

Irish Potatoes For Hog Feed

Surplus Potato Crop This Spring In Eastern North Carolina Has Led Growers To Feed Surplus Spuds To Hogs

Irish potatoes boiled in salt water make a good, inexpensive hog feed, said H. W. Taylor, extension swine specialist at State College.

The bumper crop of potatoes produced in Eastern North Carolina this spring have driven prices to a low point and made second grade and cull potatoes available at an unusually low cost, he added.

Inferior grade spuds can be fed to hogs profitably, he continued, and this will help reduce the surplus that demoralized the market.

But be careful not to feed raw Irish potatoes, he continued, as they may injure the porkers.

Cooked spuds are nutritious and harmless if fed with corn, fish meal or tankage, and pasture, Taylor explained. Three to four pounds of potatoes have about the same feed value as a pound of corn.

With each three to four pounds of spuds, he said, feed to a pound of corn. Too many spuds

An Outdoor Exposure Guide

Taken against a white garden wall, with puppies on a bench. Exposure 1/25 second, stop f.11 with folding camera.

WHAT kind of camera is yours? What do you want to photograph? Below is a dependable outdoor exposure guide for average picture subjects.

This guide is for days when the sun is shining. When the day is cloudy, the exposure should be about twice as long and when very dull, about four times as long.

For the chrome type, supersensitive and panatomic films, the guide is good from one hour after sunrise until one hour before sunset. For ordinary film, make the margin 2 1/2 hours.

Why not cut this valuable guide out and paste it in your hat, or something?

"Mountain Music" And "Another Dawn" Coming To Carolina

Take Bob Burns with amnesia, Martha Raye as a lovelorn lass who wants a husband and doesn't care where she finds him; Terry Walker as a mountain beauty, and John Howard as a hillbilly, and a background of the most toe-ticking mountain music you've ever heard—put 'em all together, and they spell "Mountain Music," the riotous new comedy which opens today at the Carolina Theatre.

"Mountain Music" is the tale of Bob Burns who runs into Martha in a strange city. Bob thinks he's wealthy, and so does Martha, and when they discover that he's really only a hillbilly who ran out on marriage to a girl he didn't love, it's a shock to both of 'em.

Going far afield for a picturesque setting for a movie, Warner Bros. this time chose Iraq (which used to be Arabia) as a locale. They placed a British garrison there, had its members surrounded by wild natives, and offered the problem of how the soldiers and their officers and wives were to be saved—if saved they might be.

"Another Dawn" is the name of the picture. It is scheduled to open on Monday at the Carolina Theatre. Add to that situation the fact that Kay Francis is the lady most chiefly concerned—and that the two men who love her are Errol Flynn and Ian Hunter—and both have a chance to save her and the garrison—and you have the ingredients of real drama.

If the potatoes are boiled in salt water they will be more palatable, and will furnish part of the salt the animals need. The salt water, however, should be thrown away, as it is harmful to hogs.

When thoroughly cooked, the spuds are easily digested and are a good source of minerals, carbohydrates, and vitamins. The skins also provide roughage.

Funeral Services For Mrs. Sarah White

Funeral services were conducted at Shallotte Camp Methodist church grounds Thursday afternoon for Mrs. Sarah Elizabeth Russ White, one time postmistress of Shallotte.

Mrs. White, who held the postmistress position for several years, resigning some 20 years ago, died at her residence at Shallotte Wednesday night at the age of 79 years. She was the widow of F. P. White, who preceded her to the grave by 18 years.

Cooley, of Nashville, who called the meeting, said assurance came from Jesse W. Tapp, president of the Federal Surplus Commodities corporation, that the corporation would render whatever assistance it could in the event of a price break.

Air Pioneers

Russia's three "top of the world" fliers, reported already visualizing another daring flight, Moscow to New York—arrived at Oakland, Cal., Monday to be acclaimed by a crowd of 5,000 at the original goal of their 6,000 mile non-stop attempt. By chartered plane they flew in from Vancouver, Wash., where murky weather halted them after a 5-300 mile hop during which they conquered arctic hazards in pioneering an air channel from Russia to the United States.

