

Third Great Battle Now Continues; Fighting Has Been in Progress 5 Days

(By the United Press.)
Paris, Sept. 15.—After five days' fighting, during which the allies have tried vainly to break through the German line, the result that thousands have been killed, intense suffering is now going on due to the cold rains. Both sides now contemplate reinforcements along the battle line next week.

There are no reports of the casualties obtainable.
Train loads after train loads of the wounded are now passing around the city to the hospital camps in the south. Many officers of high rank have been killed. A majority of the wounded are suffering from shell wounds, which goes to show that the conflict is still one of an artillery duel.

The fact that the French are maintaining the offensive and are attacking steadily adds to the French confidence. General Gallieni has been killed in battle.
It is believed that the German line must break. The Germans must bring their supplies a long distance, while the allies have direct operations from their base.

The battle now continues all along the whole front of Oise. Three attempts of the Germans to take the offensive has so far failed.

THE THIRD GREAT BATTLE IS NOW IN PROGRESS

(By the United Press.)
Paris, Sept. 15.—The third great battle continues and now rages everywhere, was the comment on the situation at military headquarters here today.
There is hard fighting notwithstanding the heavy rain falls.

The struggle is especially desperate at the left wing where the joint armies of General Von Kluck and General Von Fabeck has been compelled to expend their extreme effort at their right for the purpose of meeting the banking movement in force.

Because of the extreme importance of the present struggle the officials in Paris are now hesitating to express any opinion.

GERMANS HOLDING FAST TO ALL POSITIONS

(By the United Press.)
Berlin, Sept. 15.—The war office announces that the German lines are being subjected to enormous pressure, but declares that they are holding fast all German positions.

The German successes in East Prussia.

F. G. PAUL BROS.

Prussia continues and it is officially stated that the French are diverting their whole attention to the army.
The Crown Prince has been suffering heavy losses, but holds his positions by his enormous strength and is now repulsing every attack of the French.

ALL AUSTRIAN FORCES ARE NOW UNYED

(By the United Press.)
Vienna, Sept. 15.—All of the Austrian forces are now united. The right wing stretches now from Burghausen to Chyrow, which insures the line's retreat if they are too hard pressed. Fighting is now going on all along the line with the greatest ferocity. A general description is now in vogue, due to a decree of the Emperor. The new recruits are being rushed to the front as fast as they can be equipped.

GERMANS RETREAT CAUSES REJOICING

(By the United Press.)
Bordeaux, Sept. 15.—The military headquarters here admits that the battle in North France is still drawn and states that it may continue for the next two or three days.

The French are sending additional batteries and heavy guns to the allied center.

There is much rejoicing here over the fact that the Germans, after eight days' fighting have been forced to fall back from Nancy.

ENGLAND FIGHTING FOR WORTHY CAUSE

(By the United Press.)

London, Sept. 15.—A decree for the adjustment of Parliament was read in the House of Lords this morning by the royal commission. He enlivened the work and spirit of Parliament as to the Home Rule disestablishment act and also the accompanying act suspending its operation during the progress of the present war. The royal commissioner also read a speech from King George, in which he declared that England was fighting for a worthy cause and that the kingdom would not lay down its arms until this purpose was accomplished.

SERBIAN ARMY HAS WITHDRAWN

(By the United Press.)

Belgrade, Sept. 15.—Pursuant to plans of the Serbian general staff for a concentration of the Serbian forces in the region of Bosnia, the entire Serbian army has withdrawn from Bosnia.

The Austrians occupied the town but made no efforts to cross into Serbia.
The advance of the Serbian and Montenegrin forces into Serbia continues.

FRENCH OFFENSIVE IS LOSING FORCE

(By the United Press.)

Berlin, Sept. 15.—The general staff has issued a statement to the effect that the battle in Northern France still rages in yet undecided. The evidence would indicate that the French offensive is losing force.

The general staff says:
The French effort to penetrate the German's right was made with the greatest bravery, but that it failed. The German center is slowly but surely forcing back the French advance.

Although the French made a desperate resistance in their position at Verdun they were repulsed without much difficulty.

Strong reinforcements have been sent forward at every point along the line. The present battle will surely result in a victory for the Germans.

The French will be unable to recover for a long time and Paris will be at the mercy of the Germans. The allied forces are heavier than the Germans. The Germans for the first time have the advantage as they are fighting from the trenches, using this to the greatest extent.

Broadway Jones Captivates All

IS PRONOUNCED ONE OF THE BEST ATTRACTIONS TO APPEAR IN WASHINGTON.

The season's greatest theatrical success was "Broadway Jones" at the New Theatre last night—a distinct success from every view point. A complete knockout, to use a "knockout" expression. The production does not offend in thought, utterance nor action. Not only has the play been well written by Mr. George M. Cohan, but the cast producing it simply captivated the large audience in Washington and today the consensus of opinion is that it is the best attraction to appear here in years. It was a splendid cast and a fine production, and if "Broadway Jones" should make a return date in this city this paper feels sure that standing room would be at a premium.

Dingbat Family New Theater September 22

The letter's thinking class and merry jingle, with the stanzas dancing girls has since the days of that prehistoric times that even antedate the theatre, been the favorite amusement of mankind. Musical comedy in the one standard attraction that always pleases. The question is which musical comedy show is the one to see. If one might judge by reports that reach us of the wonderful reception everywhere given "The Dingbat Family," and the record-breaking business that it is doing all along its route, there would seem but one answer to this question. This latest of laugh-provokers, adapted from Herriman's famous newspaper series, will make its local bow here at the New Theatre Tuesday, September 22, with an exceptionally large and capable company and a large chorus. Seats on sale at Worthy & Etheridge's Saturday, September 19.

COTTON MOVEMENT IS STILL ON THE UP-GRADE

The Southern cotton farmers, and particularly North Carolinians, are to storm the Wilson administration for relief in the statement of the executive officers of the farmers' union who have been working on the cotton problem, states a dispatch from Raleigh. Governor Craig, Attorney General Bickett and others expect to leave within the next few days for the purpose of asking Federal aid on North Carolina bonds backed by cotton. They will go with the commission to insist that the government funds promised for crop marketing be put into circulation. A great delegation of agricultural workers will accompany them and lay their wants before the Congressmen.

The subscription for the BUY-A-BALE movement in the city of Baltimore is still climbing. Yesterday it jumped from $9,400 to $11,800. This amount has been raised during the past five days by the Baltimore Sun. The sanction by the Washington officials now places cotton in the list of available securities in which fiduciary companies may safely invest money. It places cotton and warehouse certificates for it in the class of merchandise securities which the government can recognize and give them a standing which has not heretofore been deemed necessary to resort to.

One banker in Baltimore stated that the sending of money to the South, whether it comes from the bankers or the merchants, will after all be making a temporary loan to that section. He made the assertion that if a fund of $100,000 is sent there that in less than three weeks time at least half of it will have found its way back. This is only one of the natural laws of trade. Washington along with other enterprising cities of the South is determined to do its share so far as the BUY-A-BALE cotton movement is concerned. The merchants are rallying together as never before and are now doing everything consistent to aid and help the farmer.
