ALL IS QUIET IN GOLDSBORO

NOTHING IS KNOWN AS YET REGARDING IDENTITY OF MOB WHO LYNCHED NEGRO.

WORK WAS QUIET

Lynchings Proceeded With Their Work With the Best of Order and Calm. News Nothing of It Until Late Yesterday Morning.

(By Eastern Press)

Goldsboro, Jan. 13.—Following the lynching of John Richards here early yesterday morning, the city today has returned to its normal condition and there is little or no excitement on the streets.

Smith and Coley, the other two negroes confined in the jail on the charge of being implicated in the Garley murder, were taken to Raleigh yesterday. Although it is reported that a large mob gathered at the jail when the officers arrived to take the blanks away and that another lynching was threatened, no one gives any credence to this rumor. A crowd gathered at the jail when the two negroes were taken out but they did so out of idle curiosity and not with the intention of doing any bodily harm to either the officers or the prisoners.

No clue has been obtained as yet that might lead to the discovery of the lynchers. Police officials, when seen this morning, stated that they had nothing to give out. It is generally believed throughout the city that the perpetrators of the lynching will never be brought to justice.

Nothing was known of the lynching by residents of Goldsboro until after daylight yesterday morning, so quiet was the mob in its work. There appears to be very little sentiment against the men.

NO ILLITERATES AT NIGHT SCHOOL

Teachers Urge Those Who Do Not Know How to Read or Write to Attend the Classes.

Although the night school is progressing in a most satisfactory manner, it has been observed that but very few illiterates are taking advantage of this opportunity to secure an education. Most of those who attend are already fairly advanced and are taking the course for the purpose of adding to their education. The teachers desire to announce that they will be only too glad to assist those who do not know how to read or write and extend to them a cordial invitation to attend the classes Friday night.

It has also been noticed that several children are attending the night school. The law requires them to attend school during the regular day hours and the parents are requested to take notice of this fact.

HUNTERS HAD A NARROW ESCAPE

SPENT ENTIRE NIGHT ON PAMlico SOUND IN AN OPEN BOAT AND WITHOUT OARS.

WERE RESCUED

Picked Up by Lumber Schooner and Put Ashore. Were in Hyde County from Richmond on a Hunting Trip.

After being carried out into Pamlico Sound in a rowboat without any oars and forced to spend the entire night and part of the next day at the mercy of the wind and waves, Hardy L. McEnroy and James McClure, two residents of Richmond, Va., who have been spending the last few days in Hyde county on a fishing trip, were picked up by a lumber schooner yesterday afternoon and put ashore near Middleton, from which point they proceeded via automobile to Plymouth and returned to their homes.

The two men were out gunning Tuesday afternoon along the shore of the Sound. They came across a big flock of birds and both of them blazed away without taking the oars out of the locks. The oars quietly slipped off into the water and when the hunters first became aware of their predicament they were over a hundred yards from the shore with the oars floating on the water twenty-five yards from them. Neither McClure or McEnroy being able to swim, they were helpless in doing anything to save themselves. The wind gradually carried them further out into the Sound and as night fell, they were out of sight of land.

During the entire night, they were kept busy bailing out the water that the waves dashed into their craft, which threatened to fill up frequently. A heavy rain did not add anything to their comfort. When day light finally broke they were completely worn out and almost frozen. The day brought them relief, however, for they saw a three-masted schooner only a mile distant. Their signals for help were seen and they were taken on board. The captain consented to take them back to shore, about six miles distant. He also provided them with oars and when they were close enough to land McClure and McEnroy climbed back into their rowboat again and rowed to shore.

URGES FARMERS TO DIVERSIFY

COUNTY AGENT WARNS THEM AGAINST INCREASING ACREAGE OF TOBACCO AND COTTON.

GIVES ADVICE

Tells of Best Crops With Which to Plant During the Early Spring. Present Prices May Influence Farmers to One-Crop Idea Again.

In an interesting open letter to the farmers of Beaufort county, J. F. Latham, county farm demonstrator, urges them to continue the diversification of crops and not to go back to planting large acreages of tobacco and cotton. Mr. Latham's letter reads as follows:

To Beaufort County Farmers: Don't be foppers. The low price of cotton in the fall of 1914 caused you to plant a smaller acreage to cotton in 1915. You planted more corn, oats, peanuts, soy beans, sweet potatoes, etc. In fact you started to do diversified farming. Now continue to follow up that diversity of crop rotations that will in a very short time bring success.

DON'T BE A FLOPPER. That is to say don't let the present good price for cotton and tobacco cause you to flop back to an extensive acreage of cotton and tobacco this year. The result of a flopper is usually this way: When the price is low you flop out, the price goes up and you miss; when the price is high you flop in, the price flops down and you miss again and so on it goes. The sane thing to do is to diversify your crops so as to provide a sufficient amount of food and food-stuff for the farmer and all the live stock that now is or may be grown on the farm this year, having in mind a system of crop rotations that will at the same time build up and increase the fertility of your soil. Of course plant a few acres in cotton and a few acres in tobacco but DON'T increase your acreage over last year. If you do you will be sorry next fall that you flopped.

