THE BELGIANS YET BRAVE

BEHEIVED THE GREATEST MODERN BATTLE IS NOW IN PROGRESS.

(By the United Press.) Brussels, Aug. 13.—The Belgians maintaining the offensive have recaptured Landen. They have destroyed all the bridges and cut off all railroad communication in the rear of the German front. The war office announces today that Landen has been three times taken and lost by the Germans. The Belgians repulsed the flanking movement with ten thousand cavalry engaged on both sides. A censorship has drawn a veil over both armies. It is believed that the greatest battle in modern history is now on. The battle line extends one hundred miles from Liege to Metz.

Following a night of terror in which the Germans attempted to break through the lines of the allied armies it is announced that the Belgians are still holding their position and fighting at a different dozen points. The loss is said to be enormous. The war office today admits that the German assault was only begun last night and the assault upon the upper Liege forts has so far been repulsed. The Germans have bridged the Meuse river and are now moving with their crack artillery. It is thought that a battle is now waging on Namur.

GERMANS ARE SPARING NONE

WHOLE VILLAGES HAVE BEEN WIPED OUT BY THE INVADERS SAYS REPORTS HERE

Quo Vadis Is Here Friday

ONE OF THE MOST WONDERFUL PICTURES EVER DISPLAYED ON THE SCREEN.

"Quo Vadis," George Kleine's magnificent production of the masterly Cines photo drama which crowded the Astor Theater in New York City and broke records at Philadelphia Chicago and Boston continues to do so in all other cities where it is being presented. It is glowing tribute to the finest achievement of the world has yet known in the field of photo drama and serves to illustrate the marvelous hold this form of entertainment has on the public and the enormous possibilities for future development.

That tremendous soul or magnetism with which the brilliant Sienkiewicz invested his novel is retained in the photo drama reproduction and the audience is almost as much swayed by the camera effect as by the words of the novelist. The arrangement of the picture is perfect, relating the story in sequential detail, and, by the use of the slightest imagination, the auditor has no difficulty in following and understanding it. The pursuit of Lygia by the young patrician Vinitius is so thoroughly human it has a strong appeal to everybody and when his earthly passion is glorified through conversion, the young man has everybody's sympathy in his trials. It is the immense human interest of the photo drama that has as much as anything to do with its success. The spectacular features are wonderful. The burning of Rome, the pageantry of the court of Nero, the games in the arena and the devouring of the Christians by the lions all have their thrills but to young and old it is the big love story that lingers longest in the memory.

KAISER ASKS ITALY'S AID

ALSO THAT OF BULGARIA AND ROUMANIA—ANTI-AUSTRIAN FEELING INCREASING. (By the United Press.) Rome, August 13.—The Kaiser is making supreme efforts to the courts of Greece, Bulgaria, Roumania to have these nations to side with Germany and Austria in the present war. It is admitted in official circles that negotiations by the Kaiser's representatives was closely followed by an anti-Austrian feeling in Italy and that it is now rapidly increasing.

Why Babies Cry.

Because they are tired lying on one side and they are unable to turn over. Turn a baby once in a while.

Because their diapers are wet or soiled and therefore uncomfortable.

Because they are thirsty. Babies must have water (bottled and cooled—but not iced) to drink.

Because they are too warm and possibly irritated by "prickly heat."

Because they are sleepy and wish to lie down and be let alone.

Because the air of the room is foul and smelly. Babies require lots of fresh air.

Because their clothes are too tight or perhaps a pin is sticking them.

Because crying is the only way they know to tell you something is wrong with them.

Of course, babies cry when in pain, but you should find out if it is not some of the above stated causes before deciding that it is pain which is causing the crying.

Above all else, get the notion out of your head that every time the baby cries it is hungry.

If you are sure that none of the things spoken of above are the cause of the crying, then the most probable cause is intestinal indigestion and the quickest way to relieve it is by an emema of salt solution (a teaspoonful of salt to a pint of warm water.) If you don't know how to give it, by all odds call a doctor. Don't take chances with your baby.

Baby's Bath. The well baby must have at least one bath every day.

The water for an ordinary bath should be about the body temperature, 98 degrees, or two degrees higher. Use a thermometer; don't depend on the hand to determine the temperature.

On very warm days a baby should be sponged two or three times with lukewarm water in which salt is dissolved in the proportion of a teaspoonful to each pint; or a little alcohol (not wood alcohol) may be used instead of the salt.

