REPRESENTATIVE KITCHIN CALLS DANIELS' HAND

OPPOSED TO THE BUILDING OF WARSHIPS

HOUSE LEADER THINKS THAT SUBMARINES ALONE ARE NECESSARY

GIVES VIEWS

Mild sensation in Washington over the statement which Representative Kitchen gave out.

Washington, Aug. 27.—Representative Claude Kitchin, majority leader of the house of representatives and chairman of the ways and means committee...

Mr. Kitchin declared that he has always been a "small navy" man and that the lesson taught by the European war is sufficient to convince him and the other "small navy" men that their position is sound and he intends to stand by his convictions.

In view of the almost certain recommendation by President Wilson for large appropriations for the army and navy in his message to Congress, which assembles three months hence and also the statement which Secretary of the Navy Daniels made in Boston this week...

Mr. Kitchin declared that he was willing to help secure the appropriation of sufficient money to build submarines and torpedo boat destroyers but that now is not the time for this country to waste money building the larger type of battleships.

"If ever there was a time when the American government could afford to disregard the clamor of the Juggernaut for large appropriations for our army and navy it is now," said Mr. Kitchin. "I am a small navy man. I have held this position for years. The war now going on in Europe has convinced me that my position is sound and I shall refuse to vote any appropriations for the dreadnaught type of battleships during the Congress which assembles December next."

"I am willing to vote for any measure making appropriations for submarines, torpedo boat destroyers and the smaller type of war craft. It cost this government nearly $18,000,000 to build and equip one of the largest battleships. Having the cost of a submarine at about $400,000 we can build 40 submarines for what it cost to construct one large battleship. We have 50 submarines already under construction and if we provide for 30 or 40 more this year we will be protected against the world."

"There is not a nation in the world that could get within 250 miles of our shores if we have enough submarines and torpedo boat destroyers to patrol our coasts. This was demonstrated when one small German submarine worked its way to the Delaware, some 18,000 miles from home. When the submarine was discovered the allies shot, those that were left—five of them are at the bottom of the sea—left for parts unknown."

"You have seen the statement accredited to Secretary of the Navy Daniels that millions will be spent for the navy during the coming session of Congress? Mr. Kitchin was asked: 'Oh, yes, I have heard of that statement. But Congress is not going to be stampeded into appropriating large sums of money for large battleships simply because one man or two one day or next are heading the horns of the juggernaut. Less than

SHUT OUT GAME

Score Was 11-0. Hoovers Unable to Connect With Barnes' Passing. Barnes Didn't Reach Third Until the Ninth Inning.

THE FRAME OF FAME.

Guy Barnes. Barnes pitched a beautiful game yesterday, allowing only four hits—and two of them scratch hits at that. In addition to his pitching, he drove out two safe wallops out of four times at bat. The above reasons are sufficient for sticking his name into the Rectangle of Renown.

SHUT OUT GAME

Three home runs broke up the game—and also the grandstand—yesterday afternoon. Minton, Hornig and Barrett each clouted out a circuit wallop. Hornig's ball was the hardest hit that was ever seen on the local field. It went out over center fielder's head and didn't come down until it landed in the middle of the road outside the park. Minton and Barrett made their homers on hard hit line drives.

The Wallpapers shut out the Hoovers yesterday, 11-0. Only two of the visitors got as far as second base until the last inning, when Moore managed to reach third. He was kept from scoring, however, when Bland fanned with two down. Fred made the only two clean hits that were secured off Barnes. He also played a fine class game in left field.

The locals made their first score in the second inning. Barnes singled and Barrett sent the ball on a vacation till he had toured the stacks. In the third inning, Rivers hit Phelps and Carrow in succession and both of these advanced and scored on a sacrifice by Hackney and an infield grounder by Minton.

In the fourth inning, Barrett walked, Keith took one in the ribs and both of them scored on Carrow's hit. Hornig drove out his honor in the fifth. Minton, four-bagger came in the sixth with Phelps and Hackney on base. The final tally was made in the eighth after Hackney had doubled and scored on Hornig's grounder to Thompson.

COST OF RIGHT LIVING IS LOW

Luxuries and False Appetites Make High Cost of Living.

Raleigh, N. C., Aug. 27.—The monthly health letter of the Life Extension Institute gives much good advice on what we should eat and what we should spend in order to be well nourished but not pampered. It maintains that the cost of his real necessities of life has not increased to a point that should cause hardship, privation or under-nutrition even among small wage-earners. For instance, air, the first requirement of life, costs nothing.

"Food, the next requirement of life, costs little. If what the body really needs is considered, 10.6 cents a day will provide plain, simple, palatable food (hot pork and beans, or its equivalent, bread and butter, milk and coffee, and the fuel to cook it), sufficient to nourish a person of average weight and activity. When the cost of food prepared in the home rises above 50 cents per day per individual, there is certainly either waste or luxury."

"The greatest satisfaction in eating is provided by sound health and a natural appetite, not by the titillation of the palate of the gastronomic, who passes from one indulgence to another until appetite, digestion and health are mere memories."

"Within reasonable limits, food should be prepared and served in an appetizing way. But it is more important to create appetite by bodily conditions than by food conditions."
