"With Lilies and Sweet Flowers"

"Go forth ye radiant things of scent and bloom
Who know not toil or spinning—
Brighten with life My risen Son's cleft tomb
The Easter triumph winning!"

NOTICE TO AUTO OWNERS.

We want to take this means to thank our customers for their kind patronage. We started in the automobile business in October, 1911, were the first to enter the field here, and we have little by little, built up our business to where it is now, and we hope to, by your cooperation and assistance, to increase it month by month.

We want to give good service and turn out good work. We want soon to put some machinery and other modern garage equipment.

There is one thing we hate to mention, but we are obliged to, owing to every-day occurrences and circumstances, that ONE thing is credit. We are called on each day most to pay certain obligations, and we can't pay our bills unless our patrons pay us. We have already too much on our books, and we are going to ask our good friends not to ask us to put anything on our books for over 15 or 20 days. It is not pleasant for us to go two or three and some times a dozen times with one statement to a man; and from now on we can positively not extend credit for over 30 days at the outside. Credit has been the downfall of many, many men, but we don't want it to be ours. Help us to succeed; you need a good garage in Washington, and we intend to have one here that will be modern and up to date.

Now we hope everybody will take this just as it is intended, because it is not intended for any one individual.

We again thank you for your patronage and assure you we appreciate any and everything that you may put our way.

Yours very truly,
WASHINGTON MOTOR CAR CO.

AN IMPROVEMENT.

The management of the Lyric Theater has just treated the front of their playhouse to a new coat of paint, which adds much to its attractiveness.

Report of Investigating Committee Washington Collegiate Institute As to the Conditions Existing There

Below we publish a report of the committee, who during the past week have been engaged in investigating affairs and conditions at the Washington Collegiate Institute.

The Report.
Nearly all the students at Washington Collegiate Institute are at their homes for the Easter vacation. Four or five are obliged to remain in bed at the institute, victims of measles. Miss Bryan, one of the teachers, is there also with the same affliction. It is bad enough to have measles ordinarily, but to have them destroy a student's vacation privilege, especially in his first year, is doubly annoying.

The atmosphere at the institute for some two weeks past was rather intense and excited, but during the last three days before vacation both faculty and student body came gradually to better understanding, and at the close there was comparative calm and serenity. Its climax was reached on Sunday night when a number of the young men took Lullu Mann, one of their number, from his bed, gagged and carried him out on to the campus and subjected him to some trying physical experiences. He was handled rather roughly, but not seriously hurt. He believes that there were six to eight persons involved in the incident, and thinks he identified some of them, but has no idea who most of them were. Naturally, he was very indignant for two or three days and took counsel with his friends outside the school as to whether he should seek redress at law. Some of these counsels were for such a course, but most of his friends advised him against it, and he decided yesterday to drop the matter. He went to the authorities of the school and stated that he did not want any student punished on his account, and that he was entirely willing to have the investigation discontinued. He said that he would return to school at the opening next week, and hoped to remain to the end of the year. The authorities appreciate the generous action of Mr. Mann, but realize also the gravity of the situation, and every effort is being made to determine who was responsible for his mistreatment. Washington Collegiate Institute is to be a school of law and order at any cost.

THE COMPANY HAS DELIGHTED THE AUDIENCES

American Girl Company Close Their Engagement With Performance Tonight.

Another great show was pulled off at the New Theater last night and those attending, as usual, are praising the attraction to the skies. The American Girl Company have done nothing the entire week but please the patrons of this well-known playhouse with high class productions. They close their week's engagement tonight and the prospects are for a crowded house. No better show for the money has been seen in Washington. Interest does not lag a moment from the time the curtain rises to the fall. The entire company is strong and worthy. Each and every member are artists in their line. Those who attend the closing performance tonight will be more than repaid.