Plant corn, soy beans, peanuts, sweet potatoes, cow peas, sudan grass, etc. Grow some grazing crops for hogs (and grow all the hogs you can). An acre of good soil well prepared now and seeded to rape as early in February as the soil is dry enough to be workable will in 60 days from seeding be ready for hogs to graze and if a fair crop is grown will take care of 20 of those hogs (according to size of hogs) for the next 60 days. The same acre can then be put to some other crop, like soy beans, cow peas, sweet potatoes or even late corn. You can perhaps spring a good degree of success sowing spring oats with red or alkali clover that would furnish fine late spring and early summer grazing and then make a good hay crop, or you can put in red clover on fall sown oats about the last of February or first of March. Do some or all of these things. But don't be a flopper. If I can serve you call me.

Yours truly,
J. F. LATHAM,
County Agent.

GEORGIA LEADS IN LYNCHINGS

Eighteen Strung Up in That State During Last Year. None in North Carolina.

Lynchings in the United States in 1915 numbered 69, as recorded at Tuskegee Institute and announced at Montgomery, Ala., Jan. 1. This was 17 more than in 1914. Georgia led the States with 19 lynchings. Mississippi was second with nine. Fifty-five persons lynched were negroes and 14 whites. The year before 49 were negroes and three whites. Three women were 1915 mob victims.

IS 75 YEARS OLD AND HAS SPENT ON SHIPS DECKS

Captain Howard, Father of George Howard of This City, Has Had an Interesting and Exciting Life.

(Special Correspondence)

Ocracoke, Jan. 13.—Seventy-five years of age and sixty-three of those years spent on the sea, is the record of Captain George Gregory Howard, one of the most interesting characters of the island and who is known in practically all of the ports along the Atlantic coast.

Born on the island of Ocracoke, coast of North Carolina, he went to sea when he was 13 years old as a cook at $3 a month. His first command was the schooner Jennie Lind, 50 years ago. In all his record Captain Howard has been off shore but once, as second mate of a brig to the West Indies. Returning to North Carolina, he joined the fleet of S. R. Fowle & Sons, of Washington, N. C., and remained as master with them for 18 years, commanding the Nellie Potter, Cora and Carolina.

After having been rescued, taken to Savannah and landed in New York, he came to Baltimore and purchased the schooner Lizzie James. She loaded here and left for a Southern port and to the surprise of himself and the other masters he reached Hatteras Inlet in company with two schooners that had left Philadelphia with him when he abandoned the Neva May. The vessel lost rudder and was dismantled off Chincoteague and Captain Howard worked her with sail to her port of destination. The Lizzie James was lost off Hatteras in a storm. Captain Howard then bought the William T. Parker, on which the sailor of over half a century is still sailing and doing business. Captain Howard still keeps his home on Ocracoke Island, where, whenever home, the music of the sea invites him to sleep.

CHECK FLASHER GIVEN FREEDOM

Mother Saved Youthful Forger at New Bern from Having to Pay Penalty for His Crime.

New Bern, Jan. 13.—But for the fact that his mother had come to New Bern to intercede for him, Frank DeLaney, the young Schnectady, N. Y., man who was a few days ago arrested and jailed on a charge of forgery and passing worthless checks, would have gone to the roads for two years or more.

DeLaney, who has been confined in the Craven county jail since his arrest after passing a worthless check for twenty-five dollars on a local hotel, was placed on trial yesterday afternoon. He told Judge Whedbee that he was guilty of the charge against him and acted in a repentant manner.

LET US WANT ACTION TAKEN

HEATED DEBATE IN CONGRESS OVER LATEST OUTRAGE COMMITTED IN MEXICO.

NO TIME TO DELAY

Senators Stone, Gallinger and Others Declare That Time for "Watchful Waiting" Has Passed. American Lives Must Be Protected.

Washington, Jan. 13.—Stirred to indignation by the latest outrage to American citizens in Mexico, senators in a stormy debate yesterday afternoon vigorously demanded protection for American life and called for armed intervention.

Even Senator Stone, chairman of the foreign relations committee, while upholding the administration, admitted that if the Carranza government was inefficient this country stood face to face with armed intervention.

"I mean to say that the American government should do everything it could to protect its own people in Mexico. I understand to say the President of the United States will do everything he can and everything that could be done to insure punishment. If the Carranza government proves inefficient there is only one thing to be done. That is to go down to Mexico and intervene by arms. I am not going to discuss that. But that is what we are up to. For the present I want to leave this matter to the President of the United States, feeling he will do everything that any of us would do."

Demands upon Carranza that he take prompt and energetic steps to capture and punish the bandits was made this afternoon by Secretary of State Lansing, who in a statement characterized the massacre as a "dastardly crime."

At the same time he denied that the victims had been given assurance of protection by the state department and laid part of the blame of the murders at their door by saying they had failed to heed the warning to stay out of that part of Mexico where revolutionists are active.

Senator Gallinger stirred up the Mexican debate by reading a telegram from the state department showing that steps have been taken to secure the bodies of the dead miners.
