JUNIOR-SENIOR BANQUET

The annual junior-senior banquet of Southport high school was held on Friday night, March 19, at 7:30 o'clock in the community center building under the direction of Miss Myrtle Taylor, home economics teacher. The theme of a Gypsy camp was carried out in both decorations and program. The tables were arranged in a "T" shape, pointing toward the platform, which contained a tent and a large cauldron over which Mrs. C. G. Ruark presided as a Gypsy fortune teller.

Streamers in Gypsy colors festooned the table, with bunches of balloons at intervals. The tables were beautifully decorated with jonquils in bunches and in rows. As a center the flowers were arranged in the initials S. H. S. The tables were lighted by candles.

Six freshmen, boys and girls, dressed in Gypsy costumes, waited on the tables. Mrs. E. H. Cramer gave the invocation, which was followed by greetings from the junior class president, in a welcome speech to the seniors, Robert Marlowe, president of the senior class, gave the response, Miss Frances Bellamy offered a toast to the faculty, with response by Principal C. A. Ledford. James McKeithan gave a toast to the county superintendent and school committee which was answered by Miss Annie M. Woodside. Mrs. C. Ed Taylor responded to a toast given by Elliott Moore to the grade mothers. Miss Louise Niernee gave a toast to the seniors. After dinner jokes closed the program, after which fortunes were told.

Instrumental numbers included: "Gypsy Love Song," by Gypsy chorus; "The Gypsy King," W. C. Ledford, accompanied by Miss Mae Lelford; dances, by Gypsy peasant group, accompanied by Miss Mary Alice Lewis; "In A Little Gypsy Tea Room," by Miss Lelia Hubbard.

A fruit cocktail started off a three course dinner which ended with a dessert of ice cream and cake. Considerable credit is due to Miss Taylor for her leadership; to Mesdames F. M. Niernee, G. D. Robinson and Bellamy, for their assistance and to the junior class committee for their hard work.
