SWIPED AUTO FROM GARAGE LAST NIGHT

THIEVES BROKE INTO THE GARAGE OF F. E. LEWIS OF MARKET STREET.

MADE GET-AWAY

Police Have Telephoned to Country Districts in the County and Neighboring Cities.

Thieves last night entered the garage in the rear of F. E. Lewis on North Market street and stole a five-passenger Ford touring car, belonging to Mr. Lewis.

The robbers gained entrance to the garage by breaking the lock on the front door. The exact hour of the robbery is not known, the car not being missed until this morning.

The police were at once notified of the case and tracked the auto out through the road, leading to the country districts. There they lost the track. Telephone messages have been sent to practically all parts of the county and to neighboring cities, notifying the residents and police to be on the look-out for the car.

Vanceboro Depot Robbed

Stole Over $75. No Clue Left. Whiskey and Estates Were Also Taken.

Some unknown party or parties entered the Norfolk Southern depot at Vanceboro Tuesday night and stole goods and money to the amount of between seventy-five and one hundred dollars.

There was seventy-five dollars stolen, and all of this with the exception of about six dollars, which was taken from the ticket case, was to the safe and belonged to the Southern Express Company. The safe was unlocked yesterday morning when the robbery was discovered, but it could not be learned whether the agent had forgotten to lock it Tuesday night or the burglar knew the combination. The other goods stolen consisted of estates and three quarts of whiskey.

The robbery was committed some time between ten o'clock Tuesday night and six o'clock Wednesday morning, and the thief covered up his tracks so well that the officials are at a complete loss as to knowing how to start about ascertaining who the parties are who committed the deed. No clue was left and the officials suspect no one.—New Bern Journal.

Negro Is Tried For Robberies

Randall Told Conflicting Stories at Trial Yesterday. Case Will Be Concluded Today.

Arthur Randall, the negro who was arrested last week on the charge of being implicated in the Hoyt and Pegram-Watson robberies, was brought up for trial in the recorder's court yesterday afternoon.

Randall told conflicting stories, claiming that the pistol had been given to him by another person and again saying that he had ordered it from out of town. No action was taken in his case. The sentence will be imposed on him today.

IMPRESSIVE ADDRESS BY HON. JOHN H. SMALL

Eloquent Message Given by Him to the Students of the Washington Collegiate Institute Last Night.

Excellent music, an interesting declamation contest, a large attendance and a most eloquent and impressive address by Congressman John H. Small were features of the closing exercises of the Washington Collegiate Institute last night. Mr. Small's address contained a strong and forceful message to the young people. His words were well chosen and delivered clearly and distinctly.

"I need not tell you," he began, "that I am honored at being here tonight and having the privilege of making this, the first commencement address of the Washington Collegiate Institute. There is something about this institution that appeals to me most forcibly. In my mind the greatest claim that this Collegiate Institute has on the confidence and the faith of the community, the county and the State is the fact that it stands for true democracy. Its doors are open to everyone who seeks enlightenment and education; and I like to look upon this institution in that way—as welcoming all those who desire to better themselves, no matter where they are from and no matter what may be their station or position in life.

"You, who attend this Institute, are fortunate in having the opportunity of doing so. Do you realize what it means, what effect it will have on your future life and what benefits you will derive from the years you spend here? I want to put that question before you tonight. 'Why Am I Here?'

"You, young men, are here to fit yourself for life. Your parents and you yourself realize that education will give you a great advantage over your fellows in the struggle of life, no matter what vocation or what kind of business you follow. You are here to mold your brains, to acquire concentration and to master yourselves. It is an unbroken rule that the man who cannot master himself cannot hope to master others. If you want power and influence, you must be a little smarter than the man you try to influence.

but never let him think you are smarter. I think it is the bounden duty for every man to succeed as far as he can—taking the word 'succeed' in its worldly sense. The world has no use for the indolent, for the incapable and for the irresponsible man. I would not discourage the acquiring of great wealth; I believe a man is to be commended if he obtains great riches and power—provided that he secures them by legitimate methods and does not trespass on the rights of his neighbor.

