SPRING PREPARATION ON SOUTH ERN FARMS.

In no section of the country does a well-prepared seed bed give better returns than in the southern states. The best spring preparation of the soil is practically impossible unless it has been properly turned and deeply broken during the previous summer or fall. The necessity for deep plowing in the South is probably not realized by those who are not familiar with the heavy rainfall in this section, which frequently packs and runs the particles of soil together so as to exclude air and sunshine. The absence of freezing prevents any loosening up of the particles; besides in many places there is an almost impervious hardpan of subsoil, either natural or brought about from a continuous custom of shallow plowing. In other sections this deepening and loosening of the soil is done partly at least by the forces of nature, but it can only be accomplished by the plow in the South.

The best implement for deep breaking of the soil is the disk plow, which turns, pulverizes, and mixes at the same time. When properly adjusted the disk breaks the land deeply and thoroughly loosens it, and deplores the result.

Of all things, talk is the one thing that ought to be monopolized. On that, we are advocates of high tariff, robber baron, monopolist and everything else that one would wish to call us.

Our own talk is an antiseptic wash or allopathic remedy for the talk of others. Whenever the telephone lines, with wires or without, go out, politicians whenever politicians come to catch the bull by the tail and throw him around the lot for a public butchering, whenever executives in state or nation follow the Asiatic fashion of committing suicide by swallowing their tongues, the state will do likewise.

In the meantime the P. O., to the contrary notwithstanding, we purpose to use our tongue, even if, on rare occasions it becomes a lash!

NOTICE OF SALE
 By virtue of the power of sale contained in a certain Mortgage Deed dated the 29th day of October, 1909, by Rhoden Holland and W. D. Grimes, which said Mortgage Deed is duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds for Beaufort county, in book 143, at page 39, the undersigned will, on the 23rd day of March, 1914, at 12 o'clock M., offer for sale at the Court House door in the town of Washington, North Carolina, for cash to the highest bidder the following described land:

That tract of land lying and being in Washington township and beginning at the junction of R. W. Wharton and the Mill road running west to Tranter's Creek road; thence with the said Tranter's Creek road South to Tranter's Creek; thence down the said creek running an easterly direction to R. W. Wharton's line; with R. W. Wharton's line running North to the beginning, containing ten (10) acres, more or less.

The said land adjoins the lands of Riley Sheppard, John Sheppard, Warren Sheppard and Peter Smaw. It being the same land conveyed to Rhoden Holland by Geneva J. Debee, by deed bearing date December 22nd, 1909, and reference is hereby made to the said deed for further description. Default having been made in the payment of the bond recited in the aforesaid Mortgage Deed from Rhoden Holland to W. D. Grimes this sale is made to satisfy and pay the said bond.

This 18th day of Feb. 1914.

Wonderful Cough Remedy.
 Dr. King's New Discovery is known everywhere as the remedy which will surely stop a cough or cold. D. P. Lawson, Edison, Tenn., writes: "Dr. King's New Discovery is the most wonderful cough, cold and throat and lung medicine I ever sold in my store. It can't be beat. It sells without any trouble at all. It needs no guarantee." This is true because Dr. King's New Discovery will relieve the most obstinate of coughs and colds. Lung troubles quickly helped by its use. You should keep a bottle in the house at all times for the members of the family. For sale at all drug stores or by mail, H. E. Becklen & Co., Philadelphia or St. Louis.

LIKE EVE, SHE WILL ROAM WOOD

Daring Girl Will Take Neither Provisions nor Arms.

MAY RETURN FULLY GLAD

To Obtain Clothes by Slaying Animals and Using Skins—Daughter of Guide Says Knowledge of Woodcraft Will Enable Her to Succeed—Expert Shot With Rifle and Skillful With the Rod.
 Portland, Me.—Garbed only in the original attire of Mother Eve, Miss Bana Douglas of Stratton will enter the dense woods of Franklin county and remain there two months some time this year. She will take neither weapons, clothing nor provisions, but will trust to her woodcraft and her knowledge of game to enable her to live and to come forth fully clad and in the fighting trim. She is a fearless ranger of the forests and her friends say she will accomplish her difficult task.

Miss Douglas declares she will enter the forests of her native county as recently clad as when she was born and will come forth, at the end of the two months fully clothed in such garb as she can obtain in the woodlands. She will take nothing, feeling certain that she can provide for herself whatever she needs of food and raiment.

Fear of modern Actaeon seems to deter her mind. Miss Douglas greatly prefers the woods and fields and streams, with their hunting, freedom and fishing, to a love romance.

Since childhood the girl, a daughter of Gus Douglas of Stratton, has followed her father hundreds of miles in the woods, has absorbed his fund of wood lore and has studied the forests and inland waters with their teeming life. The father is an expert trapper, fisherman and guide, and just now he, another man and Miss Douglas are across the Canadian border on a shooting trip.

Miss Douglas knows every kind of tree and bird and animal to be found in the Dead river region of this state, knows every sort of animal of the field and river banks and every variety of fish frequenting Carrabasset river and the south and north branches of the Dead river itself in her home district. She knows all their habits and peculiarities and has no fear of life alone among them for two months.

Stratton is a part of the town of Eastis, forty-eight miles north of Farmington. The settlement and all the region of the Dead river, lying thereabout are thinly populated, comparatively speaking, but they offer a great field for the sportsman with rod and gun. From her home town to the Canadian border no pond, stream or trail is unknown to this twentieth century Diana, and the crack of her rifle always brings down that at which she aims. With her endurance and knowledge of the woods and game she is ideally equipped for her coming adventure.

Miss Douglas last summer carried the mails over the rural route from Stratton to and through neighboring settlements for upward of twenty-five miles and in all sorts of weather and under many difficulties. She is not of large frame, but is strong and agile, the simple life of the backwoods serving in the twenty-three years of her life to conserve her strength and to build up a rugged constitution.

The girl seeks no notoriety in the venture she will make, and in all probability the outside world will never know she has completed her two months alone with the forest dangers until the time is up. Unfished for at attention may be attracted to the venture, but the girl's family will guard against intruders.
