

FIRST ATTRACTION THIS AFTERNOON 2:30 GREAT SHOW TONIGHT

Judge Stephen C. Bragaw Makes The Address Of Welcome. Secure Your Season Tickets Quick. Gala week Promised. Unique Program For Evening.

Arrangements have been made whereby those who have not secured their season tickets for Chautauqua Week can secure them today from any of the guarantors.

Well, this is Chautauqua week and already people are beginning to come from all sections of the county to witness the attraction which promises to be one of the most unique ever afforded the people, not only of Washington but the entire county. If the citizens wish to see an entertainment which lasts during the entire week, that is educational, uplifting and instructive, the chance is now theirs. If they fall then the fault is theirs. Mr. John G. Bragaw Jr., has just received a letter from Mr. R. A. Knight of Durham, N. C., a former citizen here, telling of the Chautauqua entertainment in Durham and what the citizens of that progressive town have already done for the coming season. The letter says: "I hope you will have good luck and will not fail to land your Chautauqua for I know that you will all be simply delighted with it. It's impossible for a majority of your people to see such high class plays as they will see, as each performance is worth the entire ticket. I am one of those who brought it here and while we had a hard time selling about 500 tickets for first season, we have already sold 1000 on first call for next year. We will make money out of this deal in the future. If you secure it the first time you will have smooth sailing. It's fine. Best wishes."

The large tent is now practically up and ready for the first entertainment. The tent is located on West Main street between the residences of Mr. A. M. Dumay and Capt. Geo. J. Studdert and has a seating capacity of 1,500.

The different places of business all over the city are in gala attire for the occasion. Old Glory predominant.

EXCURSION TO BUSINESS MEN FREE

There will be a free excursion trip on the gas boat Pungo to the auction sale of the Car-Staden farm on Wednesday morning. The Pungo will leave the Market house docks at 9 o'clock and again at 10 o'clock. Will accommodate about one hundred passengers. Will bring all parties back immediately after the sale free of charge. All parties interested in the purchase of this property had better go down on the 9 o'clock free trip so as to have an opportunity to examine and view the property and the several divisions of same prior to the sale which starts promptly at 10:30 o'clock.

This is the opportunity of a life time to buy beautiful riverfront property, as well as good farming land within a 15-minute drive of Washington. We make this assertion without the fear of contradiction that no other water front property, such an ideal location can be bought anywhere at ten times the cost per acre that this property will sell for. Don't forget you can have four or five years time in which to pay for it. See the map of the property in the drug stores and other public places. Remember the free fish fry bring your wives. The breeze is great and plenty of shade trees.

O. K. STILLEY HAS OPINION IN POLITICS

Editor Daily News:—I note in your issue of the 16th inst Mr. Lindsay C. Warren's answer to your candidacy, saying that he is against you because he thinks you are unfit and incapable without giving his reasons therefor. Now I don't know whether you are fit or unfit and I am not fighting your battles and am absolutely indifferent to the candidacies of anybody in the county of Beaufort today, and only wanting the best service we can get from our officials.

Now Mr. Warren's last paragraph in respect to your candidacy, saying that you are incapable and unfit snatches you largely of that assault made upon me when I was made chairman of the Board of County Commissioners when Mr. T. H. Blount was a candidate for the same place and certain elements of the town of Washington. No, I will amend that phrase by saying that there was an aristocratic element in the town of Washington that not only believed but sincerely felt that O. K. Stilley, coming from the woods, without any blue blood in his veins, was not fit to sit in the council chamber of Beaufort county's administration.

I am indeed sorry to make this statement but I give it as a warning that the bars which divide merit and blood must be let down in order to get the best out of the young American boys.

Now if this is the assault on J. L. Mayo, Mr. Warren is wrong. He says he is not fit. Will some of that administrative crowd say that I was not fit? I never heard anything of my unfitness after I got the job and I am for the upbuilding of young American manhood by absolute merit without any strings attached to it.