"You, young ladies, are here, in a large degree, to make you 'home-makers.' What could be a higher aim? The home is the basis of all civilization, and this institution can do nothing greater than to make it-girls future—home-makers. 'But even all this is not the greatest reason why you are here. There is something else, and that 'something' is embodied in the commandment, 'Thou shalt love thy neighbor as thyself.' Wherever there has been accomplished some great deed, some great work, there has been at sometime the essence of this law—'thou shalt love thy neighbor as thyself.' All the qualities you obtain here should not only be used for your betterment, for your advancement, but also for the betterment and advancement of your neighbor and fellow man.

"There is a great compensation for a life of sacrifice and a life given to the service of humanity. Influence will be yours, respect, admiration and a life of happiness. And at the end, when that vital question is asked, 'Where is thy brother?' may you be able to answer, 'Here he is! and not, 'Am I my brother's keeper?'

The declamation contest last night was won by A. B. Fry, with C. W. Clark and J. L. Chaney second. The judges were Harry McMullan, J. B. Ross and Dr. H. W. Carter. The diplomas to the graduating class were delivered by Superintendent Fletcher. Miss Jessie Eubank, president of the senior class, received special mention for her excellent work during the term.

Present Opera Tuesday Night

"The Mikado" Will Be Feature of Commencement Exercises of E. C. T. S. at Greenville.

"The Mikado," a beautiful Japanese opera, which will be given by the Alumnae Association of the East Carolina Teacher's Training School Tuesday night, will be one of the features at the commencement exercises of that institution.

The opera will be beautifully staged and will be participated in by a cast of about fifty. The alumnae association will use the fund raised from the performance as a beginning for the building of a gymnasium for the training school.

NOTICE TO TEACHERS.

I wish to call the attention of the teachers of the county to the requirements of the School Law relative to attending Teachers' Institutes or summer schools. This notice is for those especially who expect to teach for the first time next year. The law requires all persons who teach in the public schools of North Carolina to attend continuously for a term of not less than two weeks a county teachers' institute or some summer school. As there will not be a county teachers' institute in this county this summer I wish to call your attention to the summer school at the Eastern Carolina Training School at Greenville, N. C., the State Normal and Industrial College, Greensboro, N. C., and the State University at Chapel Hill, N. C. Information about these schools may be had by request to the President of these institutions.

I also wish to call the attention of the teachers of the county to the fact that teachers holding first grade certificates from other counties in North Carolina and other states may have these indorsed for Desford

Official Test Of Plant Today

Preliminary Test Last Night Satisfactory. Believed That Plant Will Come up to Guarantee.

A preliminary test of the city light and water plant was made yesterday evening. Indications are that the plant will more than come up to the required guarantee. It is expected that the official test will be made this afternoon. Engineer White is in the city and ready to make the test. A delay has been caused by the non-arrival of the thermometers with which to test the steam. These are expected in today.

CARD OF THANKS.

We wish to thank our neighbors and friends through the columns of our paper, who have been so kind to us through the illness of our little boy, who has now regained his usual health; thanks to the untiring skill of Dr. H. W. Dunn, who on January 8th started treating him, when we had no hopes for him. He was helpless in every way, and could not talk or walk. I would also thank our beloved Rev. N. Harding for his kindly inquiries and comforting words.
Mr. and Mrs. Ira Congleton.

Why Wisdom Teeth. The so-called wisdom teeth are the two last molars to grow, and they have no real connection with the possession of wisdom. They take their name from the time of their arrival, from twenty to twenty-five years, at which age the average person is supposed to have reached years of discretion. Cutting one's wisdom teeth means simply arriving at the point of completeness in physical equipment, and has no direct relation to mental equipment. The possession of these teeth is no guaranty of wisdom. They grow at about the same age in people whether they are wise or not.

OCRACOKE NEWS.

The buoy tender Juniper has been in the harbor since Saturday working the channel and outlying sound buoys.

Postmaster Howard has just built a very creditable and neat postoffice that is a credit to his enterprising efficiency. He has installed a neat cabinet containing about 75 boxes, a window for the delivery of packages, and another for money orders. It would be a credit to a much larger place than Ocracoke. The old postoffice building will be used for a photographic studio.

The various life saving crews went off duty at midnight on May 31st and will return at midnight July 31st for another ten months of continuous duty.

