WASHINGTON, NORTH CAROLINA, JUNE 26, 1915.

When a lady finds she can make a speech, the husband may as we put the children in a boarding school, strangle the canary bird and renew his acquaintance with the fellows at the club.-Houston Post

The news that Washington had been designated as the meeting place for the Elks of the State next year, was received here with considerable elation and satisfaction yesterday aftrnoon. Washing ton is not going to spare any pains in showing the visitors a gotime who they come to this city ext June.

THE TIME FOR SALES.

This is the time of year when merchants usually put on a sale i. order to get their summer stock reduced as greatly as possible t make room for the new fall and winter stok. One of Washington leading stores has already held a sale of this nature and sever others are now on the eve of holding similar events.

The store which has already held its sale, enjoyed a most grat fying rush of business. This was due to two facts:-the fact the it had the goods, and the fact that it let the people know it had then Both are highly essential. A store may be loaded to the ceilin with excellent merchandise, but if the people don't know that th goods are there, the sales are going to be very low. ADVERTIS ING is what counts. A merchant may go ahead and hang a pice of oilcloth over the front of his store, but he'll get small returns But if he goes ahead and covers the community with circulars, as vertises in the papers and thus shows the people he isn't afraid t spend money, that he BELIEVES in his goods, they'll think that something big must be going on and even if they are not in th market for any goods, they will visit the establishment just to se how the sale is being run.

The local merchant, whose sale has just terminated, spared n pains in letting the people know what bargains he had to offer them He ran frequent page and half-page advertisements, and the resulwas that his store was crowded during every day of the sale. Hi example should be one that the other merchants of the city woulsee the advisability of following.

The reason why this city probably hasn't had other convention here is because we haven't gone after them. And, we might add that's just the reason why we haven't secured a good number other things besides conventions. Washington is an ideal place for conventions and meetings of all kinds and there is no doubt that number of orders would be only too glad to meet here if they were properly approached on the matter.

Only one thing marred the pleasure and enjoyment of those wh attended the Chautauqua in this city, and that was the chatter and laughter of those who were not interested in the various perform ances and were too ill mannered to permit those in their vicinity to hear the various numbers. Innumerable complaints have been made of this fact by indignant patrons of the Chautaoqua.

LITTLE TIPS ABOUT People You Know.

Jaykay Holt.
Jakay Holt was born in Oahkash Wis, July 4, 1815. Exactly an year after his birth it was form that he was 305 days old. He didn' wear any shoes until he was six mouths wid. He was passionately fond of music in his young'r years and for hours he would all on the kitchen floor and pull the family cat's tail in order to hear it how!

Jaykay's juvenite ambition was to he a fish peddler, is his mind, there was no other position in the world that held forth no many allurements.

Industried by the peddler, hurl a noot at the jatter, which knocked he fellow unconscious for over an hour. That ended Jaykay's ambilons in that line.

When he was twelve years old.

Jakay was able to walk, talk plainy and eat without being forced for do so. He could also recité "Maye l'ad a Little Lamb," in a manner which brought tears to the eyes of his listeners. He was also a skillful performer on the piccolo.

He left home June 18, 1817, to position as the skoleton in a oneing circus, but failed. Then he suc reasively held down positions as an instructor to the aboriginess of Afghanistan, lecturer on the Chaurauqua platform in eastern Syrin and as interpreter for the various ribes of savages in southern Africa

Finally he came back to America came established in the dry goods welness and in 1806 he owned his wn store. Ho is now a most surexaful business man.
