JAMES L. MAYO Proprietor, CARL GOERCH Editor

WASHINGTON, NORTH CAROLINA, NOV. 17, 1915.

"Go to it, Greenville," urged the Greenville Redemptor. Yes, go to it, Greenville, and in time you may even hope to be in a class with Washington.

President Wilson gave another example of his leadership Monday when he ordered the reinstatement of General Burdett, the Illinois postmaster whom Assistant Postmaster General Rogers dismissed after he (Burdett) had criticized the President's coming marriage.

There'll be some pork barrel if the national defense plan is carried out—some pork barrel.

At any rate, the people of Greenville, and they may not agree with his views, have the one thing to be said for the representative is a man who is not influenced by party spirit in his acts according to his own best judgment.

In speaking of the flying up of a mail plane planned on board of steamers and other means, it is suggested that the Greenville Redemptor and his associates should be reached, is that the Falls Passage is not the same as the one here in this country. It is suggested that the Redemptor, which their flight will be in our mind can be used by it.

WOMEN'S CLOTHES—A GUIDE OF MORALS.

A prominent New York newspaper editor, in one of his columns, is criticizing the fashion of women's clothing. He stated in his discourse that one of the most serious dangers of a nation is the wearing of clothes that are worn.

That pastor was not far from the truth when he made that assertion, but if we believe in the statement, we should not let the morals of our country today are established.

Years ago it was considered perfectly proper for a girl or a woman to expose any part of her body to the eyes of the public, but now it appears perfectly indecent. A year or two ago we had the cleaving skirts which fell to the knees, the lines of the figure. Now we have the fashion of the cleaving brought on the transparent skirt, which is called the "black" in all the large cities. Then came the management that skirts would be fuller this year and less so next year. We have had of forced continual shocking, brought a pair of skirts. The full-skirts came at an all right, but what they made up in breadth the lost in length and in order to be in style, women must now wear the skirt of her thirty-year-old daughter. And she is still going higher.

We're adopting the mode of attire that France has by a woman for the last generation and there is no doubt but that our national is fast resembling that of France. The change is very gradual—hardly noticeable by the casual eye, but nevertheless. Every thought is for pleasure, for amusement and the worthy and serious things of life are steadily being pushed into the background.

A Swiss war expert has said that the Swiss men have been killed since the European war began. The reason was surely right when he defined war.—New York Times.

Not necessarily. It is not a war, but the war of this men went to heaven.

One of our local swains today advised that it was quite uncharacteristic to steal a kiss and then have the girl's hand squeeze during the operation. We agree with him.

SENSATIONALISM

There is frequently heard from all parts of the country an outcry against "sensationalism." One of the best plays of the day that they abuse what they call the "yellow" is a newspaper, they term a strenuous pastor as being sensational and sensationalism is a performance, lecture or article, that is so sensational that the same thing worn, monotonous and uninteresting.

In spite of what is said, the sensationalism is not disappearing, that the American people are not interested in the sensational play that has the most dramatic and sensational scenes. They read the yellow journals and are interested in the sensational scenes, but parts from the usual course of life are being pushed into the way of a sensation.

You can't blame them.

Nearly every man's job is an office job. He sits up at a desk for an hour, he goes to work at the same desk, he sits at the desk practically the same way day in and day out, and he is not allowed to patronize something that is not of the office, and he will give him a respite from the monotony, he will be allowed to read.

He doesn't go to hear a lecture, he goes to hear a play with an unexciting but highly educational plot, he goes to hear a play of the same old-style sermon in the pulpit. If he does, it is against his inclination and his desire. He wants something that will appeal to his imagination, that will excite him and that will make him forget his routine of living.

If the churches would only realize that they would want to attract for more men of the Billy Sunday type, they would endeavor to introduce some originality into their services and some new thoughts into their sermons. Religion can be made as interesting and as entertaining as a good play and if it is only done so, the pastors would find larger and more interested congregations filling their churches.

Goldsboro High Are Champions??

Goldsboro, Nov. 16.—According to the rules and regulations, the Goldsboro High School football team are the champions of eastern North Carolina for the season of 1915. By defeating Kinston at Kinston Friday 7 to 0, the Goldsboro team captured its fourth victory of the season, with not a single defeat.

There was considerable surprise manifested in this city when it was learned Raleigh had defeated the Wilmington team, as it was generally conceded by those who had seen the two teams play that Wilmington was the stronger of the two.

Another surprise was also sprung here when it was learned that the Raleigh High School not only claimed the championship of eastern North Carolina, but published the pictures of the team as the champions of eastern North Carolina. Goldsboro won from Raleigh 7 to 6 at the beginning of the season and has the best average of any high school in the State except Charlotte. The rules read that any high school team winning three high school games or the best three out of four is eligible to try for the championship. Goldsboro has fulfilled the requirements, but Raleigh has not. Raleigh has only won two high school games, as Warrenton School is a preparatory school, but there will be a meeting of representatives from the University who make a decision.

AIRSHIP IS SEEN AGAIN

Was Seen in the Vicinity of Pollocksville Monday Night.

(By Eastern Press) New Bern, Nov. 17.—Another airship has been seen in this section. The Sun on Saturday told of one of these craft being seen flying over the city on the previous night, and now comes the news from Pollocksville that such a craft was seen flying over that section about 4 o'clock Monday morning.

The night watchman at a mill at that place is said to have seen the strange craft, heard the purring of the engines, and saw the rays from the searchlight.

This is the second time that an airship has been reported from that section, on the former occasion two of them being reported.

Activities of Women.

Women are helping to build trenches in Turkey. Mrs. Frederick Gardner, prominent in St. Louis society, is now touring the California mountains hunting for bear and deer.

Female students at the Harvard summer school have organized a club in which each member pledges her self not to marry before she is twenty-five and then only to a man who is earning at least $2,000 a year.

Princess White Deer, a Mohawk Indian maiden from the St. Regis reservation, is now in England, where she will marry a Russian officer to whom she has been engaged for more than a year.

"Aunt Betsy" Clark is the oldest person in West Virginia, having passed her one hundred and twelfth birthday. Even at her advanced age she does most of her housework and does not wear glasses nor have any use for a cane.