W. D. Gaskill is going to change his comfortable house boat "Honk" into a floating restaurant catering especially to visitors who come down Saturday nights and return Sunday evening.

The Ocracoke, Hatteras and Cape Hatteras ball clubs are scheduled for four games, the last one to be played here on July 4th.

JAPAN AFTER GERMAN TOY TRADE

Japanese manufacturers are making a determined effort to obtain as much as possible of the trade formerly held by Germany. Some time ago the government made a display of German toys that sold well in America, and the Japanese have turned their attention to duplicating these articles. The picture shows a Tokyo toymaker manufacturing dolls for the American market.

MISSIONARY MEETING ENDS

CONCLUDING SESSION OF AURORA CONFERENCE HELD LAST NIGHT.

GOOD PROGRAM

Interesting Business Meeting Held. Delegates Left for Their Homes This Morning.

(Special Correspondent)

Aurora, N. C., June 3.—The business session of the Women's Missionary Society of the Washington district, was held at the Methodist church at Aurora yesterday. Mrs. N. H. D. Wilson, of Goldsboro, presiding. Miss Emily Guilford, of Aurora, made the address of welcome, to which Mrs. E. M. Snipes, of Washington, most fittingly responded.

The report was then made by the various delegates representing different societies. Mrs. Wilson made appropriate remarks after each report, commenting on the details, as they were brought out. One of the questions asked each delegate was, "What is your greatest difficulty?" The general answer was "Getting people interested so that there will be a better attendance and greater zeal." Only one-tenth of the Southern women, it is claimed, take an active part in this great missionary work.

The meeting was fortunate in having present Miss Sallie Lou McKinnon, of Maxton, conference corresponding secretary. She has just returned from attending the council at Kansas City. She made several excellent suggestions for better methods of work in the society.

A telegram was sent to Mrs. W. P. Baughman, of Washington, district secretary, expressing regret that she could not attend the meeting.

Mrs. Wilson led the meeting last night. Miss McKinnon lectured on social service and the best way to interest the people so that they may take an interest in the work. "Social service," she explained, "not only means pulling the child out of the mud puddle, but covering up the mud so that there will be no pitfalls. The meeting closed with last night's services and the delegates and visitors left for their homes this morning.

MARRIED.

Diamond-Allgood. Peter Diamond and Miss Amy Allgood, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Allgood, of East Main street were married last night at the Christian parsonage by Rev. R. V. Hope, pastor of the Christian church. Both the bride and groom are well known here, he being a prominent business man of the city. They will make their home in Washington.

AID MEXICO TO SAVE ITSELF

UNITED STATES ADOPTS A NEW AND VIGOROUS POLICY. WILSON DECLARES FACTIONS MUST CEASE FIGHTING.

NOTE BEING DRAFTED

Will Probably be Submitted to the Cabinet Tomorrow and Then Dispatched to Germany Saturday.

Washington, D. C., June 3.—In the note dispatched to Mexico, President Wilson publicly called on all factions in Mexico to settle their differences and set up a government that can be accorded recognition by the United States.

The note dealt at length with the conditions now existing in that country and concluded with this forcible paragraph:

"I therefore, publicly and very solemnly call upon the leaders of factions in Mexico to act together and to act promptly for the relief and redemption of their prostrate country. I feel it to be my duty to tell them that, if they cannot accommodate their differences and unite for this great purpose within a very short time, this government will be constrained to decide what means should be employed by the United States in order to help Mexico to save herself and serve her people."

Preparing German Note.

The President already has begun preparation of the next note to Germany, and it is expected the note will go before the cabinet tomorrow and be dispatched to Berlin immediately afterward. The main point of the document probably will be an inquiry to ascertain definitely and promptly if the German government intends to adhere to the principles of international law, hitherto accepted universally, or to conduct its maritime warfare according to its own new rules.

Interview With Bernstorff.

Count Bernstorff, the German ambassador, had an audience with President Wilson yesterday afternoon. No statement is given out regarding the details of the interview. Count Bernstorff told callers at the embassy that President Wilson had received him most cordially and that both were trying to find a way out of the difficulty. Beyond this, he would not discuss his visit.
