BAPTIST TO CONDUCT A 10 DAY MEET

A series of meetings is to begin at the First Baptist Church next Monday evening and will continue for ten days or two weeks. The pastor and officials of the church are more than fortunate in securing Rev. J. W. Ham as the preacher. He is an evangelist of national reputation and is looked upon as one of the first speakers of the Baptist church in this country. Mr. Ham will be assisted by his singer Mr. Lyon and his wife, both of whom have voices of sweetness and power. A more detailed program will be given in this paper tomorrow.

Forests Convention Takes Stand For The Legislation

The Fourth Annual Convention of the North Carolina Forestry Association recently held in Asheville, will be remembered for the stand it took in regard to forest protective legislation. Twice during the meeting the "natural resources" plank in the Democratic platform recently drawn up at the Democratic State Convention in Raleigh was quoted. It reads thus:

"We recommend the enactment of effective legislation designed to control our natural resources, especially our forests and fisheries and our wild game and that such legislation be, so far as possible, statewide."

The adoption of this plank is looked upon as a good augury and plans were laid to get legislation such as the Forestry Association has been working for before the next General Assembly.

Judge H. B. Stevens, in welcoming the delegates to Asheville, emphasized our dependence on the forests and added an assurance that in spite of an apparent lack of interest at this time forest protection would surely come, because it is essential to the future well-being of the State and Nation.

Mr. N. Buckner, Secretary of the Asheville Board of Trade, who had worked unremittingly to make the convention a success, paid a glowing tribute to the late George W. Vanderbilt, whose forestry work on the Biltmore estate and Pisgah Forest has done so much to make practical forestry understood and appreciated.

In responding to the address of welcome, Dr. Joseph Hyde Pratt paid a high tribute to the public service Mr. Vanderbilt has rendered by selling Pisgah Forest to the government for a National Forest. He also complimented the people of Asheville on their foresight in securing an uncontaminated watershed for their city water supply. Both Pisgah Forest and the city watershed are absolutely dependent on fire protection, Dr. Pratt said, for their present usefulness and future value to the people. The speaker then went on to outline what in his estimation were the main points in a forest policy for North Carolina.

"It is undoubtedly the province of the State to foster in every possible way the industries and resources which affect the lives, the property and the happiness of the whole people, and especially the well-being of future generations. The question seems to be: How much should be done by the State and how much should be left to the individual landowners? We are not likely here in North Carolina, where it has been said, individualism has run to seed, to err by doing too much for the private owner, but rather too little. Yet in this State our towns tax their citizens to maintain a fire protective system whether they have houses to be protected or not. The householder has to do his part by observing safety regulations, but he expects the city to do its part by keeping an efficient fire company, and this it does. In common fairness the State in like manner should help property of the man who lives in the country.

Necessary State Forestry Measures.

"A State forest policy for North Carolina should include:

(a) First and foremost a state fire protective system.

(b) State-owned and operated demonstration forests and experiment stations.

(c) The encouragement of forest planting by the maintenance of one or more forest nurseries.

(d) The modification of taxes on non-revenue producing forest land.

(e) A forestry department supported by an adequate appropriation. "Protection of the forests from fire is a requisite for all other measures of improvement. It is by far the most necessary and important measure for the State to undertake, because the success of all others depends on this. Fire protection should not be left entirely to a State organization, but the State must inevitably take the lead. The aim should be to prevent fire, not to wait until they are started and then extinguish them. It is cheaper in the long run and far more effective, because it is educative. An adequate system should include a State forest warden and district and township wardens and patrolmen. It should provide for lookouts, patrol during dry and dangerous weather, the summoning of necessary assistance to extinguish fires, the collection of information about the cause, extent and damage of fires, the posting of public warning notices, and the enforcement of the forest fire laws."

"As soon as such a system is in force the Federal Government is ready and anxious to co-operate with the State in fire protection in proportion to the amount of money expended by the State. Seventeen states are already receiving such Federal assistance in sums varying from $1,500 to $10,000 a year each. The co-operation of associations of land-owners would also no doubt soon be secured. Thirty such associations in different States are now actively engaged in fire protection. Railroads and other corporations and individuals as well as the local government of counties and townships can also be counted on to do their share when they realize that the State is in earnest in trying to prevent forest fires."

"In order to carry out effectively such a State forest policy the work should be entrusted to a representative non-political board, with full powers and responsibilities. The board should employ trained and experienced men, selected on the ground of their efficiency only to be in charge of the forestry work of the state. An adequate appropriation must be provided by the Legislature for making the various measures effective."

Tomorrow is the last day of the Chautauque sale which has been conducted so successfully for the past fifteen days by the well known firm of Cutler and John at their place of business, corner of Main and Market Streets. This sale has meant quite a saving in prices to purchasers. Only a few hours await the readers of this paper to secure the great bargains. One hundred and eighty-five pairs of ladies buckskin pumps are now in stock for today, and tomorrow. They will be closed out at $1.79 pair.

