

GERMAN ATTEMPTS TO OUTFLANK THE ENEMY RESULTS IN FAILURE

London, March 5.—Except in the central Balkan Pass of the Carpathians, where fierce Austrian attacks have moderated somewhat, the Russians are on the offensive along the whole line from the Baltic sea to the Rumanian border. Apparently they have definitely disposed of the German and Austrian attempts to outflank their two extreme wings and are moving slowly westward.

After retiring to the Dniester river, the Russians again have crossed into Bukovina and unofficially are reported to be back in Cosowitz. They already have captured Sargoga, a few miles northeast of the capital. Farther to the west they again are in possession of Stanislau and have crossed the Lukwa river, a forward step, which, in the opinion of military experts, probably will force the Austrians to evacuate Galicia.

The Austro-Germans hold the Bukovina, Tuffholka and Urzyczyn, whence they are reported to be making a drive into the western passes, especially the Dukia the Russians are on the Hungarian slopes, where the fighting has degenerated into trench warfare. The Russians are sending reinforcements to this line.

In northern Poland the Russians are advancing westward from the Niemen river and the Germans are forming a rear guard action. At one point only is the German attack being seriously pressed—against the fortress of Oswowetz.

To the south according to a Berlin dispatch, the Germans have evacuated Mysyniec, on the east Prussian border northwest of Lomza, while farther west, near Mlawka, they are believed actually to have crossed the border after a defeat at Prasnay. The Russians also show revived activity in central Poland and have attacked the Germans east of Plock and near Skierniewice, southwest of Warsaw.

In the west the Anglo-French armies are doing most of the attacking, but apparently without making progress, although they claim to have repulsed German attacks which were delivered in an effort to regain lost ground.

The sinking of the German submarine U-8, as officially announced today, makes the fourth submarine sunk by British ships since the beginning of the war, the others being the U-15, the U-18 and one rammed by the destroyer Badger off the Belgian coast. It is believed a French destroyer also sank one, and the captains of two British merchantmen claim the prizes offered for the first merchant captain to account for a hostile submarine.

There was no news tonight of naval operations in the Dardanelles.

Paris, March 5, via London, Mar. 5.—The following French official statement was issued here tonight:

"In Belgium in the region of the Dunes we have organized solidly the advanced trench taken by us yesterday. The Germans attempted to push forward their trenches into contact with ours, but 18 times our fire dispersed them.

"To the north of Arras, our counter attacks in the region of Notre Dame de Lorette were crowned with complete success. On Friday the enemy made a new attack but we thrust them back, regained the lost positions which had been for two days in their possession and made numerous prisoners.

"Rethems has been bombarded all day long.

"In Champagne, in the region of Perthes, we made marked progress. On Thursday evening a company of the German guards became surrounded in our lines and was captured. On Friday we gained ground on the whole front, carried a trench north-west of Perthes and occupied a salient point north of Perthes, where we took prisoners.

"We captured 650 yards of trench beyond the group which lies north of Meuln and made progress in the adjoining woods. Finally, we gained possession of several trenches in ravines northwest of Beausjour. According to prisoners' account, the enemy's losses were extremely high. The morale of our troops was excellent.

"In the Argonne region at Vauquois, we made important progress in the western portion of the village still held their ground.

"In the forest of Le Pretre a German attack was repulsed easily. In the region of Badonvillers and in the region of Colles our attacks made headway, having brought us into immediate contact with the enemy's wire entanglements. We repulsed a counter attack.

"In Alsace, at Hartmannsweilerkopf, we captured a trench, a small fort and two machine guns."

ANTICIPATE THOUSANDS AT REUNION

Richmond, Va., March 5.—Anticipating that thousands of the Men Who Wore the Gray, their sons, daughters, and friends will come to Richmond to attend the annual reunion of the United Confederate Veterans, June 1st-3rd, the Southern Railway has already begun making arrangements for enlarged facilities for this event and perfecting of a special organization for which it will draw from all parts of the system men who have had large experience in handling reunion and other large crowds.

Preliminary details were worked out at a meeting attended by 27 officials of the passenger and transportation departments and it was decided to follow the methods which proved so successful in handling the large crowds which attended the reunions at Macon, Chattanooga and Jacksonville and other big centers at points on the Southern Railway such as the Shrine Convention in Atlanta last year.

