NOTWITHSTANDING INCLEMENT WEATHER, GOOD CONGRE-GATIONS ATTEND PEACE SUNDAY SERVICES.

Notwithstanding the fact that good congregations were present in all the different churches of the city and heard sermons from the topic. "Peace." The pastors in Washing ton carried out the wishes of Presi lent Wilson to the letter and the consequence was that the services was that the services fore enjoyed greatly. All the discourses delivered were of the highest order. But for the fact that the

The North Carolina Mutual an The North Carolina Mutual and Provident Association, through their local superintendent, W. G. Saunders, Saturday paid thath claim of $500.00 to A. F. Wright, colored, for death of his wife, Clariusa Wright, Only two premiums had been paid on the sulfer. on the policy.

This is the fifth payment of like amount this company has paid to holders of policies in Washington. The Association has probably paid colored people of Washington about 550,000. During the 11 years Frof. Saunders has represented them it has relieved many cases of distress by paying a weekly sick benefit. The association is for the protection of colored people only, and every one of their race owe it to themselves to carry some insurance and they can not do better than set it they can not do better than get it in their own company, which has stood the test for 16 years and proved itsreliability.

They have $101,000.00 cash deposits to take care of their contracts. Any who doubt should write the State Insurance Commissioner at Raleigh; C. C. Spaulding, manager; Jno. Merrick, president; Prof. J. M.

remarks one of the characters in H. H. Frazee's latest production which comes to the New Theatre on Wedmesday, October 7, for one night, "and the idea keeps 3,000,000 dressmakers at work." And it is also the tragedy of many a home. The latter phase of the matter is the founda-ion of "Fine Feathers," the drama which aroused the theatre-goers of New York and Chicago where this yeary remarkable play was seen durng all of last season and was voted the most pronounced success of all he big plays produced for many ears. In "Fine Feathers" the author has tilt up a virile, interesting drama. he husband is by natural inclinaon a man of moral rectitude with se one thing able to dull his moral ense being his devoted love for his rife; the wife is a beautiful young woman fond of her husband, but formitting her love for him to be sutweighed by her love for the fur-ties of life; the mephistophelian temper is a man, who, falting to cor-rupt the husband through means to satisfy such a thing as cupidity, plays successfully on the weakness of the wife for "fine feathers" and accomplishes his purpose by using her to influence the husband through his love for her. The result evolves

Some pertinent advices and sugstions are given by the United United States Geological Survey re sarding farm and municipal water supplies in its report on the geology and underground waters of southern Minnesota, published as Water-Supply Paper 256. The region described in the report includes approximate-ly the southern twe-fifths of the State of Minnesota and has an area of 28,265 square miles. Aside from the cities of Minneapolis and St. Paul, this is essentially an argricultural region.

The purpose of the investigation, which was conducted in coporeation with the Minnesota State Board of Health, was to determine to the full-est practicable extent the principal facts in regard to the underground waters their quality, head, mineral quality, sanitary condition, and depth beneath the surface—as well as the best methods of drilling to them and finishing wells for their utilization, and to consider all other questions relating to their recovery

A question in which nearly all communities are interested, say the authors of the report, is whether flowing wells can be obtained by drilling to considerable depths. Much blind optimism prevails in regard to a view of stimulating greater inter one time or another borne the loss of expensive drilling at places where there was no real prospect of obtaining flows, and others are likely to suffer in the same way unless and Springfield. Both conventions they are properly informed. It is will decide upon party platforms village or city should drill a deep well in order to learn whether flows can be obtained. Even where there are no prospects for flowing wells, If the water rises higher from the deeper than from the shallower beds, it is important that the comnunity should know it. The infor-nation obtained as the result of the investigation gives ample data for determining definitely for most com-munities whether or not there is any munities whether or not there is any prispect of obtaining flowing walls. These data are given in the report for each county separately, so that the well driller may determine with

CHAUTAUQUA BANNER WILL ARRIVE SOON AND WILL BE ON DISPLAY

The Pennsylvania Chautauqua As- | Junior Chautauqua Banner, 1914. sociation, which all will remember as responsible for a delightful week during the past summer, has awarded a banner to the boys and girls who composed the Junior Chautau-qua of Washington, N. C. It will be remembered that when Miss Marie Bender had charge of the Junior work in the story, song and game hour, she promised that a banner would be awarded to the town which she considered had done the best all round work. During the summer Miss Bender visited the following towns: Washington, N. C.; High Point N. C.; Rockville, Md.; Mechanicsburg, Pa.; Lykens, Pa.; Galeton, Pa.; Hackettstown, N. J.; Kennett, Pa.; Pocomoke, Md.

She has decided that Washington

In making this award, the num ber of Junior Chautauquas in pro portion to the population has been taken into account, as well as the fine spirit displayed in games, in songs, in the play, which was a fea-ture of the Chautauque program, and lastly, in the general good con-duct of the children in the tent, throughout the Chatauqua week.

The banner has been sefft to Miss Estelle Davis. It is of red felt, 20x 36 inches, marked with the Chautauqua seal, and with the words:

- SHATE IN.

Washington, N. C.
Miss Davis and the local Chautauqua committee will decide where the banner shall be hung:

During this winter, Miss Estelle

Davis will conduct a Junior Chautauqua Club to be composed of boys and girls who attended the 1914 Chautauqua and those who want to belong to the 1915 Juntors.

Meetings will be held every month beginning with October. The pro-gram will be stories, games and songs, and will be for the purpose of keeping up an interest in the Chautaugus until its return next year. More detailed notice of these club meetings with dates and places of meeting will be announced later. We are sure that the boys and girls of Washington deserve great credit Chautauqua. STATE CONVENTIONS. Boston, Mass., Oct. 3.-The Republican and Democratic State con-ventions are being held today, the democratic delegates holding their meeting in this city, while the Re publican convention is meeting in Worcester. The selection of that city as its meeting place was probably made by the Republican party with est in the party. It is a departure from a well established custom and is regarded as likely to lead to the establishing of a circle of convention cities to include Boston, Worceste and Springfield. Both conventions time between now and election.

FALL MOTOR SHOW.

St. Louis, Mo., Oct. 3 .- The annual show of the St. Louis Automo bile Manufacturers and Dealers' As sociation opened here this morning and will continue until the 16th of the month, one of the best and larg est ever held in the west. The electric cars have been interspersed through the exhibits of gasoline cars and not segregated as last year prospect of obtaining flowing wells.

These data are given in the report for each county separately, so that the well driller may determine with some degree of accuracy to what depth he must go to obtain water.