Their sale has been in every way satisfactory and since their opening date they have been honored by a large number of patrons taking advantage of their unheard of bargains.

MRS. WELLS FELL ON SLEEP LAST NIGHT

After a well spent life—one full of fruitage, circumspectiveness of life and entering the battlements of heaven glorying in the fact that her record is on high, Mrs. A. S. Wells passed away last night between 12 and 1 o'clock at her home on East Second street. For months she has been a great sufferer. Her affectionate and dutiful husband left nothing undone for her comfort and all that medical skill could suggest was offered—all to no avail, for God wanted her to beautify his heavenly home and so she went and her entrance added another star into the crown of those who have been redeemed and had their robes washed in the blood of the Lamb.

Mrs. Wells was born in Hyde county on June 3, 1853, and on April 27th, 1904, was happily married to Dr. A. S. Wells, one of Washington's prominent dentists. Her maiden name was Susan Juliette Spencer. The deceased joined the Methodist Church when only a young girl and since that time has been ever in the forefront for the cause of her Master. She did what she could. During her residence in this city Mrs. Wells has always been counted upon in every work which meant the furtherance of a pure life and now that she sleeps awaiting that day for which all others were made, her going is universally deplored. May the same hand that has wounded be the same to soothe and comfort. She was a true woman, a devoted wife, a loyal citizen—her life is well worth eulogization.

The funeral will take place from the First Methodist Church Saturday morning at 11 o'clock conducted by the pastor Rev. E. M. Snipes and the interment will be in Oakdale cemetery. The following will act as pallbearers: C. C. Cratch, Geo. E. Ricks, J. P. Buckman, W. E. Swindell, E. R. Mison and E. W. Ayers. The deceased leaves a heart broken husband and daughter, five brothers, Geo. A. Spencer, A. G. Spencer, of this city, S. G. Spencer of New Bern and W. S. and J. H. Spencer of Hyde county.

The sympathy of the entire city goes out to those bereft.

ALL ENJOYED ATTRACTION LAST NIGHT

The vaudeville and motion pictures at the New Theater last night were all that any one could ask for the price asked for admission. The singing of Mr. Tom Hanlon was very well rendered and received several applauses. The motion pictures were some of the best that has been at this house for some time. There will be an entire change of program tonight, so be sure and attend. For next week that can be secured in play house has gone to the heavy expense of booking one of the best Tabloid troupes there is now on the road. That is the "Edward Oliver Big Jubilee Co." This company comes here recommended as the best that has struck this city so far this season. In addition to this attraction the New Theater has made arrangements to give their patrons some of the best pictures starting next week that can be secured in this section of the country. So together with this excellent vaudeville company, and the well known pictures as the Biograph, Essany, Edison, Lubin, etc. and the many other well known films of the associated film exchange the patrons of this house may expect some pleasing amusement for the coming week. There are plenty of fans in this house to keep every one cool, so do not hesitate to attend every night.

The Addisco Book Club Charminglly Entertained

TO RESTOCK TROUT STREAMS NOW SCHEME

Plans to completely restock all trout streams and lakes throughout the national forests of Colorado, Wyoming, and South Dakota, within a period of nine years, are well under way, as the result of the approval by the federal bureau of Fisheries of a plan of operation prepared by the forest service. The bureau of Fisheries has promised to furnish the necessary fish fry for distribution to the various forests, the shipments of fry to be directed to railroad stations nearest the waters to be stocked so that as many streams as possible may be supplied from a central point. The planting of all fry will be performed by forest officers who will keep close check on the results of the work.

According to the estimates of the forest officers, approximately 20 million trout fry of the brook, rainbow and black-spotted varieties will be needed to meet the requirements of all the waters adaptable to the production of trout. Of this great number the bureau of fisheries is prepared to supply something over four and a half million this year and a gradually decreasing number each successive year for a total of nine, at the end of which time it is expected that the complete restocking will have been accomplished. The estimates are said to cover 273 streams and lakes in the three states.

The restocking of national forest streams in all states where such forests are situated, including those now being acquired in the White Mountains and the southern Appalachians, will be given attention as rapidly as supplies of fish fry become available for planting purposes. The forest service is admirably organized to carry on work of this kind and does so with practically no interference with regular activities since the fish must be handled with the utmost haste and frequently during the late evening or early morning hours. The production of the existing federal and state fish hatcheries is hardly adequate to meet all demands, however, and therefore the work has to be done in installments.

