COLD STEEL IS ONCE MORE PLAYING LARGE PART AT THE FRONT

The nature of the struggle between the Germans and the allied forces on the battle front in France, which now stretches from Meuse in the west to Verdun in the east, is indicated by the latest official communication from the French war office, which states that the engagements have become less violent.

From this report it would seem that both sides have now reached the conclusion that the gaining of a few yards of ground had hardly warranted the losses entailed and that preparations are now on the way for a strong offensive movement at some strategic point.

The French have made progress in the territory between Rheims and the Argonne forest. On their left wing they have reached the heights of Lassigny.

The casualty lists show that 737 officers are among the killed, wounded and missing, a very high percentage of the total losses. Among these are thirty-two colonels and lieutenant colonels, eighty-five majors and two hundred and forty-six captains.

The German Emperor has taken up his headquarters in Luxembourg, according to a dispatch from Paris. President Wilson, it is reported from Washington, while announcing that he is prayerfully working for peace in Europe, will take no further steps for the present regarding mediation.

THROWING BOMBS INTO THE FORTS

Paris, Sept. 22.—Telegraphing from Petrograd a correspondent says:

SHORE ATTACKS HAVE BEEN REPULSED

London, Sept. 22.—The official press bureau states: Since the last report was received from General French further counter attacks have been made and they were successfully repulsed.

NEITHER SIDE HAS GAINED IN REPORT

London, Sept. 22.—The unparalleled struggle on the river Aisne which commenced about a week ago Saturday has developed now into siege operations.

The two armies are now strongly entrenched and are carrying on an artillery duel, while the infantry makes attacks and counter attacks being in the nature of sorties from a besieged fortress.

On the allies' left the French claim another advance on the right bank of the river Oise as far as the heights of Lassigny, which is said to be the center of fighting for a week past.

GERMAN CRUISER EMDEN CAUSES STRIFE IN LONDON

London, Sept. 22.—The exploit of the German cruiser Emden in the Bay of Bengal has caused a stir in England. Everyone is asking where as the British fleet to allow the capture of six steamers, or in the first place, to allow the Emden to get away from the China coast.

JAPANESE LOSE TORPEDO BOAT

NEW JERSEY HOLDS PRIMARY ELECTION

Trenton, N. J., Sept. 22.—Congressional fights and many contests for county nominations characterized today's State wide primary election in New Jersey. There being no Governor or United States Senator to be chosen this year, the primary battle is mostly of local nature.

In three districts Democrats are contesting at the polls today for Congressional nominations. The Progressive candidates have no opposition and their own party in the districts in which they are running. The Red Moose party has nominations in about half of the twelve Congressional districts of the State.

An interesting sidelight in connection with the primaries today was the fact that the Jewish New Year festival today served to make the early voting very light in Hebrew communities throughout the State. The polls opened at 9 o'clock and the vote was counted at 6 o'clock tonight.

THE BIG BEAUTY CHORUS

Charming Attraction at the New Theater For This Evening

TANGO, MAXIE AND ALL THE LATEST CRAZES IN "THE DINGBAT FAMILY."

One of the many novel features of the musical comedy, "The Dingbat Family," adapted from the famous cartoons by George Harriman, appear here this evening, at the New Theater, is the introduction of all the latest dance steps, such as the Tango, Maxie and Hesitation by society's pet ballroom dancer, Miss Cecil Renard, assisted by Mr. Edward O'Brien.

comedians who can really tickle the fibilities of the most blasé patron of the theatre, artists who understand the value of witty dialogue, situations and action, and last, but not least, novelties that do not require forced explanations to make an audience rally or respond with deserved approval. No matter of what mood one may be, whether it be temperamental or just disposition, the laughs are spontaneous and infectious. There is music to suit the most fastidious ear. At least fifteen song hits are distributed during the action of the two acts, rendered by the company of forty, including "the best singing and dancing chorus in the world," of the quality that you go out humming and whistling for days after you have heard them.

Curtain rises promptly at 8:30.

FEATURE OF WEST SHOW HERE OCT. 2

A regiment of women sharpshooters, fully equipped and ready to fight, seem far-fetched, but that is the hope of Miss Edith Tanslinger, known as "The Little Sure Shot," at present with the 101 Ranch Wild West Show, which comes to Washington on Friday, October 2, at Fleming Park.