During the reunion, Richmond will be the transportation headquarters of the system and all orders for the movement of trains will be issued by officers on the ground. The new Hull street station which has just been completed will be used as the terminal for all special trains and Pullman cars will be parked on tracks adjacent to it. The entire freight portion of the building will be used for baggage during the reunion and special attention will be given to this feature. A large force of expert baggage men will be on hand and the company will also have a number of special officers on the ground to aid the local police in protecting passengers, while all passenger representatives who can be spared from their locations will be in Richmond to aid in furnishing information and otherwise contributing to the convenience of passengers.

ORDINANCE.
On motion the following ordinance was enacted:
Section 1. That it shall be unlawful for any person, firm or corporation to sell, give away or otherwise dispose of on the Sabbath day, any cigars, cigarettes, tobacco, cool drinks, ice cream, confectioneries, fruits or candies. Provided that hotels and restaurants may sell to their registered guests or persons taking meals, cigars, cigarettes and tobacco.

Section 2. Any person, firm or corporation violating the provisions of this ordinance shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction shall be fined $10.
All ordinances in conflict herewith are hereby repealed.
W. C. AYERS, City Clerk.

LIQUOR ACT IS ENACTED INTO A LAW

Raleigh, March 5.—In the Senate today and in the House tonight the anti-liquor law act, which the House passed two weeks ago by such an overwhelming majority to be lost in the Senate a week later by amendment to refer was accepted as agreed by the conference committee and the bill is now a law.

The Senate had no difficulty in coming to its agreement. While it took many days to move its mind to final action, it agreed at the end to let those who have spoken back home speak again at the ballot box. This greatly disappointed nearly all temperance leaders and the House most of all. Concurrence in that course was out of the question. Two committees went to work yesterday and wrote quickly into a new act provisions that pleased nearly everybody.

The Senate did not offer a vote against the agreement, and the amended act went into the House this afternoon. It would have been voted into permanent law as the session came to a close at 2 o'clock, but nobody could find the bill. When the House opened tonight Representative Doughton presented the bill and it went through like lubricated lightning.

The new act which was ratified tonight becomes effective April 1. It has much of the original Grier act and merges into that bill after the first several sections are reached. Its main provisions are that not more than one quart of whiskey and five gallons of beer may be shipped to any person, firm or corporation other than twice a month, and its advocates understand that this applies to those generous-hearted individuals who would go away and bring back a pond of booze to friends. It limits the actual drinking. That is purely incidental. The bill is aimed at blind tigers.

LETTER TO N. CAROLINA CLUB WOMEN

Mrs. Mary Hendren Vance of this city who is the State Chairman of the North Carolina Federation of Women's Clubs, has addressed the following interesting communication to the club women of North Carolina:

"Allow me to call your attention again to the contests in the Literary Clubs of the State in Poetry, short story writing and research work. There are no limitations in subjects in poetry and stories, quality is the point. In the various clubs in the State there must be many papers very much worth while in history, travel biography, etc.—compiled with great care by the women working in these clubs. Be sure to let me have them. We hope for at least one representative in these contests from each club. Send material typed not later than March 10th to Mrs. Z. B. Vance, Box 672, New Bern, N. C.

"In order to know what to study is going on in the literary clubs, I am asking again for programs of your 1914-15 work. I have two thus far from the sixty or more clubs in the State.

"Also your chairman of literature is quite anxious to be of assistance in making out your programs for another year. If you wish any suggestions write me a full account of your club, and just what sort of work you wish to do and it will give me great pleasure to do what I can by way of suggestion. I have programs prepared on "Four Italian Cities," and "Introductory Year with Robert Browning," also a "Second Year with Robert Browning." Am working on other programs which I hope to have ready in a few weeks. A program made out along suggestive lines which you may cut or fill out to fit your own particular needs will be of most service, I am sure. Such will be furnished upon application to and correspondence with your chairman of literature.

"I want to impress upon the clubwomen that are pursuing literary topics, that such work is indeed very important, not only to the individuals who are doing the work but often out of study clubs there arises opportunities for work for others. Genuine self-improvement and a cup of tea that many of these wonderfully helped departments of work for others had their births. There must be something that warms the heart, stirs the brain, and calls forth the highest type of service in the sincere contemplation of pure literature. For out of this sort of work often crude it is true, but always genuine in aspiration for higher things, there have come the altruistic movements that occupy so much of the attention of all of us at the present time. While we are killing the flies and mosquitoes, cleaning up the towns and making all of them Cities Beautiful, let us not forget to give ourselves with an open mind and genuine zeal to the intelligent study of "the best that has been thought and said in the world."

