ENGLISH VESSEL GOES AGROUND DARDANELLES CREW MADE PRISONERS

London, April 18.—The British, as an offset to their success in destroying a Turkish torpedo boat which attacked the transport Maniton of Oltis yesterday, lost the submarine E1-5 which, while carrying out a difficult reconnaissance in the Dardanelles mine field, ran aground on Kepher point, the crew made prisoners.

According to the Turkish report seven of the submarine crew are missing.

In Egypt British airmen have dropped bombs on the Turkish camp near the border, while a French cruiser, the firm of which was directed by a seaplane, has been throwing shells on the Turks near El Arish where the army for the invasion of Egypt has its headquarters. The British have not shown any intention of attacking the British since their last retreat along the canal.

In the Carpathians there has been fighting, but no battle to be compared with those which the arrival of spring brought to a close. The Austrians report that they have repulsed Russian attacks southeast of Lupkow pass, inflicting heavy losses on their adversaries, but elsewhere comparative calm prevails.

The French again have been active in the Vosges, capturing an important height near Metzeral. The British too, have attacked the Germans in the neighborhood of Ypres, where fighting was still in progress when the last report was dispatched.

It again is stated that German efforts to bring about an accord between Austria and Italy have failed, a report, which if confirmed, is likely to magnify in the eyes of the Italians the frontier incident which occurred yesterday. According to the latest reports the Austrians, who were passing over Italian territory, actually fired upon Italian troops, who repulsed them, and in return penetrated into Austrian territory.

The sinking of the Greek steamer Ellispos by a submarine off the Dutch coast is likely to bring about friction between the Greek and German governments. The Ellispos was destroyed while on a voyage from Ymerina, Holland, to Montevideo in ballast.

Constantinople, April 17 (via wireless to Berlin and London, April 18).—The following Turkish official statement regarding recent operations in the Dardanelles was given out here tonight:

"On the afternoon of April 14, the English battleship Majestic bombarded a land position near Gaba Tepch on Saros bay. The fire was returned and the Majestic was forced to retreat.

"On the following afternoon the Majestic attacked our advanced batteries but was struck three times. The warship retired and was replaced by the British battleship Swiftsure, which continued the bombardment without result.

"On the nights between the 13th and 15th of April enemy torpedo boats tried to penetrate the Dardanelles. They were easily repulsed. German aviators dropped bombs which struck and exploded on enemy coal steamers.

"Main headquarters reports that yesterday an enemy hydroplane was damaged by Turkish force and fell into the sea. A second hydroplane attempted to salvage it and was sunk by our fire. An English armored cruiser which tugged away the damaged machine was struck by our shells. The cruiser with the hydroplane withdrew."

CONVENTION IN RALEIGH THIS WEEK

The approaching Baraca-Philathea Convention in Raleigh this week, beginning Thursday evening, April 22nd, is creating wide interest among the young people of the Sunday schools of this state, of all Protestant denominations. About seven hundred regular delegates have enrolled at Baraca-Philathea headquarters, Greensboro, with several days ahead for those who happen to be late in deciding to go.

In addition to the regular delegates, several hundred visitors will attend the Convention, especially on Sunday. Wilson and Henderson are endeavoring to secure an attendance sufficient to run special trains for the Sunday meetings, while the Charlotte delegates, accompanied by a lumber from Gastonia, will go in a special car.

It is well understood that the local Committee on Homes in Raleigh have secured plenty of homes for the delegates at $1.00 each per day, two in a room, and those who prefer hotel entertainment will lack nothing in the splendid hotels of the capital city.

ARTHUR LEE JACKSON.

On Friday night March 26th, as the dark shadows of night were fastly gathering, the white winged messenger of death entered the home of Mrs. and Mrs. O. E. Jackson of Chocowinity, and took from them their only beloved son, Arthur Lee, to dwell in that beautiful city on high, where all is peace and love.

How sad it seems to stand by the bedside of those we love and see them pass over to the other shore. He had no enemies, his life was too pure for that. He was always bright and cheerful and made friends with all whom he met. The "pick-et line" of memory still clings to beautiful memories around the life of Arthur, who craved to enjoy life's morning and to be unshored with triumph into the realms of the moon-day. "Then let our sorrows cease to flow, God has only revealed His own."