"Yes, it is a fact that I will organize a regiment of women rifle experts," said Miss Tanslinger, "and I am sure of filling it with good sharpshooters as there are in the United States regiments, for every member of it will have had years of experience in ranches in the west, principally in Oklahoma. Money for the equipment has already been promised to me, and after corresponding with several of my friends at home I have decided that an regiment of women is not at all impossible. It is not a raffish idea at all, though I have my own ideas on that subject."

"I have also had much experience with the Mexicans and also with the people of other Latin American countries, and they all hate Americans, especially when they learn you can do something they cannot do. I remember one experience at a performance when one of the cowboys, thinking I threw a big bull on his feet, was very steeped and fell, and I was very near the edge of the arena when I saw the bull's horns coming towards me. I was very near the edge of the arena when I saw the bull's horns coming towards me. I was very near the edge of the arena when I saw the bull's horns coming towards me."

AN UNJUST ARREST BY POLICE, SAYS MR. SWANNER

To the Editor: I am not making a charge in this letter in the only way I know of bringing the case before the public. I had expected, on yesterday to announce myself as a candidate in the primary for the office of Mayor of Washington. Some people may regard this as a preposterous and unwarranted public man, but having tried to live honorably by attending to my business and dealing fairly with my neighbors, I felt that it was an honorable ambition to which I had the right to aspire. I did not announce my candidacy on yesterday for the reason that I was indicted on the night of Saturday night under a search and seizure warrant and on the charge of retailing liquor, which was dismissed when the evidence was heard. More than a year ago I secured the bill of the former Chief of Police (Mr. Roberts) and the present Chief (Mr. Roberts), as a result of which I was indicted for having a peanut roaster two far out on the sidewalk. Under the pretext of arresting me for this alleged violation of the law, notwithstanding my peanut roaster was no wider and occupied no more of the sidewalk than many others, and notwithstanding they had no warrant for my arrest at the time, Mr. Roberts and Mr. Roberts entered my place of business on Market street and made an unjustifiable assault upon my wife and myself. I was tried for violation of the town ordinance and for resisting the officers, although I was the one who had been assaulted and humiliated. I was acquitted of resisting the officers and the case for violation of the town ordinance was not promised by the solicitor upon appeal to the Superior Court. Because my wife and myself, and been unjustifiably assaulted and humiliated, I brought suit against Mr. Roberts and Mr. Roberts in the Superior Court, as I felt that was the only way of being vindicated. This suit is still pending, and because of it the present Chief of Police is my sworn enemy, and I am frank to say, at the same time, that I entertain no peculiar love for him. I have known, for some time, of threats made by him against me, or efforts to intimidate me and that he has tried on various occasions to get witnesses to swear that they had bought whiskey from me, all of which I am prepared to prove when the time comes. This being the state of things between Mr. Roberts and myself, and it having become known that I expected to announce myself as a candidate for Postmaster on Monday, it so happens that on Saturday night Mr. Roberts swore out a search and seizure warrant and charged me with selling liquor. The officers entered my place of business on Saturday night and made search, finding two packages of whiskey which had been left in my store on Saturday by my customer, who requested me to let the packages remain there as an accommodation to them. Not wishing to embarrass these men in any way,

MOVEMENT OF PROGRESSING

BUY-A-BALE COTTON MOVEMENT IN WASHINGTON KEEPING UP WITH THE TIMES

The BUY-A-BALE cotton movement in Washington and Beaufort counties is progressing and judging from the statistics received at the Daily News office, no town in Eastern Carolina, is doing more in this respect than the former town of Washington. Washington merchants are rallying together, as never before, they are buying cotton at 10 cents per pound, thus enabling the farmer to realize on what he has toiled and worked for during the past season.

UNCLE SAM TEARS

U. S. RAILROAD

Fort Smith, Ark., Sept. 22.—It is reported that the tracks of the Arkansas Southern Railway Company are to be taken up and spid, for scrap iron. The Federal Court ordered the receivers to discontinue running trains on the road, last June as there was no way of taking care of the deficit resulting from its operation. This solution of the railway deficit problem to an end was one and, unfortunately, demonstrates Uncle Sam's method of dealing with business problems as related to railroads.
