GET-TOGETHER MEETING PLANS ARE DISCUSSED

ENTHUSIASTIC MEETING OF CHAMBER OF COMMERCE HELD LAST NIGHT

MANY PRESENT

Planned to Hold Meeting at Which Both City and Country Will Be Represented. Road Work Discussed. Other Matters Taken Up.

One of the best-attended and most enthusiastic meetings that has ever been held by the local Chamber of Commerce took place last night. Over thirty members, including practically all of the representative business men, were present and joined in the discussion of the various projects.

The most important matter brought up at the meeting was the discussion of plans for a meeting, at which both the residents of the country and city will be invited. Either a barbecue, oyster roast, or supper will be given in connection with this meeting and several prominent men from other cities will be invited to be present and tell of the work that is being done in their towns. No definite action was taken in the matter last night, but a committee of three, consisting of B. F. Bowers, William Ellison and F. J. Berry, was appointed to attend to arranging the details for the meeting and to report back to the chamber at a special meeting, that is to be called at their request.

The committee in charge of the good-road work in the county reported that it would be practically impossible to shall the road to Red Hill, on account of the great expense of the work and the lack of funds with which to do it. Mr. Dumay stated that he was inquiring about the price of a stone crusher and that he believed if it could be obtained at a reasonable figure, it would be a good investment to purchase it and use it in connection with road building in Beaufort.

J. P. Latham was appointed as a committee of one to attend to the exhibits from this county at the State fair, his expenses to be paid by the Chamber.

A number of other matters were brought up and discussed, but no action was taken. The meeting was one of the most interesting that the chamber has ever held.

BIG INCREASE IN SALES OF LOCAL STORES

"DRESS UP WEEK" OFFERINGS CAUSE LARGE NUMBER OF SHOPPERS TO TURN OUT.

THREE MORE DAYS

Campaign for Better Dressing is Becoming More Lively Every Day in Washington. Heavy Trading Expected During Latter Part of Week.

Do you remember the last time you had your picture taken?

Many years have rolled by since that event in the lives of some of us. And with others it was only yesterday. But no matter whether it was today or yesterday, several years or many years ago, a certain preparation for the " ordeal " is still fresh in our memory.

You recollect, do you not, that there was a "certain preparation." You didn't just sit yourself down into a chair any old fashion, and let the photographer "snap" your likeness in any old indifferent way, did you?

Don't you remember that he was careful how you held your head, so careful that when he found the right position he put a prop behind your cranium so that you wouldn't lose the position that he had been so painstaking in choosing. And then with a dextrous hand and eye he raised and lowered curtains, arranged and re-arranged screens, to get the proper lights and shadows. And finally he gave a fast smoothing out and "pull" to your coat, and with his hand artfully concealed in a black cloth, "squinted" through the clumsy camera to see that everything was correct. He wanted your face "just so" and your upper, outside garments in keeping with your countenance.

And you remember—of course you do—that you put forth a little extra effort before your appearance at the studio to get out the "handsomest" that was in you. Come on now, you know you did, and you put on a little extra touch here and there the moment before you were seated. Certainly!

Now, why did you and the photographer go to all that trouble to get that picture? Because you knew that the likeness of yourself was a "fixture," a permanent thing for friends and strangers to gaze upon in years to come, and you WANTED TO LOOK YOUR BEST.

You didn't care for any one to see you in any old slovenly, slipshod way and form an opinion of your personal appearance accordingly, did you?

Then why should you ever be so thoughtless, so indifferent in your attire, so careless in the selection and manner of wearing your garments, as to give people the impression that you are untidy in your ways. Why not dress up at all times? Why deceive them with an unusual, an infrequent front displayed in your carefully arranged picture, when it is not the "you" of your everyday existence. Why not live up to your photographic likeness. Be natural, be true to yourself and your friends, be neat, be "dressy." Get the "dress up" spirit of the Washington merchants to aid you. Launch yourself into their campaign. DRESS UP WEEK began Monday and will continue until Saturday. Think more about your appearance and solicit the help of the merchants of Washington. It will pay you in the end.

DON'T APPROVE ACTION OF THE SUPREME COURT

MAKES ROAD COMMISSIONERS PERSONALLY LIABLE FOR ACCIDENTS ON ROADS.

MAKE COMPLAINT

Several Commissioners of Roads in Beaufort County Express Themselves as Being Opposed to the Action Taken by Supreme Court.

