Rev. John T. Stone, of Chicago, pronounced the invocation. The following temporary officers were announced:

Senator Harding, chairman.
William F. Stone, sergeant at arms.

James E. Reynolds, secretary.

Delegates on the job are impatiently awaiting the first show of strength. Americanism and party unit formed the keynote of Senator Harding's formal opening speech. Reynolds read the official call. A spasm of applause broke out when the bands played Dixie and Kentucky Home.

INTERNMENT OF ALIENS IS URGED IN LONDON

FEELING AGAINST FOREIGNERS IS EXCEPTIONALLY BITTER IN BRITISH CAPITAL.

STIMULUS IN RECRUITING

Death of Kitchener Has Aroused London. Political Struggle Is Possible Regarding Successor as Minister of War.

(By United Press)

London, June 7.—A marked stimulus in recruiting and an urgent demand for the interment of all enemy aliens, regardless of sex, age or naturalization, are the results of the death of Lord Kitchener and his staff. The feeling in London is extremely bitter, especially so against all Germans and those of German descent.

A political struggle is possible concerning the appointment of Kitchener's successor as Minister of War. Some want a civilian for the position, while others favor the appointment of Sir William Robertson, chief of the staff. Lloyd George, Minister of Munitions, is also mentioned.

The demand for interment is the outgrowth of the belief that Germans in England knew of Kitchener's whereabouts.
