JAMES L. MAYO Proprietor. GARL GOERCH Editor.

WASHINGTON, NORTH CAROLINA, OCT. 23, 1915.

Four more days until Wednesday; the day to which all Washington is looking forward.

By the way, we don't want to forget that the Elks of North Carolina are going to visit us in a few short months.

Now that the fair is over at Raleigh, we suppose that Col. Britton is perfectly willing to let it rain again for a day or two.

WEDNESDAY NIGHT'S MEETING.

From information gleaned from members of the committee, which has in charge the arrangements for Wednesday night's meeting and "smoker" of the Chamber of Commerce, indications are that the subject of good roads in Beaufort county will form one of the principal topics of discussion.

It is sincerely hoped by the progressive residents of the community that some definite steps will be taken in the near future for improving the roads of the county.

The sentiment for good roads is spreading to the most remote part of the county. At one time, the majority of the farmers appeared to be against the movement, but they are daily beginning to realize the important part that good roads play in their welfare and how badly improvements are needed.

Generally, when the subject of good roads is broached, one of the great objections to the project is: "I don't care anything about the roads. I don't own an automobile and I never travel them. What good will they do me?"

Directly or indirectly, such improvements are of benefit to every resident of the community. They permit the farmer to make more frequent trips to town to make his purchases; they establish closer relationship with other towns; they bring about better business for the local stores; they enhance the value of property and they work for the better development of both city and country to a greater extent than any other single project there is.

Beaufort county has long had cause to feel ashamed of its roads. Something must be done. At Wednesday night's meeting, some of the prominent business men and farmers, who will be present at that time, will undoubtedly be able to advance some suggestions relative to the best way to secure better roads for this community.

EXHIBITS AT THE FAIR.

Local residents, who visited the fair at Raleigh this week, returned home with high praise for the way the Beaufort county exhibit was displayed. All of them declared that the exhibit attracted great attention and was the means of advertising the resources of this section in a most advantageous manner.

To a large extent the success of the exhibit lies in the fact that the farmers began making preparations early, and were thus enabled to send off their best produce. The Daily News suggested the exhibit over two months ago and urged the farmers to show some of their produce at Raleigh. The Chamber of Commerce then appointed a committee, consisting of J. F. Latham chairman, W. M. Kear and J. E. Corey, who attended to securing the exhibits. Mr. Latham personally attended to the display at the fair.

It is advertising of this nature that produce the best results and the people of Beaufort county may well feel proud of the fine exhibits they sent off and which were admired by thousands of persons.

We urge Crumpler to forget about his "bivalves" by Thanksgiving and endeavor to secure up a turkey or two by that date. We will anxiously await the announcement of his success.

Judging from the last two or three issues of the Greenville Reformer, one is almost lead to believe that that paper is advocating the organization of a Chamber of Commerce.

A DIFFERENT KIND OF A PRESIDENT.

In almost every way, Wilson has proven himself to be of a different type of president than any who have previously filled the chair. He is a decidedly new kind of a character and many persons undoubtedly have difficulty in deciding how he stands in their minds. Washington and Lincoln were of the type that inspire love. Jackson and Garfield appealed to the people as military heroes. Jefferson as the greatest of statesmen, Roosevelt as a hero to the common people, others made no special appeal, Wilson—and there lies a problem.

He is not the kind of a man to inspire love, no matter how much he does for our people. He is not of the "hero" type, and one may be decidedly sure that when his work is over as president of the United States, he will not spend his time travelling and making speeches. He appears to the majority of people as a dignified somewhat cold and reserved type of man, a man who goes about his work in a quiet but determined manner, in whom they may put implicit trust and faith and who may always be expected to do the right thing. One would feel out of place to say they loved him. He somehow seems too aloof for that. The only sentiment left in respect, and that is probably the feeling with which the president is held by most of the people in the United States.

But that respect is sincere and deep—a feeling which any man might well be proud to stir.

Gifted young surgeon who left yesterday for Boston, Mass., to attend the clinical congress of surgeons of North America, which convenes in that city Monday. Dr. Taylor, according to the program of the congress, will make an address before the convention on an important matter pertaining to surgery. He is recognized as one of the best surgeons in the State.

WINCHESTER .401 Caliber Self-Loading Rifle. As the recoil is utilized to reload this rifle, it is only necessary to pull the trigger for each shot. This makes it possible to shoot this rifle with great rapidity. The five shots which the magazine holds can be poured into an animal so fast that the cumulative shocking effect is so tremendous that it will stop almost any species of big game. Magazines can be exchanged in an instant, which makes it easy to shoot a series of shots from this rifle very rapidly. The working parts and the receiver, guard and barrel are made of Nickel steel which gives them strength to withstand the strain of such a heavy cartridge. Ask your gun dealer to show you a Winchester Model 1910. It Hits Like The Hammer Of Thor.

Vinegar in Ink. Very often ink gets stringy or clogged, this is caused by the action of the air. A few drops of vinegar put into the ink will make it usable again, by the better plan is to keep the ink bottle covered.

The two children of J. W. W. North, merchant, Cleveland, Ga., had a very bad winter. One was a boy of 8, the other a girl of 3 years. Mr. North writes: "Both got so choked up they could hardly breathe and couldn't talk. I gave them Fisher's Peppermint Cure and they were cured." This reliable medicine should be in every home for it gives immediate relief from colds, coughs and croup, hoarseness, inflamed throats and swollen pharynx. Davenport Pharmacy.

Also the rights and franchises from the town and city of Washington to operate a gas plant. And all lands, premises, plants, contracts, leases, rights, licenses, easements, franchises and privileges of the property of every kind and description whatsoever, real, personal and mixed, of the said Company, and whatsoever situated, together with all and singular the easements, betterments, improvements and appurtenances belonging to the said premises, or in any wise thereto appertaining together with the several claims, remainders, income, rents, issues, and profits thereof and all the state, right, title, interest, property, possession, claim and demand of the Company of, in and to the same and every part thereof, with the appurtenances, whether at law or in equity.

Terms cash, but attention is called to the last sentence of said article relative to the application of bonds in payment of any bid. THE SCRANTON TRUST COMPANY, TRUSTEE. October 12, 1915.

NEAR DEATH BY SMOTHERING

But Husband, With Aid of Cardui, Effects Her Deliverance.

Draper, N. C.—Mrs. Helen Dalton, of this place, says: "I suffered for years, with pain in my left side, and would often almost smother to death. Medicines pitched me up for awhile but then I would get worse again. Finally, my husband decided he wanted me to try Cardui, the woman's tonic, so he bought me a bottle and I began using it. It did me more good than all the medicines I had taken. I have induced many of my friends to try Cardui, and they all say they have been benefited by its use. There never has been, and never will be, a medicine to compare with Cardui. I believe it is a good medicine for all womanly troubles."

For over 50 years, Cardui has been relieving woman's sufferings and building weak women up to health and strength. If you are a woman, give it a fair trial. It should surely help you, if it has 3 million others. Get a bottle of Cardui to-day.
