

WAR TO BE FIGHT TO FINISH

NO DESIRE FOR PEACE BY BRITISH

LLOYD GEORGE EXPLAINS THE ATTITUDE OF ENGLAND ON THE SUBJECT.
WILL FIGHT TO THE END
British Have Lost Too Many Lives to Withdraw Now, Without Being Assured That No Further Offense Can Be Made by Germany.

(Copyrighted in United States and Great Britain by United Press) London, Sept. 28.—There is no end to the war in sight. Any step at this time by the United States, the Vatican or any other neutral in the interest of peace, would be construed by England as unneutral and a pro-German move.

The United Press is able to make this statement on no less authority than the British man of the hour, the Right Honorable David Lloyd George, secretary of war.

"British has only begun to fight. The British Empire has invested thousands of her best lives to purchase future immunity for civilization. This investment is too great to be thrown away," was his statement.

He said that at the present time, more than at any other time since the beginning of the war, there was evidenced throughout England a popular suspicion toward America; a suspicion that did not exist a year ago. This feeling appears to be directly attributable to the notion generally entertained that President Wilson might be induced to butt in for the purpose of stopping the war.

A similar suspicion of Spain and the Vatican is also manifested.

When asked regarding the British attitude toward present peace talk, Lloyd George replied: "Sporting terms are pretty well understood wherever English is spoken. I am quite sure that they will be understood in America."

"The British soldier is a good sportsman. He enlisted in the war in a sporting spirit of the best sense of that term. He went in to see fair play to a small nation, that was being trampled upon by a bully. He is fighting for fair play in international dealings. He has fought like a good sportsman and he has died like a sportsman. He has never asked anything more than a sporting chance, and he hasn't had that all the time. When he couldn't get it, however, he didn't quit. He played the game and he didn't squeal, and he certainly hasn't asked anyone to squeal for him. For two years the British soldier has had a bad time. He was then sadly inferior in equipment and training. He saw the allied cause beaten all about the ring, but he didn't appeal to the spectators or referees to stop the fight on the ground that it was brutal. Nor did he ask to have the rules changed. He took his punishment and, when beaten like a dog, he came back and hung on without whining. He endured without whining."

"Germany has elected to make it a harsh fight with England. Now we intend to see that Germany has her way. The fight must be to a finish and to a knockout. There must be no outside interference at this stage. Britain asked for no interference when she was shipwrecked and will tolerate none now that she is prepared, until the Prussian militarism is broken beyond repair."

"How long do you figure that this must go on," he was asked.

"REPENTANCE" WAS SUBJECT AT REVIVAL

DEATH-BED REPENTANCE DISCUSSED BY EVANGELIST AT BAPTIST CHURCH LAST NIGHT.

MANY REPENT TOO LATE

Dr. Anderson Discussed Interesting Topic Before Large Congregation, Will Preach on "The Unpardonable Sin" at Tonight's Meeting.

"The man who repents too late," was the subject of Dr. W. M. Anderson's sermon at the Baptist church revival last night. The usual large congregation was present to hear him.

Dr. Anderson told the story of the rich man and Lazarus, pointing out that it was too late to repent after the soul had been condemned to hell. He also made a strong talk on "death-bed repentance," and expressed his doubt as to whether the prayers of the dying man, who have lived in sin through his entire life, would be answered by God. By way of illustration, Dr. Anderson stated that in the majority of cases where a man had repented when critically ill and had recovered afterward, he went back to his former way of living. This, he remarked, showed that death-bed repentance does not usually come from the heart, but is merely used as "an easy way to get into heaven." Dr. Anderson also told the story of a man, who was dying, and whose parents urged him to let them pray for him. But he refused, saying that he had lived a sinful life and that he would die like a man, and not try to atone for all of his sins with a confession of them at the point of death. This type of man, Dr. Anderson stated, was, in a way, more worthy of respect than the man who repents merely because he is going to die.

The evangelist also urged early repentance, saying that continued sin and "putting-it-off" hardened the heart toward God and made final repentance harder and harder to achieve.

Tonight Dr. Anderson will preach on "The unpardonable sin."

