

GERMAN RIGHT WING IS IN DANGER

By Withdrawal Kaiser's Troops From Belgium; Allies Still Offensive

(By the United Press.)
 London, Sept. 12.—The First and Second divisions of the English army, aided by the French cavalry, has cut off a large force of the Germans northeast of Paris. This distance was sixteen miles.
 They scored a complete victory. The British captured ten thousand prisoners and fifteen guns, although they were greatly outnumbered. The Germans were completely outnumbered.
 The officers report that the forces of the Kaiser are completely demoralized and that the prisoners were half starved and short of food.
 A party of the British cavalry surprised a detachment of the German cavalry and completely wiped out one hundred and fifty.
 Winston Churchill made a speech at the London Opera House last night, which was declared as the final word of the English government to America regarding the compromise.
 Mr. Churchill made it emphatically clear that there will be no compromise entered into with Germany.
 England accepted Churchill's statement as indicating that there would not be the slightest chance of an early settlement.
 He stated that Lord Kitchener expects to have five hundred thousand men on the continent by Christmas and twenty-five army corps by the summer of 1915.

 The reinforced Russian army totals now a million and two hundred and fifty thousand men.

GERMANS WILL NOT RECOVER
RAINSTORMS HAVE PROVEN OF GREAT DISADVANTAGE, AMMUNITION TRAIN MILES.
 (By the United Press.)
 Valard, Sept. 12.—It is declared that the battle of Marne was marked by a high tide of the German defense. It is additionally declared that the Germans will never recover the ground from which they are now being driven and that all danger so far as Paris is concerned is now over.
 A number of rainstorms within the immediate vicinity of the region of the battle has proven of a serious disadvantage to the German center which is holding the division in the Marne territory. The ammunition train has been already mired.
 It is reported that General Von Molke and members of the German general staff have been to the actual front inspecting the ground with a view of inspecting the present plan of campaign.
 There is a growing feeling that the Germans plan to attack on an unexpected quarter.
 The officers of the allied forces

GERMANS ARE NOW AT FRONT
THEIR RIGHT WING IS NOW IN A SERIOUS CONDITION IS GHEENT REPORT.
 (By the United Press.)
 Ghent, Sept. 12.—The German army right wing which has recently passed through Belgium is now in serious danger of being annihilated by the withdrawal of the Germans from that district.
 Forty thousand Germans of this country have been sent to the front as the result of an arrangement that was made with the Burgomaster for the purpose of furnishing the Germans with fresh supplies. This agreement, it is stated, will not now be carried out.

Famous Fire 14-Years Ago
OCCURRED SEPTEMBER 12, 1900—WAS MEMORABLE DAY IN WASHINGTON.
 Tomorrow fourteen years ago Washington was visited by one of the largest and most destructive fires in its history. The blaze originated on East Water street and swept west to Market street and beyond on Water street, then turned and destroyed every building on both sides of Market street to Main street where it was finally subdued just before the home now occupied by Miss Lida T. Bodman, was reached. The fire department was unable to cope with the flames and the Greenville department came to the aid of the city. September 12, 1900, is a memorable date in Washington.

WILL ERECT A MEMORIAL TO MRS. WILSON
 A definite plan has not been completed in outline by which a memorial to Mrs. Woodrow Wilson will be erected by the Southern Presbyterian Church, the church of herself and her husband, and the church of Rev. Joseph S. Wilson, D. D., and Rev. Edward S. Corcoran, D. D., which the father of each gave many years of service as ministers of the gospel. The plan for this memorial had its origin at a missionary conference of Presbyterian women, held recently at the executive committee of Home Missions, located at Atlanta, Ga., in cooperation with the women in the organization of the memorial movement. One of the secretaries of the Home Mission committee, Rev. Homer McMillan, D. D., was present at the conference of women in which this memorial movement had its origin and he has given them valuable assistance in the furtherance of the movement. This memorial will take the form of a fund to be applied to the education of poor boys and girls in the mountains of the South, in which Mrs. Wilson had manifested great interest and many of whom she had generously aided with her means and with her wise counsel.
 The deep interest which Mrs. Wilson had in the mountain people of the South was evidenced especially by the fact that from year to year she had paid of her own means for the education of several boys and girls and before her last illness she had been instrumental in the beginning of a movement that would have resulted in giving to a large number of the youth of the mountain section of the South better educational and religious advantages. It is proposed that the appeal for the memorial fund begun by Southern Presbyterians be nation-wide and that the friends of Mrs. Wilson in all sections of the country be invited to contribute to this fund which will be so applied as to assist in carrying out her expressed desire to aid scores and hundreds of boys and girls to receive better advantages in education and in religious training. Assisting the Home Mission committee in the erection of this memorial fund will be an executive committee of women which the Home Mission committee has requested to appoint.