He was a true and loving son and brother, faithful to his home and did all that willing hands could do. He never murmured at anything he could do for his mother and sisters. He was always cheerful and tried to make his home happy. Now he is gone it is sad and lonely.

If the efforts of kind physicians, loving relatives and friends, could have saved him, he would be with us now. But we grieve not as those who have no hope. We feel that this should be a warning not to set our affection too much on anything on this earth, for it seems as if that which we prize most is sure to be taken away. We feel our loss keenly but realize that it is his eternal gain. God needed one more jewel, so He called him home, where there will be no more sorrow and pain and where all is peace and love.

Who can stand upon the summit of life's pathway and comprehend that which awaits us? Today we bloom and flourish as the rose; tomorrow we are cut down and wither. He has only paid the debt we all must pay sooner or later.

May the beautiful birds sing their sweet lullabies near his mound, and the memory of his life ever be kept green by all who knew him. May the hand that has wounded so heavily be the hand to comfort and soothe the grief-stricken ones.

No pain, no care can reach him now. The angel crown is on his brow. His death was sharp, the pain severe. To part with one we loved so dear.

The flowers lay upon his grave. May wither and decay. But the love for him who lies beneath will never fade away.

He is gone but not forgotten. Never will his memory fade. Sweetest thoughts will ever linger around the grave where he is laid. Written by a friend.

The exercises will be begun on Sunday night, May 9th, with a sermon by Rev. B. F. Huske, rector of Christ Episcopal church, New Bern, in the auditorium of the school building at 8:00 o'clock. Rev. On Thursday night, May 13th, beginning at 8:30 o'clock the class exercises will be conducted.

Thursday night May 14th, at 8:30 o'clock, the commencement address will be delivered by Dr. Clarence Poe, president and editor of the Progressive Farmer at Raleigh. The commencement will close with the graduating exercises.

Misses Caddie and Mary Fowle returned to their home in the city today after spending the week end at Pinetown as the guests of Miss Isabel Parker.

MUNICIPAL IMPROVEMENTS N. C. TOWNS

New water works and sewer systems are booming in North Carolina today. Little towns and villages are installing water and sewer systems now, whereas, a few years ago, only the larger towns had such things. Now our larger towns are erecting magnificent permanent plants yielding only the purest kind of water and that in abundance.

The conservative old town of Edenton is waking up. At a recent meeting of her city council an ordinance was passed to enforce the use of sanitary cups. The ordinance demanded that the privies be made according to the specifications recommended by the State Board of Health and that they be installed before fly-time. A wise ordinance for this little town, but if she would have them in before fly-time, she should be up and doing.

Durham proposes to run no risk in regard to her city water supply. She has been using filtered water from the Eno river but owing to the fact that this river receives drainage from Hillsboro, her plan is to change her source to Flat River. Flat river is remarkably free from sources of pollution. It affords a watershed that will be ample for the needs of Durham for 100 years to come.

The new plan calls for a raw water reservoir of 40 million gallons capacity to be located at the present site of a smaller artificial lake at the Country Club. This will serve as an emergency supply, a settling reservoir, and will add materially to the beauty of the Country Club.

Durham has voted $500,000 bonds to effect these improvements. Mr. Gilbert C. White is the engineer in charge.

Morehead City is rapidly pushing forward the work of installing one of the most complete sewer systems in the State. According to the engineers in charge, the system is already 40 per cent complete and is expected to be completed by July 1st. Such a sewer system with the abolition of the present privies will make Morehead one of the healthiest little towns in the State.

Washington is another North Carolina town that proposes to have a pure water supply. She has bought the old privately owned plant which furnished the city water from deep wells near the center of town and which brought the owners one or more law suits on account of its polluted water. Perhaps the most modern filtration plant has been installed about a mile out of town. The city supply now comes from Traneer's Creek instead of from wells in the heart of town in close proximity to human habitations, privies, sewers, stables and other sources of pollution. Washington is also installing a rather complete sewer system. This in turn will abolish a great number of old open privies.