"LEARN AND GO HIGHER" IDEA IS TAKING HOLD

(By United Press)

Chicago, Sept. 28.—A big step in solving juvenile problems is being taken by Chicago firms employing boys and young men. "Learn and go higher" is the slogan adopted by Chicago employers, who, following the lead of Swift & Company, packers, are offering inducements and incentives to youthful ambition in the shape of helpful organizations, night schools and branch libraries.

Lewis Atherton, former superintendent of the La Crosse, Wis., state normal school, is in charge of the work at Swifts. "To train the boys to a higher standard is the object in offering these facilities of study," explained Atherton today. "We are offering many special inducements to the youth who takes advantage of the school, and we encourage him according to his aptitude."

HUGHES HIT AT ADAMSON BILL BRINGS CHEERS

Calls Law "Most Shocking in Memory" Before Large Crowd at Cleveland.

Cleveland, O., Sept. 28.—Seven thousand people in the Armory here last night cheered Charles E. Hughes' characterization of the Adamson bill as "the most shocking thing that has happened in my memory in political life."

Returning to the Mexican attack, Hughes challenged the Administration to deny it had sent the instructions to John Lind, uncovered the other day at South Bend, and quoted by Hughes again last night, declaring Huerta must get out of Mexico. He again laid the responsibility for anarchy and rapine in Mexico at the door of President Wilson.

Bestowing high praise on Myron T. Herrick, Ambassador to France when the Wilson Administration took office, and recalled in the midst of exacting duties in connection with the great war, Hughes said:

"It will ever remain a blot on the present Administration that it suffered him to be superseded at the critical time."

Finally, he seized upon the occasion of another tariff talk to serve notice upon Republican leaders generally that he is to be the boss, if elected, and that no special favors are to be expected.

"I had no special wish to be a candidate," he said, "no desire at all to be a candidate at this election because I know what the burdens of office are, and I was very well content with the distinguished office which I had the privilege of holding. But I did not take this nomination, and I have no desire to be elected, to pass out favors to any set of men in this country."

CITY IS AFTER BIG FACTORY

A project, which will mean much for Washington, is now in the stages of completion. It is expected that full information and details will be given out within a few days.

An attempt is being made to locate a large factory here. For various reasons, the name of the concern is being withheld at present. If the plant is located here, it will give employment to about four hundred persons. It is stated that Washington stands an excellent chance of getting this new industry.

BIG MEETING WAS HELD AT PINEY GROVE LAST NIGHT

Democratic Candidates and Others Made Excellent Speeches on County, State and National Issues.

Last night at Piney Grove school house there was held a Democratic meeting, at which a large and enthusiastic crowd was present. Part of the county officers were on hand and made their announcements. After this was done, Lindsay C. Warren, the nominee for State Senate from this district, took up county matters and explained them to the full satisfaction of the voters. He was followed by E. L. Stewart, who discussed politics from a democratic point of view, including county, state and national issues. Joseph F. Taylor told his audience of the achievements of Woodrow Wilson's administration and what this administration had done for the farmers—in the passage of banking and currency laws, rural credits, shipping bills, etc. He also referred to the great era of prosperity now being enjoyed by the farmers under Wilson's administration. After he had finished he called upon A. C. Widmer, who has been living in this county for a number of years, but a former resident of Pennsylvania, to give his views on Mr. Wilson's administration. Mr. Widmer said he always had been a national Republican, and gave as his reason that the Republican party had always legislated for his part of the country, but now that he lived in this section of the country he thought that the Democrats gave better laws and had done more for agriculture, therefore he would support Woodrow Wilson in the coming election. He paid a high tribute to Mr. Wilson by saying his administration had been the cleanest cut and the fairest that the country had ever enjoyed.

BILLY CLIFFORD WILL BE HERE TONIGHT

Billy (Single) Clifford's latest version of "Linger Longer Lucy" is justly termed a musical satire in two long laughs.

Its plot is a consistent one in which there are many ludicrous situations and laughable complications. Added to this Billy has intertwined eighteen new songs, that are fresh, bright and breezy, full of just the sort of melody that the public demands. This clever form of diversity will be the offering at the New Theatre tonight.

Clifford's lady brass band will parade and play a concert on the streets at 4 p. m.
