Delicious Candy Recipes

Pineapple Divinity Fudge.
3 cupful sugar.
1/2 cupful corn syrup.
1/2 cupful water.
2 eggs.
1/2 teaspoonful cream of tartar.
1/2 cupful candied pineapple.
1/2 cupful nut meats.

Put all the ingredients into a saucepan except the pineapple, nuts and eggs, and boil to the firm ball stage or to 250 degrees by the candy thermometer. Add the vanilla or any desired extract and pour over the beaten whites of the eggs. Beat until it begins to stiffen, stir in the pineapple and nuts chopped very fine.
Pour into pans and cut into squares.

Maple Marshmallow Fudge.
3 cupful maple sugar.
1 cupful brown sugar.
1 teaspoonful cream of tartar.
1/2 dozen marshmallows.
1/2 cupful water.
1-3 cupful shelled walnuts.
3 eggs.

"Foam" candies are popular and this one is no exception. Boil sugars, water and cream of tartar until the mixture will make a firm ball when tested in water, then add the marshmallows, cut into small pieces.
Cover and let stand on the back of the stove for five minutes. Pour over the stuffy beaten whites of the eggs.

Beat until light; drop from a spoon onto a buttered paper and place a half walnut on top of each.

Fruit and Nut Loaf.
Soften one pound of fondant, and work in one-fourth pound fine, one-fourth cupful of raisins, one-fourth cupful candied cherries, one slice of candied pineapple—all put in small pieces—and one-half cupful chopped nuts. Place in oblong pan. When cold and firm, cut in small pieces.

Sea Foam With Nuts.
Boil one cupful sugar and one-half cupful water until it threads. Beat whites of two eggs very stiff. Put in dry pan and add boiled mixture very slowly, beating well with paddle or spoon until ingredients become stiff.
Add one-half cupful broken English walnuts, then drop in little mounds on waxed paper.

Pop Corn Fudge.
2 cupfuls sugar.
3 tablespoonful butter.
1 cupful popcorn.
1/2 cupful peanuts.
1 cupful milk.
1/2 teaspoonful salt.
1/2 teaspoonful almond extract.
Boil the sugar, milk, butter and salt to the soft ball stage. Flavor with the almond extract. Stir in the popcorn and nuts that have been run through a food chopper or chopped fine. Stir until creamy, and when cool cut into squares.

Old-Fashioned Taffy.

1 cupful sugar.
1/2 cupful butter.
1-3 cupful brown sugar.
1 cupful molasses.
1/2 cupful milk.
1 tablespoonful vanilla.
Pinch of salt.
1 teaspoonful vinegar.

A favorite addition to the many Christmas sweets is taffy. Mix the sugar, salt, butter and milk and molasses; boil until mixture will form a hard ball when tested in cold water.
Add the vanilla and vinegar, pour into pan and mark into squares.

Maple Delight.
1 cupful maple sugar.
1 cupful light brown sugar.
1/2 cupful corn syrup.
1 teaspoonful vanilla.
1/2 cupful water.
1/2 cupful chopped raisins.
1/2 cupful walnut meats.
3 eggs.
1/2 teaspoon cream of tartar.

Maple sugar furnishes the "different" note. Place the sugars, water, syrup and cream of tartar in a sauce pan and boil for a few minutes. Add the raisins chopped fine, and the chopped nut meats. Boil until it will ball in water, flavor with vanilla, and pour over the stiffly beaten whites of the eggs. Beat until light and foamy, then drop from a spoon onto wax paper, and place a raisin on the top of each. They are also nice dipped in melted chocolate when cool.

WESTERN

so the edges would not be muddled by the streets. They shone very brightly.

All through the day we looked for Western ideas, but we saw only two:
a member of the court dressed in a silk hat of 1928 vintage and a shabby Prince Albert coat that came to his knees. At night we read in a Yokohama paper that the government desired to show the Japanese an aeroplane and that one was being carried throughout Japan for exhibition in various cities. It would be in Yokohama the following day.

We decided instead of viewing the lone aeroplane to take a trip to Kan-kura, the fashionable watering resort, and see as much of rural Japan on the way as we could in six hours.
We started at 8 next morning, and two minutes after we had passed the city limits of Yokohama we were in the middle ages. Every man and woman was working in the rice fields or on a farm with implements which their ancestors had used for centuries.

Villages were neat, tidy affairs, without factories. The only Western ideas we saw during the morning were picture post cards stands and American cigarettes. We tried to smoke some of the latter, but the Japanese matches are for ornamental purposes only.

When the automobiles passed little children—the only sign of future soldiers—they waved their hands and shouted "Bansai." We were told that when the motor cars first put in an appearance the children threw stones at them. One day the Emperor gave a decree to school principles, asking children to wave their hands and about a greeting of welcome to passing tourists in motor cars. This was read in all schools in Japan. The Emperor's merest wish is law. Overnight the hostility disappeared and now when you ride in an auto down a country lane in Japan you feel as a king must in riding through the streets of a European capital.

Not seeing any Japanese peril in a country of agriculturists and small shop keepers, we decided to go to the city billed as "The Chicago of Japan," where we must certainly see the thousands of plants that at a moment's notice could be turned into ammunition factories. But, again we were disappointed. It was more like Muncie, Indiana.

SOLDIERS USE MUCH LEATHER

(By United Press.)
LONDON.—Kicking the Germans back across their own borders is requiring an enormous amount of boot leather. As England is supplying the greater portion of all the boots worn by the allied soldiers, the shoe factories throughout England are swamped with work today.

For the winter, the British government will require 9,000,000 feet of upper leather for Coesack boots and 7,000,000 feet of leather for the British soldiers' footwear. The shipments of such tremendous orders must be completed by the time cold weather sets in and has forced the government to take up every piece of leather on the market.

WESTERN IDEAS IN JAPAN NOT VISIBLE TO THE NAKED EYE

By CLARENCE AXMAN,
Editor of the Eastern Underwriter (Written for the United Press.) NEW YORK.—At the end of a seventeen day voyage from here we arrived at Yokohama. There were not any battleships in sight; nothing but a million little boats called sampans, looking exactly as though they had sailed out of old prints we saw in school. At long intervals a motor boat passed, a clumsy affair seeming to have a lot of engine trouble.
At the customs house, ready to take us to the hotel, were five hundred richahaws and two automobiles the latter of the type around which center all the jokes. The trip to the hotel was an eye opener. We looked around for horses, but didn't see any as all vehicles are drawn by men, occasionally relieved by a sleepy team of oxen.

On several corners were men in smart looking uniforms, carrying swords. Ah, our first glimpse of the army we thought, but they were policemen. As we rode through the streets we strained our eyes looking for the Western ideas the Japanese have been appropriating so indis-criminatingly, but they were not in sight.
Little boys were playing ball in their wooden clogs; women with unfash-ioned kimono walked through the streets indifferent to the gaze of Western eyes; men carried the skirts of their kimono up to their waists
