GOVERNOR GLYNN ON THE WILSON POLITICS

With his characteristic gifts of hitting the nail on the head, Governor Glynn, in his speech at Syracuse last week, gave verbal expression to a thought which of all others is undoubtedly the universal and dominant one in the American mind today. Said the Governor: "While Europe wages a war of desolation, America carries on a campaign of peaceful production. While the farms of Europe are deserted, the American farmer harvests his bountiful crops. While the industries of Europe falter and halt, the hum of wheels in America's factories makes music from the Atlantic to the Pacific. While the unfortunate millions across the ocean rush toward death and destruction the manhood of America, thanks to the steadfastness, the diplomacy and the watchful waiting of Woodrow Wilson, dedicates itself to the task of saving the world from want and famine." This country knows and acknowledges its debt of gratitude to the steadfastness, the equipoise, the humanity of Woodrow Wilson.—Buffalo Times.

COMPARABLE TO LINCOLN

Woodrow Wilson is Abraham Lincoln with educational advantages—born and bred in a different environment. The same primitive virtues, refined and set in order; the same directness, sincerity, and tenacity of purpose; the same self-forgetfulness in thought for the country. Lincoln's exterior characteristics were picturesque because back of them lived the man. It is idle to contend that had the rail-splitter done his sums on a blackboard in a well-appointed school room, instead of on the back of a fire-shovel in the flickering light of a back-log, it would have been a disadvantage. His life among backwoodsmen and frontiersmen gave him insight to the character of the more primitive men, the foundation strength of a new and expanding country. Missing this, except by study, imagination, feeling, Woodrow Wilson knows the men of the world. In neither instance was environment, education of opposite kind, able to keep back development. The quality of manhood asserts itself and is identical.—San Francisco Star (Ind.)

STICKING TO THE JOB

A splendid presentation of the American patriot's point of view in the present European crisis is given in President Wilson's letter to Frank E. Doremus, chairman of the Democratic National Congressional committee. Declaring his belief that the responsibilities of office will keep him at Washington, when leaders of his party throughout the country desire him to visit their sections in the interests of the fall campaign, the President sounds a high note of patriotic purpose which will find an echo in millions of hearts. "Every patriotic man," observes Mr. Wilson, "ought now to stay on his job until the crisis is passed and ought to stay where his job can best be done. We must do whatever is necessary and forego whatever is necessary to keep us in close and active concert in order to relieve in every possible way the stress and strain put upon our people during the continuance of the present extraordinary conditions. My job, I now know, can be done best only if I devote my whole thought and attention to it and think of nothing but the duties of the hour." Thus, argues the President, he will probably be unable to take part in the fall canvass. That task must be left to others. Men of all parties will approve what the chief executive says. Nor, if one look at it from a partisan point of view, should the President's absence from the campaign injure the party's chances at the polls. The administration has done splendidly. Congress has performed services entitling the present session to rank very high. By every fair argument, the House is entitled to re-election in November; House, Senate and President merit the endorsement which such re-election would imply. And the rule of sticking to his job, which the President lays down for himself should control every member of Congress. This is no time for fence-fixing at home. The commission given men elected in 1912 does not expire till March, 1915; until then their duty is to their country, and their own private fortunes are of no weight in the balance.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.
