H. S. WARD TAKES UP BOND ISSUE

divert this money for the support of the insane asylum, institution for the deaf and dumb and blind, and convicts in the penitentiary, and the expenses of the state government; thus repudiating the payment of the interest and applying the money to the general purposes of the state.

Now, are these bonds legal liabilities, as you say? The answer depends upon three questions: First, Were they issued by a duly constituted legislative authority for that purpose? Second, Did the State receive any value for them? Third, If not, did the holders take them with notice that they were issued without authority of law and were fraudulent, if they were, and that the State derived no advantage from them? Let us answer these three questions by facts that are of record:

FIRST. (a) The Reconstruction Act of March 2, 1867, was quoted above for the purpose of showing that the government which it created was purely a police government and limited in its organic functions to the protection of life and property and the preservation of the public peace and the effort to set on foot the establishment of a sound economic government. If the State was out of the Union when it was passed as the Southern view of Secession contended, it was then a territory and the act would have been valid for the purposes which it set forth on its face, but for no other. If it was not out of the Union, because of the Webster view that a State had no power to secede, then the civil government under the administration of Gov. Worth could not be usurped by the act of Congress except to assist it in preserving life and property and preserving the public peace. The bond issues of this legislature were therefore issued by a strictly provisional police government to which was never delegated expressly nor by implication the power to administer the economic policy of the state.

Most Effective Remedy Mother Had Ever Used

Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin Believes Baby When Other Medicines Failed.

Earl Du Bois

There is nothing so necessary to a child's health and comfort as regularity of the bowels. All children are especially susceptible to stomach trouble and any overstrain of the sensitive organs has a tendency to obstruct elimination. This condition is responsible for much of the illness of childhood.

To relieve constipation a mild laxative should be employed. Cathartics and purgatives are violent in their actions and should be avoided. Mrs. Alfred Du Bois, Mt. Holly, N. J., says Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is without doubt the most effective remedy for constipation she has ever used and that it is the only remedy she could find for her baby. Little Earl was badly constipated during his first year and nothing she tried seemed to help him until she got a bottle of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. Now he is a fine, strong, healthy boy, and she thanks Dr. Caldwell for it.

Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is a combination of simple laxative herbs with pepsin, free from opiates or narcotic drugs; it acts gently without griping or other discomfort, and appeals to children because of its pleasant taste. Druggists everywhere sell it for fifty cents a bottle, and every mother should have it in the house for use whenever occasion arises.

To avoid imitations and ineffective substitutes always be sure to ask for Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. See that a facsimile of Dr. Caldwell's signature and his portrait appear on the yellow carton in which the bottle is packed. A trial bottle, free of charge, can be obtained by writing to Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 455 Washington St., Monticello, Illinois.

(b) If now they were fraudulent they are void, if not held by innocent purchasers. What then is the real fraud alleged? It will be seen that these acts above cited provided for the delivery of the bonds by the state treasurer and Governor to the corporations on proof that a certain per cent of the capital stock had been subscribed and a certain per cent thereof paid in in cash, or that a bona fide contract has been made by the corporation for the construction of the roads.

M. S. Littlefield and Geo. W. Swepson were the two arch incendiaries of this drama of abominations. They were both carpet baggers and both insolvent. The influence of Littlefield over the whole state administration was greater than William Pitt ever enjoyed in the British Parliament. Littlefield made bogus contracts with insolvent persons, many of them negroes, in behalf of the W. N. C. R. Co., for its construction, and exhibited them to the state treasurer and secured at one time $368,500 in bonds. The treasurer, of course, could have known if he had wanted to, that the contract was fraudulently obtained and signed by insolvent parties and never intended to be executed. He and Swepson also had insolvent persons to subscribe to stock to meet other requirements for the delivery of bonds, and used fictitious names on the subscription list, and exhibited the books and obtained bonds in figures approaching millions, the amount of I cannot accurately give. After doing this, Littlefield the state. At the June term, '94, after this crime had been unpunished for six years the grand jury in Wake county presented a bill of indictment, of which the following is a copy:

"The Jurors for the State, on their oaths, present that M. S. Littlefield and Geo. W. Swepson . . . did combine, conspire, confederate and agree together and with divers other persons to the Jurors unknown by divers false pretenses and subtle means and devices to obtain and acquire to themselves and from the State of North Carolina, divers bonds to be issued by the State with coupons attached of the value of $1000 each.

CAN'T LOSE HAIR.

Twenty Years from Today a Bald-headed Man Will Be an Unusual Sight.

One of the most prominent druggists of America made a statement a few weeks ago which has caused a great deal of discussion among scientists in the medical press.

He said: "If the new hair grower, Mildredina Hair Remedy, increases its sales as it has during the past year, it will be used by nearly every man woman and child in America within eight years.

"When Mildredina Hair Remedy is used almost universally, dandruff will disappear and with its departure baldness, itching scalp, splitting hair and all scalp diseases will follow and twenty years from now a bald head will be a rarity."
There is only one way to cure dandruff, and that is to kill the germs. There is only one hair preparation that will kill the germs and that is Mildredina Hair Remedy. This unusual hair restorer with its record of thousands of cures will grow hair on any head where there is any life left; it cures dandruff, stops falling hair and itching of the scalp in three weeks or money back.

It is the most pleasant and invigorating tonic, is not sticky, or greasy and is used extensively by ladies of refinement who desire to have and to keep their hair soft, lustrous and luxuriant. Fifty cents for a large bottle at Worthy & Etheridge. Mail orders filled by American Proprietary Co., Boston, Mass.

CUT THIS OUT.

FREE to show how quickly Mildredina Hair Remedy acts, we will send a large sample free by return mail to anyone who sends this Coupon to American Proprietary Co., Boston, Mass., with their name and address and ten cents in silver to pay postage.

Notice To The Public!

A statement appeared in Wednesday's issue of the Daily News, giving the details of an agreement which had been perfected between the garage and auto-repair man of the city.

Among the list of signatures which appeared underneath this document, there was that of "Claude L. Carrow, per W. G. Black."

I desire to state that I knew nothing of this agreement and that I have nothing to do with it. I am not in the repair business and therefore could not be connected with it in any way. Mr. Black, who is in the repair business and whose business is operated in the same building as mine, is distinctly separate from me in business,—as much so as if he was in altogether another building. He probably entered into the agreement with the other garagemen, but, as I have said before, this in no way affects my end of the business.

I am making this statement in order to explain my side of it to the public. I have nothing to say regarding the worthiness or unworthiness of the agreement, but I am an outsider in it and therefore do not want to have the impression that I am interested in it.