Yours,
O. K. STILLEY,
Edward, N. C.

ARE VISITORS.

ARE BACK FROM CRUISE TO OCRACUKE

The United States torpedo boat Foote, with Commander C. L. Morton, Lieutenant Rodman, Lieutenant Harris and Ensign Small and with about forty of the Sixth Division North Carolina Naval Militia left here Saturday night at 12 o'clock for a cruise to Ocracoke and other points of interest in Pamlico sound. The Foote returned last night and all the members of the militia speak in the highest terms of their week end outing.

SWEET LITTLE BUD GOES TO HEAVEN

Last night at the home of her parents sweet little Neta Corriane, the 18-month-old daughter of her parents Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Willis fell on sleep after several days illness due to congestion of the brain. She was the sunshine and hope of the home and her going has cast a gloom over the entire home. Both the skill of the physician and the love and affection of those near and dear was of no avail. God wished her for His heavenly home and she carried with her the plaudits of earth. The funeral took place this afternoon from the home of the grief-stricken parents on Third street, conducted by Rev. R. V. Hope, pastor of the Christian Church and the interment was in Oakdale cemetery. The sympathy of the entire community goes out to the parents in their bereavement. May the same hand that has wounded be the one to succor and comfort.

What The A & M College Is Now Doing

If a person desires to know what the Agricultural and Mechanical College is doing for the state, a trip through any section will reveal its work. On our farms, in our dairies, in our orchards, in chemical plants and dye-houses, in our cotton mills, and machine shops, in our light plants, in the surveying parties of our railroads; everywhere that progressive industrial operations are under way, you will find men who were fitted at this busy, common-sense college. More and more such ambitious young men are turning their steps to West Raleigh for life training. The fall announcement appears elsewhere in this paper.

It's Restful in Washington Park.

SING SING'S NEW WARDEN.
Ossining, N. Y., June 22.—Thos. J. McCormick, president of a plumbing and steam heating company of Yonkers, and a partisan of Deputy State Comptroller Walsh, Democratic leader in Westchester county, will today take up his duties as warden of Sing Sing Prison, succeeding Jas. Clancy, who wrote his resignation several months ago. Mr. McCormick said that at present he has no plans for conducting the prison, any more than he will go his best to carry out all the duties required of a warden. The newly appointed warden is forty years old, and for the past five years has been the Democratic leader of the Fourth Ward of Yonkers. Warden Clancy in announcing his resignation said it was impossible to carry out all the reforms he had under consideration with political pressure at every turn and this was one of his reasons for quitting the post.

DINNER DATE FOR HURETA.

Mexico City, June 22.—General Victoria Hureta who, on the 3rd of June sent a message of congratulation to King George of England, on the occasion of his birthday, is expected tonight to attend the dinner given by the British colony here, in recognition of the formal celebration of His Majesty's birthday.

ALEXANDER TRIO AT THE NEW THEATRE

The New Theater opens tonight for the week with the "Alexander Trio" for the first three nights. This act is made up exclusively of music. The management has made special arrangements for this troupe as they are recommended to be one of the best musical trios on the road. There will be an entire change of program each and every night. For this week the house will run three special reels of films, with a change of pictures each night. If you are fond of good music and singing then attend the New Theater tonight.

ACTIVITY OF THE CONGRESS RECENTLY

The activities of the Southern Commercial Congress during the past six years have resulted in the building up in the organization of a Department of Foreign Commerce. Mr. William A. Reid is the Counsellor of the department. His writings and his series of illustrated business talks on commercial scouting around and about the world have attracted wide attention. Mr. Reid's writings and achievements reflect the sentiments and opinions of foreign diplomats, men of affairs, merchants and importers with whom he has lived and mingled for fifteen years and among whom he has placed vast quantities of American manufactured products. During the last two years Mr. Reid's articles have been published each month in the bulletins of The Pan American Union of Washington. Mr. Robert E. Daniel, who has been with the Southern Commercial Congress for nearly three years, is the Secretary of the Department of Foreign Commerce.

