THE TRENCHES

Rotterdam, July 22.—Trenches de luxe, equipped with electric lights and running water, in the wooded theatre of war are described by August Spanuth, who is a great correspondent at the front in France. There are whole cities, lying underground, says Spanuth. Thousands of soldiers are living in these subterranean quarters. The underground quarters are equipped with running water and electric lights, telephones and stoves. Mail is delivered three times a day and supplies for the army are brought in great quantities.

POLITICAL GOSSIPS

When any class of people has anything to say, it has become largely the custom to make a political issue out of it. Instead of a friendly discussion of a subject it is a law book instead of a magazine and is so-called it is in the highest sense of the word. As a result, political agitators, political lawyers, political preachers and miscellaneous women are generally in politics and discussion, selfishness, intolerance and hysterics run rampant in public affairs. For years the low, damp, murky atmosphere of misunderstanding envelopes public thought it breeds political reptiles, vermin, bugs and lice which the pure air of truth and the sunshine of understanding will choke to death.

We have too many self-appointed interpreters of industry who are incapable of grasping the fundamental principles of business and who at best can only translate gossip and add color to sensational stories. No business can stand upon error and might make a fortune out of it. No industry can thrive upon misunderstanding for public opinion is more powerful than a King's sword.

When prejudice, suspicion and class hatred prevail, power gravitates into the hands of the weak, for demagogues thrive upon discussion and stalemate sicken upon strife.

The remedy lies in eliminating the middleman—the political gossip—and this can be accomplished by the managers of business sitting around the table of industry and talking it over with the people. Interchange of information between industries and the people is as necessary to success in business as interchange in commodities, for the people can only rule when the public understands. Away with political interpreters who summon evil spirits from their prison cells and hope that they will be the saviors of the people in the name of Mr. Country.

PHILIP

Philip, the Macedonian king, while drowsy with wine was trying a case and the prisoner after sentence was pronounced, exclaimed, "I appeal." "And to whom do you appeal?" inquired the astonished monarch. "I appeal from Philip drunk to Philip sober," replied the prisoner, and the king granted the request and at a rehearing gave the prisoner his liberty.

The people drowsy with the wine of discord oftentimes pronounce a verdict on public questions which they reverse in their more calm and deliberate moments. The next best thing to making no mistake is to correct them.

SELLS HUSBAND FOR $500

Chicago, July 22.—Mrs. Margaret O'Grady, of 2788 Osgood street, received $500 for her husband, Martin O'Grady, according to her testimony before Judge W. E. Sullivan, in the Superior Court.

"I got tired of waiting for my alimony," she said. "He owed me $110, and I started proceedings against him. He called up this girl he was going with and told her he would be in jail next day. She said, 'No, you won't. I'll give $500 to keep you out.' She paid me $500 last week, and I told her I would stay away from my husband and take no more alimony."

"She bought him for $500?" asked Judge Sullivan.

"She bought him for $500, yes," answered the witness.

It Always Helps

says Mrs. Sylvia Woods, of Clifton Mills, Ky., in telling of her experience with Gardui, the woman's tonic. She says further: "Before I began to use Gardui, my back and head would hurt so bad, I thought the pain would kill me. I was hardly able to do any of my housework. After taking three bottles of Gardui, I began to feel like a new woman. I soon gained 35 pounds, and now, I do all my housework, as well as run a big water mill. I wish every suffering woman would give a trial. I still use Gardui when I feel a little bad, and it always does me good."

GARDUI

Headache, backache, side ache, nervousness, tired, worn-out feelings, etc., are sure signs of womanly trouble. Signs that you need Gardui, the woman's tonic. You cannot make a mistake in trying Gardui for your trouble. It has been helping weak, ailing women for more than fifty years.

EDITOR BIGGS GETS EVEN

Editor Carl Goersch, of the Washington Daily News, has a past history that is remarkable within itself. Editor Goersch was born on a milk ranch in upper New York state when he was several years younger than he now is. At an early age Carl became greatly attached to a load frog, which he finally succeeded in taming. At the age of 9 Carl was the wonder of the country. All his neighbors commented on the wonderful piece of humanity, and greatly annoyed the young fellow who had so many people asking him whether what he was.

