

MISSIONARY TO KOREA WILL BE THE SPEAKER AT M. E. CHURCH TONIGHT

(By Susan Eden.) Sunday will be a full day at the North Carolina Methodist Conference in session at the Methodist church in this city. The business session as well as the adjournment of the morning session that it is expected that the appointments will be read and the conference will adjourn in plenty of time Monday for members to leave on the afternoon train.

Bishop to Preach. The conference will have the pleasure and privilege of hearing Bishop Waterhouse preach at 11 o'clock today morning at the church. This will follow the annual love feast at 8 p. m.

The ordination of deacons will take place at this service. The anniversary of the Epworth League will be held Sunday afternoon, addressed by Rev. J. M. Culbreth. Rev. F. N. Parker will preach at 7:30 a. m., following which the elders will be ordained.

Services this Evening. Rev. Mr. Stokes, for seven years missionary to Korea, will make the address at the missionary anniversary this evening. This afternoon Miss Bertha Sillman, a deaconess, will speak on home mission work.

The Morning Session. The intense cold which has hit the whole South in its grip had little effect on the conference, the usual large congregation of ministers, laymen and visitors being present at the opening session this morning. The opening devotional services each day are a beautiful and inspiring beginning of the day's work, putting the spirits and hearts of all in harmony.

Bishop Waterhouse conducted the service this morning, interspersing the reading of the scripture from the 13th chapter of I Corinthians with a few simple and forceful explanations and exhortations of his own, continuing on through the Christian epistles of the apostle.

In connection with the verses regarding gifts and diversity of gifts the Bishop said that the conference is a unit and each member of it should love and minister to each other. "If the whole body were one member," said the Bishop, "it would be a monstrously so, this conference would be a poor thing if we all were just alike. So thank God for each other. Look for the good in one another. God is the builder of the conference."

The service was interspersed with song. The bishop called on Rev. A. J. Parker to lead the singing, declaring that they were about to "blacken" before getting through the hymns. He asked for the services of the quartet during the conference, saying the conference would be glad to hear them at any time.

After the singing of "Children of the Heavenly King," the minutes of Friday's session were read. Rev. Mr. Hope, pastor of the Christian church in the city, was introduced to the conference.

Supernatural Report. The calling of the honor roll, the supernaturals, those who have grown old in the service and dropped from the active ranks, is always one of the most touching and impressive features of the conference. At the reading of the name of Rev. A. D. Betts, the little old man, whom the conference loves to call "Uncle Betts," and who heads the roll, rose near the front of the church and shed a benediction over the body by his testimony. "Uncle Betts" joined the conference 62 years ago and his greatest desire still is "to help some body on to heaven." He assured the Bishop that he would especially think of him on December 24th, and added the explanation that on that day in 1852, when Bishop Waterhouse was born in Tennessee, he was driving across the State to the Virginia line for his first circuit appointment.

name of T. J. Daily was referred for the supernature relation.

TRINITY ALUMNI HELD ANNUAL BANQUET FRIDAY

Breathing a spirit of good cheer and loyalty for their Alma Mater and speaking in words of hopefulness for their much beloved institution of learning, about 125 of Trinity College's sons sat around the festive board at the Elks Home yesterday afternoon from five to seven. The occasion was the sixth annual banquet of the alumni. Every word uttered, every thought expressed, net with a responsive cord. It was nothing more nor less than an old-fashioned family gathering where the halcyon moments of other days were old and a renewed determination to make Trinity, their educational mother, so to speak, still go forward in leaps and bounds as has been her record for the past two or more decades.

The banquet was served by the Woman's Civic League of this city and was indeed a feast fit for a king. When it comes to preparing tempting viands for the inner man it always takes a woman to assume this role and the good women of Washington cannot be excelled. The table was in the form of "U" in honor of Southern Methodism's leading educational institution. The hall was tastily decorated in the Trinity colors and around the table sat men of distinction and renown in the world of letters, on the platform and in the pulpit.