"With kindest interest in the forward movement of all the study clubs of the Federation, I am,
Sincerely,
MARY HENDREN VANCE,
State Chairman of Literature, N. C. F.

ARBOR DAY AT OAK HILL SCHOOL HOUSE

On Friday, February 26th, the patrons and visitors in school district No. 2 gathered at the school building to enjoy and help celebrate "Arbor Day and Washington's birthday" combined. Owing to the limited time to spend on each, the teacher, Miss Paula Paul, found it necessary to divide the two.

The trees planted had already been prepared and placed in their proper places. There were 3 trees planted by the school; before the trees planted the students marched on the star arranged according to grades, and sang "The Good Old U. S. A." They marched out into the yard to the tree belonging to the first, second and third grades, the fourth grade followed to the right, the fifth, sixth and seventh followed to the left, forming a semi-circle. Rachel Gurganus, representing her class-mates, gave a recitation entitled, "Little by Little," the thoughts of which expressed their feelings. The fourth grade marched around to the opposite side of the building to their tree, the fifth, sixth and seventh followed to their right while the first, second and third followed to their left. Again forming a semi-circle, Lillian Allen, representing her class-mates, recited "How to Grow," the thought of which she expressed to her class to grow with their heads lifted high and not stoop or bend to the many temptations which are always near. All then marched around the tree, each putting in a spade full of dirt.

The fifth, sixth and seventh then marched across the yard to their tree, the fourth followed on the right, the first, second and third to their left. Lucille Allen, representing her class, recited "What We Plant" with an effective thought. Then all marched around the tree and put in a spade full of dirt. After having finished the planting Ethel Rose recited one of Whittier's arbor day poems, then all marched into the house and took their proper places on the stage feeling that they had done something which they could look back upon with pride in future years.

They then sang "The Battleship of Maine" opening the Washington birthday exercises.

The remainder of the program was as follows:
"Why We Celebrate"—By ten small children.
Recitation—"Our Flag"—By Roy Rose.
Recitation—"The Banner Betsy Mads"—By Rufus Jernigan.
Recitation—"Columbus and Washington"—By thirteen children.
Recitation—"Only a Private"—By Lula Tooley.
Recitation—"Washington's Birthday"—By Nora Adams.
Song—"The Grave of Washington"—By six girls.

After the exercises were over the name of the school was changed from Lower Pungo to Oak Hill.

We also organized a society for the improvement of the school and the community, to be known as the Improvement Society with Mr. D. B. Carter as president, Mrs. D. B. Carter, secretary; Mrs. J. H. Harris, treasurer. They all entered upon their new duty with much enthusiasm and we are sure it will be a grand success.

At night a pie and apron party was given for the benefit of the school from which a neat sum was realized. This school seems to be making much improvement.

THE HEALTH OF OUR SUMMER RESORTS.

Many of our summer resorts have acted on the policy that a good climate, charm of location and beauty of scenery are sufficient inducements to attract the summer visitor, but nowadays people are more wary and wisely look for more than this before selecting a vacation playground. The visitor wants a clean bill of health from the resort he has chosen, and is entitled to have one. Vacation typhoid is becoming known as a serious hazard. The prudent recreation seeker now finds out in advance whether or not this infection prevails at the place he has in mind, and furthermore learns what sanitary measures are being taken there to safeguard the health of the summer colony. The town of York, Maine, has recently taken steps that at once place it in the forefront of progress as far as health is concerned. The way the problem was met may well serve as a model for other summer resorts. Last year there were a number of cases of typhoid fever at York. No attempt was made to conceal the fact of the existence of the disease and its extent. The authorities very properly felt that the way to meet any danger was to face it in the open. An expert was invited to come to York and make a sanitary survey. The chief recommendation of the expert was that York needed a full time health officer. The town appropriated $5,000 a year for this purpose and appointed Mr. William Eustis Brown, a graduate of the School for Health Officers of Harvard University, to the newly created position. The town of York is now spending one dollar per capita per year for health, a larger sum than is appropriated by any other American city directly for a like purpose. Public health is
