JAMES L. MAYO CARL GOERCH

WASHINGTON, NORTH CAROLINA, OCT. 6, 1915.

The First National Bank of Sumter, S. C., is setting the pace all right. It announces that it will loan money on cotton warehous receipts at 5 percent interest. And the South Carolina rate is 8 percent. Will some 6 per cent North Carolina bank speak up ?-News and Observer.

Gladly! For the edification of the News and Observer scribe w are only too willing to inform him that the First National Bank is loaning money on receipts at 6 percent, and not only that, but at no time has it ever exceeded this rate of interest.

The Washington News arises with gravity and informs a breath lessly waiting world: "The city market has been greatly improved on the inside." Bully. And we hope you are the same.—New Bully. And we hope you are the same.-New and Observer. You bet we are, and we'll be even more so, when we go to New Bern Thursday night and enjoy some of Crumpler's "luscious bivalves."

WHAT THE WOMEN CAN DO.

Monday's action on the part of the Civic Club of this city is securing a $500 appropriation for a canning club in this county, a fair example of what the ladies can do if they set their minds or a thing. Everyone on the committee which appeared before the county boards was enthusiastic over canning club work and deter mined to see the movement started in Beaufort. Accordingly they went ahead, arranged all the details, and now they have the mone and the club is assured.

Some of the Washington men may be asleep, but the ladies mos positively are not. This last is not the only work they have done for Washington and Beaufort county. They have brought numerous other plans to a head and have advocated and carried out man

Washington should be proud of the progressive spirit of its lady citizens. If the men had taken hold of the canning club project, it would probably have been many months before they would have formulated any definite plans. But the ladies have shown them selves of a different calibre. They don't hem and haw and appoint a dozen different committees. They go ahead and get what they go after, and they get it quick.

We earnestly hope that the Civic Club will turn to other matters in the city and county. There are numerous tasks which they could accomplish and which would be of great benefit. The club is an important asset to the city. It is composed of "live wires"-if the term may be excused-who are setting an example which the meu might do well to follow.

CHURCH ADVERTISING.

Several comments have recently appeared in various papers relative to church advertising. It has been pointed out that announcement of church sermons in Saturday papers, and a resume of the same sermons in Monday's issues, has a decided affect in increasing interest in church work.

In Monday's issue the Greenville Reflector carried an excellent editorial on this matter, which expresses our views in the matter exactly. We take pleasure in reproducing it in full for the benefit of our readers:

What was doubtless the first instance of its kind to be carried out in the South on such a large scale, was accomplished Saturday when a Norfolk paper carried a full page advertisement of the services to be held in the different Norfolk churches Sunday. For a number of years it has been common in the North to advertise the churches in the papers, but the movement has never before been extended into

We see no reason why the churches in every town in the country should not advertise. They have something good to offer, then why not let the people know it through the best form of publicity—the newspapers? The plan to advertise the churches was successfully carried out in the city of Baltimore and with the result that just as soon as the advertisements started appearing, the churches experienced the greatest congregations in their history.

It has been tried with equal success in the city of New York, and practically every large city in the United States.

The advertising of the churches in the newspapers make the peo little Observer. ple whom the church pastors want to get hold of, pay attention with the result that they usually go to church on Sunday. If through this manner the church can get hold of more people, can bring mor back from a wayward path, why not do the advertising?

It is largely through newspaper publicity that fame has so swamped Billy Sunday. It is the newspaper that has helped Billy Sunday swell his list of converts. The papers have reported his sermons with flaming headlines and naturally a large number of people that would not have heard of him otherwise desired to hear the man in person.

A section set aside for the church advertising each Saturday in the papers and then have the reports of the various sermons printed in this section Monday will have a great influence on the great mass of humanity that reads the papers.

MODERN PARABLES

Now there was a certain young man who was desirous of adding his balance in the bank. He was not satisfied with working for his money, and was anxious to increase it rapidly. So one evening he hied himself forth to where there was a poke game going on, and he joined the party in their game. For some time he played with indifferent success, but at last it looked as if Dame Fortune had thrown her smile his way. He held a royal flush.

And there was mother man in the game who raised our friend every time that the latter raised him, and they did verily have a time of it. At last, after their watches and collar buttons had been placed in the "pot," our friend "called."

And did he rake in the pot with one fell swoop and take all the money for his own! Did he verily make the bank cashier's eyes the following morning when he showed him his deposit?

Not at all, Henrietta, for you see his royal flush wasn't any good. The other fellow took the money. By way of explanation, we might say that they were playing with a pinochle deck, and the other chap

JUST GIRLS SOUTHERN GIRLS

There are girls in the South-great numbers of girls who are doing things to make their lives inspirations to all who would be workers in this world. And there are instances in North Carolina f girls of that kind.

This is the way of self-help in securing an education. In this paper there was told Monday of a number of girls who are attending colleges in this State, meeting their expenses from the profits made in the summer work of canning fruits and vegetables in which they

There are young women who have thus helped themselves now in attendance at Meredith College, at Peace Institute, at Littleton College, at Murfreesboro, at the State Normal and Industrial College, nd other institutions. They wanted an education, and they are proceeding to help themselves to it. What a fine example they are etting. North Carolina can indeed be proud of claiming as its laughters such young women.

Woman is showing herself in the passing of the years to be more nd more the master of her fate. She is not sitting idly to one side waiting for things to happen, she is making them happen. And the ex is being lifted up by the example set by the young women of the North Carolina canning clubs. It is an erample that is an inspiraion to all who hope-and labor-for better things in this, life, News and Observer.

HOW TIME HEALS.

It is 42 years since the old amphitheater was built in the national emetery at Arlington. In a few days the corner stone of a new amphitheater will be laid in the southern lelds of the same beautiful ity of the dead.

The first memorial service of 1873 was conducted by the Department of the Potomac, G. A. R., and President Grant and his cabinet were present. The orator was the Rev. De Witt Talmage, and in closing, he said:

"Year after year may it stand to show that they who suffered and died for their country shall be held in everlasting remembrance while the name of our enemeis

The G. A. R. was assembled in Washington last week, and with President Wilson as the orator, the new corner stone was to be laid, but the storm caused a postponement until this week. Then a new sentiment will be uttered, and the old one be forgotten, for time has softened memories, healed old wounds, and cemented sectional friendships.—Ledger-Dispatch.

LIVESTOCK AND BANK DEPOSITS.

In the "North Carolina Club Studies," published in the University News Letter, there is mention of a trip through Watauga county, in which there is not a stalk of cotton or tobacco grown. It is "a region of cattle, cabbages and kings, a land of peace and plenty. overflowing with milk and honey in lucious abundance," the News Letter states.

In a travel of 33 miles, the News Letter economist writes, that in the three little banks at Blowing Rock, Boone and Valle Crusis he found $255,000 in surpluses, undivided profits, time deposits and open accounts. The banks as well as the money belong to the farm-The average bank resources for men, women and children in Watauga is $20, whereas the News Letter emphasizes the fact that it contrasts strangely with banking resources of $14.50 in one of the State's cotton and tobacco producing counties. Another remarkable fact is that in Watauga, the banks and money are owned by farmers, while in the cotton and tobacco county the merchants and mill men own the banks and most of everything else.

What farmer can any longer imagine that he has to grow cotton and tobacco because they are so-called cash crops? Watauga is proving that cash does not depend on such crops at all-a mere idea that needs to be exploded for the good of the entire South.-Char-