Director General John Barrett, of the Pan American Union, offered the cooperation of the international organization over which he presides, the following being an extract from his letter:

"I beg to extend to you the expression of my interest in the movement which you outline for the building up of a Foreign Trade Bureau within the Southern Commercial Congress. You can rest assured of the hearty cooperation of the Pan American Union, of myself as its executive officer, and of the members of my staff."

The Department of Foreign Commerce of the Southern Commercial Congress will conduct its work in four fields, namely: Correspondence, Press, Publications, and Platform.

The members of the Southern Commercial Congress and commercial organizations throughout the South will be advised of the fact that The Southern Commercial Congress offers expert advice in the field of foreign trade in answering inquiries and in securing information and inspiration of the business leaders of the South interested in foreign trade.

Through the Monthly Bulletin of the Congress, with a department set apart for foreign trade, and through special pamphlets and publications, statistical data and practical information will be disseminated regularly.

By the use of platform the experts associated with the Department of Foreign Commerce will fill engagements throughout the states included in the territory of the Southern Commercial Congress. These engagements will take the form of practical talks to business organizations, business firms and corporations that desire expert advice in their foreign trade relations.

A library of books, pamphlets, statistics, maps, guides, etc., will be assembled at the headquarters of the Southern Commercial Congress for the convenience of the constituents.

PASSES THROUGH CITY.

Dr. S. W. Staley of Rocky Mount, N. C., formerly of Aurora, N. C., was here yesterday and today en route to his home. His many friends were glad to see him.

ANGELES IS DISPOSED BY GENERAL CARRANZA FOR DISOBEDIENCE

Rumored Execution of Chao Is Now Being Discredited—Mediators To Continue Their Efforts to Pacify Mexico. Details of Troubles In The Rebel Camp.

Saltillo, Mexico, via Laredo, Tex.—Hostilities will not be suspended between the constitutionalist forces and forces of Huerta, according to the note to the Niagara mediators, which General Carranza will dispatch to them today.

The mediators in their answer to the announcement by General Carranza that he was willing to send representatives to the conference insisted that an armistice be agreed to by the constitutionalists.

After a long conference with his advisers, General Carranza decided that the request of the mediators could not be granted.

The text of the reply to the mediators was not made public as it has not yet been transmitted to them.

Eagle Pass, Tex.—The breach between Villa and Carranza apparently was widening on Friday, according to travelers from Mexico who arrived here. Early Friday, according to the travelers, a statement was issued from Carranza's headquarters saying the difficulty with General Villa was of a minor nature and would surely be satisfactorily adjusted, but a few hours later it was announced that General Felipe Angeles, acting Secretary of War, had been deposed from the position by General Carranza for disobedience.

According to stories told by the travelers arriving at the border when Villa tendered his resignation as commander of the army of the center, it was accepted unconditionally by General Carranza. The latter, however, it was said, asked that before he turned over the command Villa recommend a successor.

This message, it was said, was answered by a communication from fifteen generals in Villa's army declaring that they declined to allow their chief to be supplanted. General Carranza then issued a peremptory order it was said, for General Angeles to come immediately to Saltillo. This order Angeles was said to have ignored and this incident was said to have formed the basis of his dismissal from the temporary cabinet for insubordination.

The news of Angeles' dismissal followed closely on the report received at Saltillo that General Chao had been executed by order of General Villa. Chao, always a favorite of Carranza, formerly governor of Chihuahua. About May 1, when Villa was in Juarez it was reported along the border he received a carelessly worded letter from Chao. It was said that Villa immediately ordered a special train sent to Chihuahua, placed Chao under arrest and gave orders for his execution.

A friend of Chao, it is said, informed Carranza of the order. The latter was then declared to have sent for Villa and representing the effect of such a proceeding would have on the international relations, secured Chao's release. Chao was demoted as governor of Chihuahua, the statement being made that Chao was needed to take the field in the Saltillo campaign. However, his old brigade was split among those of other commanders and he found himself a general without a command.