WASHINGTON WILL CARE FOR THE COTTON CROP; WAREHOUSE TO BE BUILT
 The citizens of Washington are determined that the cotton planters of Beaufort county will not lose their cotton crop.
 A company has been formed here, composed of about fifteen of Washington's best known business men, to build a storage warehouse. These enterprising citizens have already met and elected the following officers: President, George T. Leach; First Vice-President, George A. Phillips; H. B. Mayo, Second Vice-President; George Hackney, Jr., Secretary and Treasurer.
 Work will commence on the storage warehouse, which is to be located near the Washington Buggy Company factory on West Third street, Monday morning. The building will be in two sections. Each section will be 120x100 feet.
 The purpose of this organization is to afford the farmer as well as the merchant to store their cotton for which warehouse receipts will be issued. The building will be absolutely fire-proof and will be provided with a sprinkling system so as to afford the very lowest rate of insurance.
 This warehouse receipt can be taken to the First National Bank and this bank will advance the cash on the note of the holder, secured by their warehouse receipt to the amount of thirty dollars per bale of 500 pounds or less average.
 This determination on the part of the First National Bank is surely a commendable one and no doubt will be appreciated by the farmers and merchants throughout the county, for it will enable the farmers and business men to carry at least a part of their crops.
 The organization of this warehouse company goes to show that Washington is still abreast of the times and its enterprising citizens are determined to do all within their power to aid those who till the soil.
 The warehouse charges have not as yet been fixed, but this paper assures all its readers they will be reasonable and as low as can be made. Unless something unforeseen happens the warehouse will be ready by November 1.
 The above arrangement will enable the farmers to harvest their crops and the business men and merchants to get at least part value in cash for their cotton they will be compelled to take.
 Due to the present conditions, it seems now absolutely necessary to keep cotton off of the market and by a concerted effort this can be done by the Beaufort county farmers with the help of the warehouse company and the First National Bank.
 This paper congratulates the farmers of Beaufort county upon this move on the part of Washington's enterprising citizens.

Wild West Show Coming
WILL EXHIBIT HERE ON FRIDAY, OCTOBER 2, AT THE FLEMING PARK.
 Arrangements have been completed for a return engagement of Miller Brothers & Arlington's 101 Ranch Wild West Show to Washington, Friday, October 2, at Fleming Park.
 Particular interest attaches to the coming of the 101 Ranch Wild West Show this season because it is probable that several years will elapse before the next visit of this popular and typical exhibition to this city. If negotiations which are now pending are completed it is probable that the show will make an extensive tour of England, Continental Europe and other countries.
 In view of the return engagement of the show, the management announces that the exhibition still adheres to the original policy of presenting a characteristic Wild West program, and eliminating circus features.
 There is a romance about the old days on the plains that can never be entirely destroyed; the old frontiersmen, with their long hair and deerskin coats; the trappers; the overland mail coach drivers; the wild Indians of the prairies—these all have their fascination for the student of events as well as for the lover of strenuous, wholesome amusement. But, after all, the modern cowboy, although lacking in the numbers that characterized the old days, is cleverer than the cow boy of twenty years ago. There are many feats, exploited in the 101 Ranch Show, by cowboys and cowgirls, that would have been considered outside the range of possibility a few years ago. There are tricks of riding—dare-devil exploits upon outlaw horses and reckless disregard of life and limb that have never hitherto been equalled.
 The 101 Ranch, it is announced, offers an especially interesting Indian congress this season. There are 65 Sioux Indians and a big company of representatives from other noted tribes, all led by Iron Tail, the old Sioux Chief, who is probably the best known Indian in America. Iron Tail's profile is on the new nickel.

Good Music M. E. Church
MISS THREADGEAR, OF NEW YORK, MAY RENDER SOLOS ON SUNDAY EVENING.
 Rev. E. M. Sulpes will fill his regular pulpit at the First Methodist church Sunday morning and evening at the usual hours. Sunday school, E. R. Nixon, superintendent, will meet promptly at 9:30 o'clock.
 Among the features of the evening service will be the vocal solos of Miss Lois Threadgear, of New York, who is now the guest of her cousin, Mrs. J. A. Tucker, at Hotel Louise.
 Miss Threadgear gave disappointment to the large number in attendance at this church last Sunday night, due to the condition of her throat. Unless something unforeseen happens she will fulfill her engagement tomorrow evening.