MRS. DUMAY HOSTESS TO BOOK CLUB

The last meeting for the year of the O. Henry Book Club and one of the most delightful, was held with Mrs. A. M. Dumay Thursday afternoon. In keeping with the glorious Fourth, so near at hand Mrs. Dumay had her home beautifully decorated with the stars and stripes and the club members standing sang "The Star Spangled Banner." Miss Rodman presided over the meeting in her usual gracious manner. After the reading of the minutes and roll call by Miss Laughinghouse the items of interest were read and commented upon. The paper for the afternoon was on the life and works of one of our own gifted North Carolina poets, John Henry Bonner, prepared and read by Mrs. C. M. Brown. The club then discussed their study for the coming year, finally deciding upon Shakespeare and his works. The election of officers took place and Miss Rodman was unanimously re-elected president for the ensuing year.

Mrs. Dumay served most delicious refreshments, ice cream and cake, in red, white and blue blocks, giving to each an American flag as a fitting souvenir of a most delightful meeting. Mrs. Dumay sustained her reputation as an entertaining hostess. She had as her guests for the afternoon Mrs. Sallie Gallagher, Mrs. Annie Gullford, Mrs. Harriet, sister of Mrs. H. W. Carter.

Let's build in Washington Park.

The closing meeting of the Addisco Book Club for the year was held at the home of Mrs. Charles F. Warren on Thursday afternoon at five o'clock. The guests were charmingly received by Miss Isabel Warren, the young daughter of the hostess and ushered into the reception hall where in her own gracious manner the hostess extended a cordial welcome.

In honor of our independence "Old Glory" floated over the scene, white ribbons of red, white and blue added a national touch of beauty. Repairing to the dining room the guests were refreshed with delightful punch served by two young guests, Miss Edwards of Nashville, Tenn., and Miss Blount of Norfolk, after which the meeting was called to order by the president Mrs. Beverly G. Moss, minutes read and approved. Owing to a thunder storm the club was deprived the pleasure of being with Miss Wiswall on June 11th, thus the last paper for the year, "Mother of Tomorrow" by Mrs. C. F. Warren was carried over for the meeting of yesterday. Mrs. Warren did justice to her beautiful subject. Her descriptive portions were charming and vivid. In her tribute to "Mother Eve," to the "Virgin Mother" to the mother of yesterday, of today and tomorrow her thoughts were clothed in exquisite diction.

After the paper the election of officers and committees were in order:

Mrs. Beverly G. Moss, President; Mrs. Stephen C. Bragaw, 1st Vice-President; Mrs. John Charles, 2nd Vice-President; Miss E. M. B. Hays, honorary Vice-President; Mrs. Justus F. Randolph, Secretary; Mrs. J. B. Sparrow, Treasurer; Mrs. W. B. Merton, Miss Wiswall, reporters.

Program Committee—Mrs. S. B. Fowle, chairman, Mrs. Charles F. Warren, Mrs. S. C. Bragaw, Mrs. J. L. Knight, Miss Jane Myers. Printers Committee—Miss Josephine Whitney, chairman, Mrs. J. D. Grimes.

Design of Cover—Mrs. John C. Rodman, chairman, Mrs. W. B. Merton, Mrs. W. D. Grimes.

Book Committee—Mrs. D. F. Taylor, chairman, Mrs. Herbert Bonner, Mrs. Frank Rollins, Miss Marcia Myers.

After much thought and discussion the club will take for its study for the coming year "The Vital Interests of Today." Hoping that dwelling in the atmosphere of the times an intimate and sympathetic knowledge of the wonderful age in which we live will be absorbed.

The club has issued to the O. Henry and Young Married Woman's Clubs an invitation to join in forming a county federation, which it is hoped they will accept.

The business over delicious cream and cake was served, the red, white and blue showing in the refreshments. A souvenir, American flag. A delightful meeting with a delightful hostess.

In looking backward over the seventeenth year of its existence the club feels that a woman's club is indeed "a meeting ground for those of purpose great and strong." Whose aim is in the stars, who ever long to make the patient, listening world resound with sweeter music, purr tones. A place where kindly lifting words are said, and kindly deeds are done. Where hearts are fed, where wealth of brain for poverty atone. Where hand grasps hand, and soul finds touch with soul. Where victors in the race for fame and power look backward even in their triumph hour to beckon others to the shining goal. This is a woman's club, a haven fair, where toilers drop for an hour their load of care."

TONIGHT.

There will be a soiree tonight at the Armory. Gentlemen dancing, not members of class 50c, ladies invited. 7-3-14p.

W. BANKS TO CLOSE.

On account of tomorrow being a national holiday all the banks of the city will be closed, the day being the Fourth of July.

PASSES THROUGH CITY.

Mr. T. D. Aldridge of South Creek arrived in the city yesterday afternoon from Conetoe on his way to South Creek. Mr. Aldridge has been spending several days with relatives and friends and says that his outing was greatly enjoyed.
