BRITISH MUST CHANGE ATTITUDE TOWARD AMERICAN COMMERCE.

WILL PROTECT EXPORTERS

President Wilson Personally Supervises the Document Framed in State Department.

Washington.—The United States dispatched a long note to Great Britain insisting on an early improvement in the treatment of American commerce by British fleets. It warned England that much feeling had been aroused in this country and that public criticism was general over unwarranted interference with the legitimate foreign trade of the United States.

Mexican Factions Split

Washington.—Dispatches from the Brazilian minister in Mexico City dated there and received here described the political situation as full of uncertainties. The minister referred to the lack of harmony between the several chiefs, but indicated that nothing alarming had developed and that good order was being preserved. From its own agents also the state department was advised that friction existed between the Zapata and Gutierrez-Villa factions.

Collapse of Canopy Kills Four

Kansas City, Mo.—Nine men were caught here in the collapse of a wooden canopy built to protect pedestrians passing a million dollar hotel building under construction. Two were killed and six seriously injured. Walter S. Dickinson, an actor of Lincoln, Neb., died in a hospital. His skull was fractured. The other dead victim was a negro, James McLean, business agent for a labor union, who was in a critical condition. Two others injured were workmen employed on the building.

RELIEF WORK MUST CONT. 'TIL SUMMER

The Commission for Relief in Belgium, of 71 Broadway, New York, has announced the completion of the vast pipe line shipping organization which has for its object the collection of all Belgian relief food-stuffs and supplies in America and their distribution in Belgium. Telegrams making public this information have been sent by the Commission to the governors of every State in the Union and to the various state relief organizations all of which food-stuffs and relief supplies are now being handled by the Commission.

This organization of the Commission includes a line of thirty-five steamships, the use of the 48,000 outposts of the United States and as 25,000 offices of the six express companies of the United States. Special arrangements have been made with the postoffice and express companies for the shipment of small packages of food by individuals, and it does not in any sense, disturb the railroad arrangements previously made for large shipments.

The response of America to the appeal of Belgium has been gratifying, the task of provisioning six million people, 1,400,000 of whom are absolutely destitute, requires the dispatch of a shipload of food every other day and the maintaining of a transport line comprising 31 steamers. State Relief organizations have been told, therefore, that they should be put on a permanent basis for continued effort until summer, if not longer.

Importance of Play.

Play is an earnest thing in childhood, never a trivial matter. The play activities of children have a meaning which the world is beginning to understand. Parents are realizing more and more that children's play is not merely for fun, but for health, strength, mental development and the building of character. Every home should provide interest in play and recreation for boys as a girl. Part of the present-day methods of home training aims to do this. The home-made kindergarten is not a difficult thing for a mother to organize, thus making work and play a benefit and a delight to the children.

Supremacy of Business.

There never was a time in all his story when our national life has been so interwoven in the transactions of business representing as it does the basic principle of progress and permanent success, and the sneer at commercialism passes when we discover militarism only a cloak for it. The United States is proving to the world how inconsequential are those things which have been felt to be paramount in the building up of a nation, such as military power and frowning fortifications along the border, for business is something that concerns individuals and the home welfare, and requires no apology in this day of glorified peaceful industry, which is another name for "Americanization." AN IMPORTANT MEETING OF SUFFRAGISTS

A meeting will be held in Raleigh on February 2nd, at which every suffragist in North Carolina is urged to be present if possible. It is hoped to hold the special hearing of our Suffrage bill before a joint committee of both Houses of the General Assembly at this time, and it is expected that the hearing will be arranged at this date. In any case the meeting will be held on Tuesday afternoon, the exact hour to be announced through the papers later. The papers will carry also information as to whether the hearing will be held then or later. Please consult them for such information as cannot be sent out in advance.

In any case Dr. Anna Howard Shaw, President of the National American Suffrage Association, will make an address; and in addition short talks of a few minutes each will be made by the following: Miss Kate Gordon, president of the Southern States Woman Suffrage Conference; General Julius S. Carr, Chief Justice Walter Clark; Mrs. Archibald Henderson, President of the North Carolina Equal Suffrage League; Mrs. Goddard, president of the North Carolina Woman's Christian Temperance Union; Mrs. Eugene Reilly, of the General Federation of Women's Clubs; Mrs. T. N. Lingle, chairman of Social Service in the State Federation; and Mrs. A. Fairbrother.

The great event of the year will be, of course, the address by Dr. Shaw. She is too well known to need any introduction, and the state League is very fortunate indeed to have her with us at this time. A special section of the News and Observer will be printed on the day following the Special Hearing. This will be of great interest to every one, and of especial value to suffragists. It is requested that each League sell as many as fifty copies number are desired, that the order be sent at once to Miss Blyman, Chairman Press Committee. Kindly note this as it is a matter of importance.

All visitors are requested to register with name and address, at the Information Bureau, Warborough House. EQUAL SUFFRAGE LEAGUE OF NORTH CAROLINA. Mrs. Archibald Henderson, President.