Always give the bath before feeding.

FARMERS OF SOUTH TO MEET FORT WORTH, TEXAS

News of Interest From Rosemary

To the Daily News and its readers I wish to write a few words in behalf of our little village of Rosemary, N. C. I have traveled over much territory and I have many friends and acquaintances in Eastern Carolina. I believe that I am in a position to speak a kind word for this little village. It is located on the Seaboard Air Line Railroad. It is four miles west of Weldon. It has three churches and a good school. And I especially wish to speak of the good water. I don't think that better water can be found at any place. I find that the citizens of this place are mostly working people. But I also find they are very nice people, most of whom are employed by the Rosemary Manufacturing Company, which has three large cotton factories. They manufacture fine cotton fabrics.

They offer good clean employment for all good willing workers. Probably there are some who can't speak so well of Rosemary. But I find that any one's success in any town depends largely on their own conduct. We also have a nice prosperous little bank here. Also a good opera house. All in all I think it a model little town, under rapid growth. And I am pleased to have the opportunity of speaking of this little town as I find it.

We also have another very beautiful little town one mile north of here—Roanoke Rapids. I think it a nice little town but my experience over there is very limited.

Hoping the Daily News and its readers great progress, I am,
JNO. R. DILLON,
Rosemary, N. C.

QUO VADIS
George Kleine's Mammoth Production
NEW THEATRE FRIDAY, AUGUST 14TH.

Fort Worth, Tex., Aug. 13.—When the business farmers of thirty states assemble in Fort Worth September 1st for the annual convention of the Farmers' Educational and Co-Operative Union of America, it will be a "council of war" that will have an important bearing on the business interests of the United States. Unprogrammed issues will come up for first consideration through necessity. The financing of the farming and ranching interests of the nation through the possible stringency that the European war may cause will be the prime object of the conference.

So far, no set program has been announced for the main body of the convention, but Charles S. Barrett, of Union City, Ga., who was in Fort Worth a few days ago arranging for the approaching convention, said the European war and its effect on American farming will be one of the most important matters before the convention.

No less than 2,000 farmers will attend this convention. An example of the interest in the approaching meeting was seen at the recent state convention of the Farmers' Educational and Co-Operative Union of America in Fort Worth, when county delegations vied with one another in assurances to President Barrett of the larger delegations they would bring to the national convention.

President Barrett said this example was equalled in other states where he has traveled recently and his reports are encouraging from coast to coast and from the lakes to the gulf.

There are twenty-six states that have organized farmers' union. Every one of these will have an official delegation and an additional delegation of visiting farmers.

Official delegations are governed in their size by the amount of dues paid by the various state unions into the national union's treasury.

Several states where there are no organized state unions will have unofficial representatives at the national convention in the persons of farmers affiliated with the national convention, and no doubt new charters either will be granted or promised at the approaching national meeting.

The organized states are: Arkansas, Alabama, California, Colorado, Florida, Georgia, Idaho, Illinois, Kansas, Kentucky, Louisiana, Maryland, Mississippi, Missouri, Nebraska, North Carolina, Oregon, Ohio, Oklahoma, South Dakota, South Carolina, Tennessee, Texas, Virginia, West Virginia, Wisconsin and Washington.

Warehousing and financing of cotton and other crops, the marketing of cotton, central selling agencies and rural credits will be among the chief topics of consideration in the convention's program.

While the official program in its entirety has not been announced, this section of it, the first day's session, is announced by President Barrett: Welcome on behalf of the city of Fort Worth by Mayor Robert F. Milan.

Response by L. M. Rhodes, of Huntington, Tenn., Chairman of the National Board of Directors.

Welcome on behalf of the Texas Union by President W. D. Lewis of Fort Worth.

Response by T. B. Parker of Raleigh, N. C., State Farmers' Institute Director.

Exhibits Sample Corn and Beans

BOTH WERE TAKEN FROM BOTTOM OF RIVER WHEN CAPT. SILVERTHORN'S BOAT SANK IN AUGUST

Marcellus Clark, colored, this morning was exhibiting on streets a cornstalk 12 feet high and a Soja bean plant which he had cultivated. The corn and bean plant were taken from the bottom of Pamlico river upon the occasion of the sinking of Captain Silverthorn's boat at the foot of Whitaker Alley in April last. This goes to show that water has nothing to do with corn nor beans.