Mr. T. H. Southgate, president of the Board of Trustees of Trinity College, did the honors as toastmaster. He was at home in this role. In words of oratoricalness he welcomed the alumni and in presenting each speaker made each introduction fit the speaker. Those who responded to the call of the toastmaster were Mr. Henry A. Page, of Aberdeen; Rev. H. S. Spence, of Trinity College; Dr. Albert Anderson, superintendent of the Central Hospital, Raleigh; Bishop R. G. Waterhouse, of California; Hon. John H. Small, of this city; Rev. Harry North, presiding elder of the Durham district, and Dr. W. F. Few, president of Trinity College.

Hon. John H. Small and Bishop Waterhouse were both given ovations as they entered the hall, the entire body of banqueters rising to their feet and remained standing until they had taken their seats. Nearly all the addresses were eulogistic of Dr. Braxton Craven, the head of "Old Trinity," and Bishop John C. Kilgo, known as "Marse Jack" to the conference. (Continued on Page Four.)

FOOT CRUSHED BY FALLING FROM N. S. TRAIN AT PINETOWN

Mr. Benjamin Wallace, a white man, who is employed in the Roper log woods and a citizen of Pinetown, N. C., while attempting to board the Norfolk Southern passenger train last night at Pinetown, accidentally slipped, the consequence being that he fell underneath the train and his right foot crushed. He was brought to the Washington Hospital this morning where his foot was amputated to the ankle joint. While his condition is precarious, he is getting along as well as could be expected under the circumstances. Dr. H. H. Hunter, of Pinetown, accompanied the unfortunate man to this city. At one time he was employed by the Pamlico Coeage Company here. Unless something unforeseen happens he will recover.

HOME FROM SCHOOL.

Mr. John Kales Hoyt, son of Mr. and Mrs. John K. Hoyt, arrived in the city yesterday afternoon from Bedford City, Va., where he is attending the Randolph-Macon preparatory school. He returned on account of an epidemic in the school.

YOUNG MAN MEETS SUDDEN DEATH AT BELHAVEN SATURDAY

The Belhaven Citizen of yesterday says: George W. Howell, the 15-year-old son of the widow Howell, of that city, was instantly killed while doing duty on an electric wire pole last Saturday evening just before dark.

He notified those in charge of the dynamo at the light plant to turn on the current as he had not finished the repair work. But through an error of some sort the current was turned on when instantly eleven hundred volts flashed through his hands and body, the result being instant death.

Physicians were immediately summoned, but they were unable to revive him. The funeral was held from the Christian church Monday morning, of which the deceased was a member and the burial was had in the Wilkinson burying ground. The funeral was largely attended. The pall-bearers were six young boys from his class in school.

He was a bright young boy and being of a benign disposition with many noble traits of character and determined mind to make a man of himself in the early stage of life, had before him a prosperous future.

TWO BIG BATTLES ARE RAGING IN POLAND IS REPORT

London, Nov. 21.—Two big battles, both of which may have decisive results, are raging in Poland, and a third of almost equal importance is progressing in East Prussia.

Of the three battles, that now are at its height between the Vistula and Warta rivers and in which the Russians today claim partial success, is exciting the most interest. The Germans, it is believed, have brought up by their line of strategic position in Posen and Silesia at least half a million men in an effort to break the Russian line here. Weather conditions, the frozen ground and the situation of the battle field, favor a battle decisive to a degree not equalled on any other field in the present war.

The other battle in Poland is taking place on the Cracow-Czenstochowa front and Russians and Germans each claim it is proceeding satisfactorily. In East Prussia the Russian advance is moving slowly through the wild country surrounding the Mazurian Lakes. In Galicia the Russians are moving westward and at the same time are seizing the passes of the Carpathians.

There now is almost a complete absence of infantry attacks in the Western arena and the artillery fighting is much less violent. And that region about Dixmude through which the Yser canal passes is inundated and the only serious fighting appears to be taking place south of Ypres, where cannonading is in progress.

Bad weather, which necessarily hampers operations, has been experienced and snow has fallen in some places. There has been no important action in the French center, but in the Argonne region the Germans have made vigorous attacks, which, the French say, were repulsed. On the French right wing the Germans have retaken Chauvencourt, part of which they destroyed a few days ago. German activity in the vicinity of Rheims has slackened.