Southport has recently issued $40,000 bonds for the installation of water works and a sewer system. For her water supply she proposes to sink suitable number of deep wells as there is no surface water available. These proposed plans have just been submitted to the State Board of Health. It is probable that these plans or similar plans with slight alterations will be approved by the board.

There are known to be about 12 or 15 towns in the state that are actively considering the installation of water works, sewer systems and sewage disposal plants, or improvements in existing water and sewer installations.

AUTO ACCIDENT NEAR SMALL.

About one mile from Small Saturday afternoon about two o'clock, the automobile of Mr. Flave Allgood, which was being driven by Mr. Chas. Walker, skidded and was precipitated into the canal, which was about six feet wide and six deep, but fortunately no one was seriously injured. Mr. Herbert Allgood was teaching Mr. Walker to drive when the accident occurred. Miss Josephine Walker and Messrs. Walker, Allgood and Guy Bright were in the car. They were three and one-half hours in extricating the car from the canal, but strands to say the car was not put out of commission by the fall. They continued on their way here bringing with them from Small Misses Laura Walker, Maude Allgood and Helen Henderson, and Messrs. Willie Black and Calph Allgood, returning that evening at 9 o'clock.

PARENT AND TEACHER HAVE FREE-FOR-ALL

A trial of right much interest to school folks was held in the Recorder's Court Saturday at 11 o'clock. The case came up from District No. 1, Washington township.

From the evidence given in at the trial it seems that a child of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. McGowan, who is a pupil in Miss Edith Harrison's room at the Pineville graded school, had committed some violation of the rules of the school, for which the teacher administered corporal punishment. At the noon recess the boy went home for his lunch and informed his mother of the incident. The mother seemed to have become very much exercised over the matter and went out to investigate. She was accompanied by her husband, who "followed afar off," but was present when the climax was reached.

Mrs. McGowan, having some time before gone to the committee with complaints from which they had exonerated the teacher, felt that her redress lay in her efforts against the person of the teacher. So with few preliminaries she proceeded to give expression to her feelings in terms of slaps, scratches and hair-pulls.

No serious damage was done, but in order to uphold the dignity of the Department of Education, it was thought best to take action against Mrs. McGowan for simple assault, of which offense she was convicted and fined $10 and cost. Mrs. McGowan while not an active participant, was present when the offense was committed and because he put forth no effort to restrain his spouse, was included in the warrant and taxed with the cost.

TASTE.

Two men met. They had not seen each other for 30 years. They had finished school on the same day and had engaged in the same kind of business.

"I have made a fortune and retired" said one. "I have made a failure" said the other. "How did you succeed?" asked the second of the first. "I liked my work was the answer. "I did not like my work and therefore failed," said the other.

Learn to like your work. The man who succeeds is the man who likes his work. Taste fortells the outcome of undertaking. Cultivate a taste for your work.

Two other men met after years of separation. One was a leading citizen, respected in his community. The other was a tramp and vagabond. They had entered college together. The one liked to work and liked the companionship with the brightest minds and cleanest lives. The other disliked his duties, and liked the company of the strikers and the poker players. The one had good taste, the other had bad taste.

Taste reveals character. The world judges what you are by observing what you like and what you dislike. Your taste predicts your destiny. Cultivate good taste.

POLICE ARE AFTER HOUSES OF ILL-FAME

The police of the city, receiving orders from a higher authority, are taking drastic measures to eradicate the houses of ill-fame within the limits of the city.

Friday night they raided the houses of one Myrtle Simpson who resides in Union Alley and arrested her with one other occupant, and placed them within the confines of the city jail. Saturday afternoon they were brought before Recorder W. L. Vaughan to answer to the charge of conducting a house of ill-fame within the city limits. The proprietress was sentenced to twelve months in jail; appealed to the Superior Court and was released after giving bond in the sum of $400 for her appearance. The other occupant was given just fifty minutes to leave the city, and she left on an afternoon train.

Five other houses were raided the same night, and the occupants given twenty-four hours in which to leave the city.

Their boat at the wharf was also partially burned. The cotton was worth over $5,000, insurance $4,000; building loss $1,000, half insured. Boat also insured. Origin of the fire is unknown. Boyd's Ferry is Grimesland landing on the Tar river.