Several of the road commissioners of Beaufort county have expressed themselves rather strongly over a recent decision that was handed down by the Supreme Court at Raleigh last week. They declare it is highly unreasonable to make them personally responsible for accidents that occur, due to bad roads in the county, and are of the opinion that the decision is not a just one.

The opinion in the matter was delivered last week by the Supreme court in the case of Lester B. Hipp and L. H. Hipp against the highway commissioners and superintendent of the roads in Lee county. The suit was for damages against these officials personally for failure to keep in proper repair the wooden approaches to Lockville bridge spanning Deep River on the Raleigh-Fayetteville road.

Judge Bond, in the hearing below refused the demurrer of the defendants, who alleged the lack of community interest among the defendants in the cause of action and insufficiency of facts. The defendants appealed and the Supreme Court sustained Judge Bond's action. Judge Hoke, writing the opinion for the court, insists that it is the duty of the defendants to repair such public highways and that the defendants are properly required to answer for dereliction of duty if it be shown and injury results.

DO NOT AGREE ON NATIONAL DEFENSE PLAN

SECRETARIES GARRISON AND DANIELS AT ODDS WITH PRESIDENT.

WANT INCREASE

Large Increase Desired for Both Army and Navy Appropriations. President is Advocate of Smaller Extensiveness.

(By Parker R. Anderson) Washington, Oct. 13.—There is a wide difference of opinion between Secretary of War Garrison and President Wilson as to the amount of money that should be expended for national defense by the coming Congress. The breach will be equally as wide between the administration and Secretary of the Navy Daniels unless the latter follows his own course, and submits to the ideas of his chief, the President.

It can be stated without fear of contradiction by any reliable person that the following recommendations will be made by Secretary of War Garrison:

Increase the infantry by 10 regiments. A substantial increase in the cavalry and coast artillery and that the field artillery be increased to five additional regiments, making the total strength of the standing army 154,000 men, instead of 88,000 as at present. There is a provision in the present law, however, which allows the present strength of the army to be increased to 100,000, "if the necessity arises."

Here is what the administration—that is President Wilson, and leaders of Congress,—will ask for:

No increase in the infantry, or cavalry. Increase in the field artillery in Congress will be asked to appropriate sufficient money to pay the national guard, that is, private, $48 a year. This would mean the first year $8,000,000 more than the present appropriation for the states militia and would be increased each year.

Experts on military affairs in Congress believe that under this incentive that national guard would soon be increased to 200,000 men or even to the high water mark of 300,000.

It has been understood in Washington for some time that President Wilson favored the encouragement of the citizen soldier. He has never favored, it is said, a tremendous standing army or the commitment of this country to a policy of militarism.

BULGARIANS BEGIN DRIVE ON SERBIANS

LONG AWAITED ATTACK IN THE SOUTH COMMENCED MONDAY. MANY TROOPS IN MOVEMENT.

DRIVE REPULSED

Serbs Claim Invasion is Unsuccessful. Rumania to Enter War. Greece Still Neutral. Russians Win Victory and Are Pursuing Their Advance.

London, Oct. 13.—Bulgaria's long awaited thrust at Serbia has been begun. News despatches telling of the start of the Bulgarian drive were confirmed this morning by an official announcement telegraphed from Nish to London.

Attacks Repulsed. All the attacks by the Bulgarians have been repulsed, the Serbians declare.

The Bulgarian movement is designed to take the Serbians on the flank while the powerful Teutonic armies of invasion are battering on the Serbian defenses from the north. The attack by King Ferdinand's troops has been launched to the northwest of Nish.

Began Monday Night. The Bulgarian invasion began Monday night, the drive seemingly being aimed at the railroad that runs from Belgrade to Constantinople through Nish. It is along this line that the main attack by the Teutons is being conducted in their attempt to break through Serbia and form a connecting link with the Turkish allies of the central powers.

Rumania to Join Allies. Rumania's participation in the war on the side of the Entente allies is assured, Premier Bratianu of Rumania, has given the Italian government to understand, according to Rome advices through Paris, Rumania, however, will continue her own time for taking the field.

Greece is Neutral. Greece still has not taken a definite stand in the conflict as indicated by the announcement made by Premier Zaimis to the Greek parliament yesterday. Her neutrality "for the present will be armed" were the words according to Athens despatches.

Russians Winning. An important victory for the Russian arms is reported by Petrograd, which states that the Austro-German lines on the Stripa in Galicia, have been pierced and that the Russians are vigorously pursuing their advance.
