Making the Little Farm Pay
By C. C. BOWSFIELD

HORTICULTURE is going forward again in the central states after a long period of neglect. Farmers are acquiring business ideas and begin to understand that a well balanced program fruit is an important feature. It is much more profitable than dairying or grain raising.

stand pruning, but it is fatal to young ones. A liberal dressing of stable manure before plowing is recommended. Fall plowing is best. Fertilizer is necessary whether other crops are grown or not. There is such a thing as starving trees.
In many cases it will be found that the old trees have exhausted practically all the available nutritive material contained in the soil, and they need considerable nitrogen in order to produce new wood and to put new vigor into them, and therefore they will stand lots of stable manure. But if they were young, bearing trees in their prime they would need only a light dressing of manure.

Turkish Baths.

The proper way to take a Turkish bath is to get into the hot room, the moderately hot one, until a feeling of oppression has passed off. Then move on into the second, the hot room, as it is called. The third one, called the oven, should seldom be used, as the heat is too intense to be safe. It is best to be content with a mild perspiration at first and to stay in too short a time rather than too long. People are apt to think that the more they perspire the better they will be, but that is not the case, and what is more, there is an element of danger in prolonging the process. Taken quietly and with discrimination, Turkish baths are one of the greatest boons to suffering humanity.—New York Times.
