Editor Horne of the Rocky Mount Telegram was a local visitor yesterday. Editor Horne was so busy looking at the beautiful display of feminity on the streets that he ran into two garbage cans, a 'phone post and a far man on his way from our office to the station. He said it was worth it, though,

A LESSON IN SAVING

In another part of today's paper there is an interesting item regarding the manuer in which the employes of the Atlantic Coast Line are supporting two children in a hespital at Wilmington and have endowed a room in that hespital. They mise the necessary funds by saving the trackill out of their eigenemetoxes. The railroad funds by saving the tinful out of their eigenvite boxes. The rantonet markets this for them and a good-shot sum is realized weekly.

There is a big less in this little incident. It is the lesson of economy and saving. Millions of dellars are thrown away in the United States annually, while that sould be just as easily saved, the employes of the Const Line in this section of the State sam.

SEPARATE PEACE FOR AUSTRIA.

Developments along the eastern and southern buttle fronts in Europe in the last few weeks indicate that it will not be very long before Austria will be forced to see for separate peace.

Talf a million men have been lest on both the Italian and Russina frontiers. Much amount it in and numerous guns have been earstured. The Austrians have been complet by demoralized by the unexpected and fermions attacks against them.

Russia has been preparing for this very comparing for the last six mouths. During the winter new railroads have been built to facility tate the movement of troops, new equipment has been secured for the men, new supply stations have been organized, ammunition and guns have been secured and a network of roads have been built. Comcannot hope to combut against such selds. They are being presses on two sides and it is impossible to move men from one front to re-inforce the other. CELESTIAL SMILED AT LAST

But It Was Not Because His Hair Had Been Pulled and His Nose Tweaked.

Because he refused to smile and ook pleasant when commanded to Charley Chang, an Alhambra Chinese, had his hair pulled, his nose tweaked and both eyes discolored by A. B., Mills, who the police say had imbibed freely, says an Alhambra dispatch to the Los Angeles Times.

Mills and the Chinese were both passengers on a late car out of Los Angeles. Mills was in a happy frame of mind and favored each of the passengers with a benign grin.

Chang was probably thinking of a bad business week, for his countenance was long, solemn and mournful, and when Mills grinned at him the celestial only looked the more for Charley Chang, an Albambra Chinese Chang didn't see anything laughable about the hair pulling, so he continued to look sad. Then Nills grabbed the flat oriental mose between his fingers and tweaked it until Chang bellowed for mercy, but did not smile.

As the car reached Barfield and Main streets Mills decided on one last superhuman effort to get a smile from Chang, so he smashed him two hard blows in the face. Just then Marshall.

OBJECTS TO 'DEAR OLD LADY'

Words have a way of falling violentby in love with each other. One may watch sometimes the progress of the affair. A graceful adjective is introduced to a stardy noun by some careless writer. The two strangers find themselves mutually congwhal. They are thrown tegether constantly. Atter a while the wedding is quietly, celebrated and the couple pans from romance to hundrum respectability, becoming such a couple perhaps as "Bitter End," "Umparalleled Circumstances" or "Critical Situation."

Some of us will be—many of us are—old ladies. Must we fill be "dear old ladies." Must all the pleasing and interesting characteristics it has taken us a lifetime to cultivate be obliterated by this vague, sickly sentimental blanket word?

Nowadays most old ladies are so busy working for public causes that they have not time to protect their own interests as they should. But let us hope that after a while they will or ganize a new association, to be called

AMBER RICH IN LEGENDS

Except for Decorative Purposes, How-ever, it is No Use in World's Amber, used for pipe stems, is a sub-stance that has disappointed countiess ages. The ancients believed it pos-sessed a soul. There have been many legends connected with it, and it was supposed to have mysterious proper-ties, but nothing has come of it all, it merely has a sort of negative, elec-tricity which is developed when a tricity which is developed when a plece of the substance is rabbed, but that is all. It is the same property which the fur of a cat possesses when you rub if the wrong way on a cold day. A rupber comb passed over a huday. A rubber comb passed over a hu man's hair, especially on a cold, dry day, develops the same amount of electricity. Beyond being ornamental, a sort of semiprecious stone, as it were, it has been of no use to the world, says a writer in an exchange.

The old Greeks believed it came from the tears of the sisters of Phaeton, who went into the sea, and their

TURN HAIR DARK

The old-time mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur for darkening gray, streaked and faded hair is grandmother's treatment, and folks are again using it to keep their hair a good, even color, which is quite sensible, as we are living in an age when a youthful appearance is of the greatest advantage.

Nowadays, though, we don't have the troublesome task of gathering the sage sagd the mussy mixing at home. All drug stores sell the ready-to-use product called "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound" for about 50 cents a bottle. It is very popular because nobody can discover it has been applied. Simply moisten your comb or a soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair disappears, but what delights the ladies with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur is that, besides beautifully darkening the hair after a few, applications, it also produces that soft lustre and appearance of abundance which is so attractive; besides, prevents dandruff, itching scalp and falling hair.