JURORS ARE DRAWN FOR NEXT COURT

The next term of Beaufort County Superior Court convenes here on Monday, May 4, and will be for a term of two weeks. The first week criminal cases will be disposed of and the second week only civil. The Board of County Commissioners at their session this week drew the following for jurors:

First Week.
H. T. Latham, Samuel F. Boyd, Seth Bridgman, J. W. Hummings, J. I. Deal, T. A. Tuten, W. L. Daniels, J. W. Chesson, J. F. Bishop, A. Miller, L. L. Knight, C. A. Campbell, Jr., R. L. Jones, Joseph F. Harding, R. J. Quiddy, Jr., J. P. Clayton, J. C. R. Buck, G. F. Clark, C. L. Potter, S. M. Mallison, C. T. Sawyer, W. H. Morgan, M. M. Candy, David Hill, J. E. Hudnell, George D. Pilley, L. R. Cutler, A. S. Jordan, G. S. O'Neal, L. M. Hudnell, Ernest Swindell, R. H. Thompson, W. J. Whitley, W. H. Baker, J. L. Sawyer, Flavious Allgood.

NEXT WEEK'S ATTRACTION IS VERY PROMISING

For next week's amusement the New Theater will have another one of their musical comedy companies like they have had all of this week. The "American Girl Company" this week has certainly made a big hit here. If this theater continues to put on such attractions as this one, they will have a capacity house every night. The prices are cheap, and every one can afford to go every night. For next week Hyatt and LeNore will present a series of musical comedies featuring that popular irrepressible comedian, "Alex Saunders," accompanied by a chorus of dazzling beauties. They are all good singers and dancers. This troupe will play here all of next week, except Tuesday night. On account of the home talent play, "Mikado," on that night the above troupe will have to lay off that night for them.

SUPT. PRIVETTE WAS MARRIED ASHEVILLE JUNE 20 1913

Affair Kept a Profound Secret Until This Afternoon, When the Principals Gave Out the Story in the Pullen Baptist Church, Raleigh.

WEDDING ANNOUNCEMENT.
Mr. William G. Privette and Miss Inez Reynolds, Married June 20, 1913, Asheville, N. C.

The above announcement will be read with considerable surprise in Washington and Beaufort county, for none of the readers of the Daily News have even an inkling that Superintendent Privette, of the county school, has been a "benedict" for nearly a year, however, the facts remain just the same. The happy event took place in Asheville, N. C., in June last, while Mr. Privette and Miss Reynolds were visiting in the "Land of the Sky." The ceremony was performed by Rev. A. E. Brown, of the Baptist church in the presence of a few friends who were cautioned to keep the wedding a profound secret until the principals decided to give the story out. They have each and every one kept their word, and no one, not even the parents of the bridegroom nor bride, were wise until this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock in the city of Raleigh, when they were acquainted with the romantic episode.

This afternoon in the Pullen Baptist church the supposed nuptials were billed to occur. Everything was in readiness for the auspicious event, preacher, organist, relatives of the contracting parties and friends. Upon reaching the chancel rail, instead of the officiating clergyman being presented with the marriage license giving him the authority to pronounce them man and wife, to his surprise, the bride presented him with her certificate of marriage consummated in Asheville, June 20, 1913. It is needless to state that all present were dumbfounded. Soon, however, the expression of surprise was chased away from the countenances of all and congratulations and best wishes begin to shower upon the happy bride and groom.

After becoming acquainted and knowing each other for a period of six months, Mr. and Mrs. Privette became engaged and their secret marriage was the sequence. The bride is a daughter of Mr. W. T. Reynolds, a prominent merchant of Hillsboro, N. C., and Mr. Privette is a native of Statesville, N. C. Since February last he has been the superintendent of the Beaufort county schools, coming to this county from Kinston, N. C., where he was connected with the public schools there. During his short residence here he has formed the friendship of a large number. Mrs. Privette will receive a warm welcome.

After the marriage, or rather the supposed marriage, in Raleigh this afternoon, the bride and groom left for an automobile trip to Hillsboro and Statesville. They are expected to arrive in Washington next week and will reside at the home of Dr. W. P. Small in Washington Park.

GOES TO GREENVILLE

N. L. Holton will leave Monday morning for Greenville, N. C., to accept a position with Hooker & Anthony. For the past two years he has been the travelling salesman for the firm of H. M. Jenkins & Co. He has the best wishes of his friends in his home.