At the age of ten Carl wanted to be a railroad brakeman, at the age of twelve he had a great desire to become a tramp, but it so happened that he missed all these callings and became just a plain, every-day newspaper editor. During his checkered career of scarcely two-score years he has worked in several different states, being a hobo, sailor, carpenter, chimney sweep, bootblack, reporter, office boy and expert poker player. He was in Mexico during the trouble last year, and tore the heads off of sixteen Mexicans that were attempting to massacre him. At another time he displayed great bravery by capturing a fourteen-inch cannon from the Mexicans and juggling it back to the American army single-handed. Once again, when the Americans were in danger of starving, Carl went out, captured a sixteen-hundred-pound bull and brought it to camp on his back, thus saving the soldiers from starvation. A wonderful, wonderful man.—Greenville Reflector.

DOUBT STORY OF THE ORDUNA

Berlin, July 22.—The German authorities are not inclined to take seriously the Orduna captain's story of a submarine attack. They regard it as too fantastic to deserve sober consideration. A high officer of the Admiralty said that the German government knew absolutely nothing about the incident, except what appeared in the afternoon papers. This was merely a single small paragraph cabled from New York. He added: "It will be at least eight or ten days before we will get any reports on the subject."

BECKER MAKES HIS LAST PLEA

Albany, N. Y., July 22.—Charles Becker's final plea to Governor Whitman to save him from the electric chair was handed to the Governor's secretary today by John B. Johnston, partner of Martin T. Munton, Becker's counsel. The Governor

WILL PROVE IT HIMSELF.

There is no excuse for using abrupt and inelegant language in accusing a man of deliberate mendacity. Let him get out his facts and let us see what they will prove. —Greenville Reflector.

He would make no statement until he had time to examine the document.

Too Nervous To Drive a Car?

That's too bad, old man, but you know nervousness is largely due to wrong habits of eating and drinking. If you would quit coffee and use Postum your nerves would steady up.

Postum tastes much like fine, mild Java but there's no drug in it—that's where it's got coffee beat a mile.

Sound advice.

More and more, people are waking up to the harmful effects of caffeine—the drug in coffee—a frequent cause of nervousness, heart flutter, dizziness, headache, and other ailments.

Instant Postum

is the soluble form of the original Postum Cereal. A level teaspoonful of the crystalline powder in a cup of hot water makes a delicious food-drink instantly. 30c and 50c tins.

The convenience of Instant Postum is seen at a glance, but some prefer the original Postum Cereal which must be thoroughly boiled—15c and 25c packages. Grocers sell both kinds and the cost per cup is about the same.

A change from coffee to Postum has been a good thing for thousands.

The above named parties, and all other persons interested, will take notice that on the 14th day of June, 1915, the above-named petitioners filed a petition in the office of the Clerk of the Superior Court of Beaufort County to have the title to certain lands therein described registered and confirmed pursuant to chapter 90 of the Public Laws of 1913, and that summons has been issued returnable at the office of the Clerk of the Superior Court of Beaufort County on the 31st day of August, 1915.

Said land is situated in the County of Beaufort, on the South side of Pamlico River and is described as follows:

Beginning at an iron post, which iron post is located South 43 degrees East 77 poles from the bridge at Flat Swamp across Bath-Nov Born road, running thence from said iron post North 14 3/4 East 95 poles, thence South 64 1/4 East 60 poles, thence North 26 3/4 East 113 2/3 poles, thence South 13 East 190 poles, thence North 88 3/4 East 400 poles, thence South 3 West 440 poles, thence North 87 West 48 poles, thence North 3 East 88 poles, thence South 77 West 6 1/2 poles, thence North 11 1/4 West 7 1/2 poles, thence South 77 West 45 links, thence North 11 3/4 West 254 poles, thence South 77 3/4 West 127 poles, thence South 11 3/4 East 41 poles, thence South 12 East 10 poles, thence South 73 West 28 poles, thence South 13 East 23 poles, thence South 78 West 47 poles to the Beaufort-Craven county line, thence with said Beaufort-Craven county line North 43 West 324 poles to the point of beginning.

And said parties are further notified that upon their failure to appear and answer said petition the petitioners will apply to the Court to have said land registered and confirmed pursuant to the laws of 1913, chapter 90.

This the 14th day of June, 1915.

SED. A. PAUL, Clerk of the Superior Court.

Why Wisdom Teeth.

The so-called wisdom teeth are the two last molars to grow, and they have no real connection with the possession of wisdom. They take their name from the time of their arrival, from twenty to twenty-five years, at which age the average person is supposed to have reached years of discretion. Cutting one's wisdom teeth means simply arriving at the point of completeness in physical equipment, and has no direct relation to mental equipment. The possession of these teeth is no guaranty of wisdom. They grow at about the same age in people whether they are wise or not.
