

CHASE FOR LOST LOVERS IS ARDENT IN WAR ZONE

(By United Press)
 London. (By Mail).—“Cupid’s arrow,” of the British War Office, is one of the war’s unique and lively institutions.
 When love’s dart stings the British “Tommy,” temporarily or otherwise, one of his many forms of call to arms is to write his “last” letter. “Tommy” is both a rapidly migrating and a most forgetful person, according to the officials who administer Cupid’s department in the big stone building in Whitehall. His “last” girl is forever writing him letters and sending him packages which he probably receives but doesn’t acknowledge. Then the girl writes to “Cupid” to find out what happened to “Tommy.” If “Cupid” answers that he is at present somewhere else and that his writing arm is in perfect condition the “last” girl probably knows that his order for her has expired. Christmas, however, the “last” girl sends that she will the “last” and bids her “Tommy” tucked away in some hospital bed or perhaps among the sternest custody lists.
 The War Office scrupulously observes every request for information. Word is immediately communicated to “Tommy’s” regiment wherever it is to see if he is still in the land of the living.
 One girl is looking for two “Tommys.” An Irish girl pathetically asks only to know how “his” girl is getting along. A Cockney girl informed “Cupid’s Bureau” that she hasn’t heard “anything” about him for three months and she’s ready to do “anything” to find out “something” about him. It’s the same old tangled problem every day at “Cupid’s Bureau.”

 I KEEP busy FROM MORNING UNTIL NIGHT. GETTING UP drinks FOR THE people. THAT COME in. AND I guess THAT THERE are. CLOSE TO a hundred. DIFFERENT DRINKS. THAT THEY call for. AND IT’S gotten so. OF THE majority. OF CUSTOMERS. JUST COME in. AND DON’T say anything. AND I don’t wait FOR THEM. TO SAY anything. BUT JUST go ahead.
 AND MAKE them. THEIR PEPSI-COLA. AND THAT’S what they drink. EVERY TIME. AND IT’S no easy job. SUPPLYING DRINKS FOR THIRSTY people. ALL DAY long. AND THERE are times WHEN I get tired. AND I WISH THAT I could take a rest. FOR A few minutes. AND WHEN I feel like that I’VE FOUND out. THAT THE best thing to do IS TO follow. THE EXAMPLE OF MOST of our customers. AND I make myself.
 A GLASS of Pepsi-Cola. AND DRINK it. AND IN a minute or two I’M READY. TO GO ahead. AND WORK as hard AS WHEN I started in. IN THE morning. AND THERE’S no other drink THAT WILL do that for me. AND I’VE tried them all. AND I always boost PEPSI-COLA. JUST AS hard AS I can. AND IT’S the drink WITH THE punch. ALL THE time. AND IT never hurts me. I THANK you.
