VAMES L. MAYO, Proprietor. GEARL GOERCH, Editor.

WASHINGTON, NORTH CAROLINA, NOV. 6, 1915.

"Villa declares Naco the Capital of Mexico," says a headline. Villa is doing a lot of declaring that doesn't amount to much of anything.

A correspondent states that the English press censor has a particular aversion for poetry. The said E. p. c. hasn't got a thing on us.

The News and Observer yesterday carried an editorial relative to its views on prohibition and a reply to a previous editorial printed in the Daily News. We see that Britton has his own views in the matter and as we also have ours, there is no use in discussing the issue further.

With his agitation for a county hospital, a public library and a Chamber of Commerce and with his troubles with the Greenville police force, we surmise that Biggs is a rather busy man these days.

THE NEED OF A LIBRARY.

The city officials at Greenville have set aside a lot on one of the principal streets of that city as a site for a public library. It is understood that arrangements are to be made towards obtaining assistance from the Carnegie Library Fund Association in giving Greenville a first-class library.

There are several available locations in Washington for a public library. The city owns some of this property and private individuals own other lots. If the local library association were to get in back of the movement, some results might be obtained towards securing a library for this city.

The county commissioners in Pasquotank county refused to donate $500 towards a fund for maintaining home demonstration work in that county.

To while away an evening hour, it might be a good idea to try and help solve the problem that confronts the large fish dealers of the east, regarding the number of fish that will be found in Lake Mattamuskeet after the lake has been drained.

REGARDING THE MANAGEMENT OF ROAD WORK.

In yesterday's issue of the Daily News there appeared an article from Edward L. Stewart, Secretary of The Washington Township Good Roads Association, in reply to the editorial appearing in Thursday's issue of the Washington Progress, relative to the position of a number of the tax payers and voters in Washington township on the question of a road issue for good roads in the township.

Editor Jacobson is right when he says that the people who vote the bonds, and pay the taxes, have the right to know in advance who is going to handle the money and look after the work, and unless the people have this information in advance of the election, there is many a man who is in favor of good roads, who will nevertheless cast his vote against this particular measure on the day of election.

The explanation rendered by Mr. Stewart, on behalf of the Washington Township Good Roads Association, shows conclusively, that, so far as the advocates of the project is concerned, its personnel is composed of men from every political faction, and from every vocation in life. It stands to reason then, that so far as the efforts of these men is concerned, factional politics, partisan methods and favoritism will be eliminated in the spending of the money and the doing of the work.

We have every reason to believe that the Board of County Commissioners have no desire in the world to do anything in connection with this matter, save adhere to the wishes of the tax payers and voters in the township, and for this reason, we believe they will act on the matter at their December meeting, and give to the people this essential information.

BRICKBATS AND BOUQUETS.

Awaken Him-Please. The Washington News, acts wisely in throwing a damper on any aspiring scribbles who are prone to dig back into the past history of the North and South and bring forth incidents which recall unpleasant memories.

Rock Der Horns! We thank Editor Goerch for the following bouquet, but we might explain that we "shied" at a fitney before the new traffic law went into effect this month.

Quite Right. The Washington News is laughing at Editor Horne of the Rocky Mount Telegram for allowing his bicycle to give him an awful fall.

Intimated, Did You Say? Now that crool Washington News has gone and intimated that we have to shy around the street corners to keep clear of the cops.

Wisdom. Wisdom is not the same with understanding, talents, capacity, ability, sagacity, sense or prudence; not the same with any one of these; neither will all these together make it up.
