appears an article on the 14th Mr. John Tooley of Bellamy. This article is a clear, concise statement of the situation confronting the Board of Education at the special meeting next Saturday, January 24th. They are called upon to elect a new superintendent to succeed Mr. W. L. Vaughan who has resigned.

The Board in their efforts to secure his successor will first require efficiency, regardless of location. After considering the applications before them, should there be one from this county who meets the requirements he should be given preference.

First, because he is no doubt more familiar with the people and conditions throughout the county than would be an absolute stranger.

Second, he has been under the supervision of Supt. Vaughan and knows his ways and methods of handling the schools which have proved successful.

Third, it is the duty of every citizen to lend encouragement to those located in our midst.

Men should of course, win on their merits and not through so-called pull or political favoritism, party politics, nor any other kind of politics should be permitted to enter into the selection of a superintendent but if Beaufort county has a man qualified to fill the position, give it to him.

GOT RELIEF IN TWO DAYS

QUICK WORK OF BEAR'S PETROLEUM OF EMULSION

L. H. Pick had a Bad Cough, No Appetite, and Felt of Account

Dear Sir:—In the winter of 1908 I had a very severe cough, no appetite, pain through my back and lungs and felt weak and of no account. Bear's Emulsion was recommended to me by a friend and I got a bottle and after the first 2 days I felt like myself again and never had anything to help me like it did. Last year (1909) my wife began to complain as I did. So without waiting for anything I got another bottle of your Emulsion and although she took it very irregularly she began to improve at once. There is nothing better for a run-down system and cough.

Yours very respectfully, Leo H. Pick. Don't you expect to do something for that long standing cough? Don't you expect to get something to build up your system. Get Bear's because it is not hard on the stomach and has proven to be the best. Sold by Worthy & Etheridge.

Hot Biscuit Delicious Healthful

are made with Royal Baking Powder, and are most appetizing, healthful and digestible foods.

Hot biscuit made with impure and adulterated baking powder are not so appetizing, nor so wholesome.

It all depends upon the baking powder.

Take every care to have your biscuit made with Royal, which is a pure cream of tartar baking powder, if you would avoid indigestion.

Strong, healthy draft horses can be produced without cost. An expert in progress at the Kansas Agricultural college has discovered the best common among farmers that this feed is necessary for growing colts.

The experiment, which is to last three years, was started last January by the department of animal husbandry. Twenty colts were purchased, ten grades and ten pure breeds. These colts were divided into two lots, with five pure breeds and five grades in each.

For nearly a year the two lots have been fed the same sort of roughage, alfalfa, corn fodder and pasture. One lot has been fed oats every day, and the other has had a combination ration consisting of 70 per cent corn, 25 per cent bran and 5 per cent of molasses. These percentages are based upon weight, not volume. One pound of this mixture contains the same distributable elements as one pound of oats. Also from the standpoint of energy value the two feeds are equal pound for pound.

"The test shows that there is a great chance for saving in feeding," said Dr. C. W. McCampbell, assistant professor of animal husbandry, who has charge of the test. "A farmer can better afford to feed the mixed ration with corn at 85 cents a bushel, bran at $30 a ton of meal at $40 a ton and oats at 50 cents a bushel. The figures will prove it. When the experiment was begun, in January, prices were more nearly normal than they are now. Oats at that time cost 10 1/2 cents a day, while the combination feed cost 8 1/4 cents a day."

A Model Child. George III. was such a thrifty king that we cannot doubt that he hugged the little chap, of whom Thackeray tells this delightful story, and longed to knight him on the spot.

One day, when the king and queen were walking together, probably at Kew, they met a little boy; they were always fond of children, the good folks—and patted the little towhead.

"Whose little boy are you?" asked the king.

"I am the king's beef eater's little boy," replied the child.

On which the king said, "Then kneel down and kiss the queen's hand."

But the innocent offspring of the beef eater declined this treat.

"No," said he; "I won't kneel, for if I do I shall spoil my new breeches."

—Youth's Companion.

Didn't Miss a Dose. Old lady looking contentedly out of window in railroad train. Interest of passengers excited by ringing of what sounds like an electric bell. Old lady calmly opens up grip and shuts off an alarm clock which had begun to ring. Takes bottle of medicine from pocket and drinks spoonful. Resets clock, closes grip and again looks out of window, remarking casually to her neighbor: "Best little reminder that I know of. I have to take my medicine every two hours, so I carry that alarm clock with me, the alarm set so that it will ring when medicine time comes around."—New York Tribune.
