Interesting Contest at Chapel Hill Proves Girls Best Spellers

Chapel Hill, May 13 .- The spelling test conducted by Prof. N. W. Walker, State inspector of high schools was participated in by 179 high schools and 6,513 boys and girls. One hundred and fifty schools rendered reports of the results of the test which fif ty words in common use were submitted as the efficiency basis. The number of trials in the test was 325,650, and of that number there were 98,102 failures. The average grade attained by the The

there were 98,102 failures. The average grade attained by the State was 69.87 per cent.

The word "consensus" was mispelled a greater number of times than any other submitted. "Wednesday" and "which" were spelled correctly a greater number of times than any other in the test list, the latter being spelled correctly 6,174 times out of 6,513 chances.

The results proved in a substantial way that girls are better spellers than boys. The number of cases in which girls made the highest grades was 95, while only 59 times did the boys score in this particular. The number of cases in which the boys made the lowest grade was 90; the girls made the lowest grade in 42 bases.