El Paso, Tex.—"The only thing to do is to have everybody define his attitude and to have all the chiefs reiterate their loyalty to Carranza."

This appeal came from Luis Cabrera, constitutionalist adviser of Carranza and at present conferring with Washington officials. It was addressed to Roberto Pesquerira, constitutionalist confidential agent and former Washington representative of the revolution.

Cabrera's message came at a time when agents of both the Carranza and Villa elements here admittedly were worried over the situation. The ejection by Carranza of Angeles as secretary of war in the provisional cabinet had dispelled, in part, yesterday's predictions that the Carranza-Villa controversy had become a closed matter and that the divorce of certain relations between Carranza and Villa would not interfere with the actual progress of the revolution. Official efforts failed to find out the exact condition of the Carranza officials forcefully ejected from office at Juarez. Efforts to learn the disposition of the 1,000,000 pesos in constitutionalist currency confiscated by Villa's military officials from the national treasury offices at Juarez also failed. Villa was reported as making all possible haste to have troops to the attack at Zacatecas.

Reports from Niagara Falls that Villa had proclaimed Angeles for provisional president were not verified here. The Huerta consul here who had reported the rumor to the mediators, said he had it only by hearsay. The report that General Chao was ousted as governor of Chihuahua, by Villa's order was not further credited by officials here. Chao is operating with his troops below Torreon, according to persons arriving from there.

FIRMS FINED IN VIOLATING THE LAW

Washington, D. C., June 22.—

The accidental presence of arsenic in jelly, candy and chocolate and of lead in cream tartar, has caused one corporation to be fined $100 and three corporations to be fined $50 each for the shipment of such adulterated products in interstate commerce. In every case the arsenic and lead appear to have found their way into the products through either ignorance or carelessness on the part of the manufacturer. In order to protect himself, he should have produced materials guaranteed by his vendor under the Food and Drugs Act, thus shifting the responsibility from himself, or else made certain by a personal investigation that they contained no injurious ingredients.

According to a recent announcement of the U. S. Department of Agriculture, the Williams Bros. Co., of Detroit, Mich., has been fined $100 for sending four brands of adulterated jelly into Missouri. One brand contained seven parts of arsenic per million. Two of the brands contained eight parts and the fourth, 20 parts per million, which might render the jelly injurious to health.

The Catawba Candy Company, of Sandusky, Ohio, was also fined $50 and costs for sending into North Carolina and Illinois quantities of "Italam Cream," and into Oklahoma a quantity of "Iced Squares" all of which contained arsenic in either the candy or coating, or both. Leo Benjamin of New York City, according to the announcement, was fined $50 for shipping into Pennsylvania "Chocolate Cremolin" which contained arsenic. It also contained another mineral substance, a crude oxide of iron, which acted both as a color and a cocoa substitute. The label stated that: "This Cremolin contains powdered cocoa, and a little harmless coloring."

The Pan Chemical Company, of New York City was fined $50 for shipping a quantity of adulterated cream tartar into the State of Washington. It contained lead, a poisonous ingredient, in the amount of 62 parts per million, which might render it injurious to health.

The Sen-Sen Chiclet Company, a corporation organized under the laws of Maine, with a factory at Salem, Ohio, was fined $25 and costs for shipping misbranded chewing gum from Ohio to Illinois. The gum bore a label containing the words "Jumbo Peppin Gum." Analysis showed that the gum contained no peppermint.

The shipment of adulterated and misbranded mince-meat in interstate commerce has brought three fines of $25 each and costs to the W. H. Marvin Company, Urbana, Ohio. The mince-meat contained nothing more than a trace of meat, there being 0.1 per cent of meat in two of the shipments, and 0.3 per cent in the third. This was not considered sufficient to comply with the Federal law. The labels on the shipments giving the composite articles of the mince-meat mentioned meat first.