Three Accused

District Solicitor John J. Burney has announced the arrest of three men for the alleged "cremation murder" of Paul Krohmalny, who disappeared from his home at St. Helena on April 4, 1936. The accused men are Pete Krohmalny, brother of the purportedly slain man; his son, Paul and Irvin Williams, son-in-law of Pete Krohmalny. Solicitor Burney charged the three men slew Krohmalny in order to obtain $1,160 in money orders which he had derived from a sale of property in Toledo, Ohio. Krohmalny was last seen on April 4 of last year and has not been heard from since. He was reported to have been seen last walking across a field from his home.

Irman Clemmons Found Not Guilty 'Torch Murder' In Superior Court Here

The Holden youth said, in the affidavit, that he was not at the scene of the fatal burning, that he had parted from Clemmons earlier in the evening at Brown's filling station near Supply and did not see him any more that evening. It was a flat contradiction of his statement Wednesday he had seen Clemmons pour gasoline over the prostrate form of Sellers and set him ablaze.

A number of neighbors testified R. W. Holden, father of the youth, had told them his son was at home that Saturday night at 9 o'clock. Sellers was burned about 10 o'clock.

S. B. Frink was associated with Mr. Davis in defending Clemmons in this trial. These two men and Woodus Kellum, of Wilmington, defended Donald Skipper.

Fishing Party Business Now Of Much Potential Values, Southport

The Civic Club believes that sport fishing at Southport can be developed into a very important industry. The club has frequently been told that the Cape Fear shoals offered some of the very best fishing on the North Carolina coast. There are trout, blues and mackerel in abundance. A little further out off shore are believed to be an abundance of big game fish that will some day attract the more wealthy sportsmen who now frequent Florida in the winter and Nova Scotia in the summer.

The Civic Club hopes that the local boatmen will continue to make every effort to please all visiting fishermen, see that they get the fish that they come after, have their visit to be one that will inspire their return, and if there is anything in the weather conditions that may make their trip outside unsatisfactory, tell them frankly about it before chartering their boat to take them out.

Catching Rattlesnake In Steel Traps Is The Latest Of Sports

The sight of the snake reminded Mr. Doherty of the two members of a certain religious denomination who thought the end of the world was to come on a certain night. These parties sought seclusion for the advent of the pending event by climbing a large haystack, where they could wait and watch for it. They were tired and sleepy but the thought of a last cigarette, before the arrival of the end of the world appealed to them and they lit up.

Before they knew it they had dropped off to sleep and it was not long until one of them awakened, the haystack all around them was on fire. Reaching over he grasped his still sleeping companion and shook him roughly, exclaiming: "John, John, wake up. The end of the world has come and we are both just where I expected us to be."

The rattlesnake was there, just as Mr. Doherty expected. He had fourteen rattles and a button. One set of steel jaws formed a bracelet just back of its head and another had it amidship. Its spirit had departed.

ROUTING EXPERT COMPLETES WORK

(Continued from page 1.) must be transported several miles over unusually rough roads. It is believed that the most economical solution to this matter will be to contract private conveyance to replace the school bus.

SPECIALIST GIVES GARDENERS HINTS

(Continued from page 1.) have a very poor keeping quality. Go over your watermelon patch and pick off and remove from the field all bottleneck and other misshapen melons. These cannot produce a first class melon and tend only to reduce the size of the good melons if left on the vines.

Watch out for the bean beetle and tomato worms. If these pests get a start they are hard to control. These can be controlled by using 75 per cent Rotonone dust. This dust is still rather expensive but it is good, both as a contact and stomach poison and is not injurious to human beings. In dusting beans be sure to get the dust on the underside of the leaves as this is where the bean beetle works. This insect seldom eats all the way through the leaf but leaves a very thin layer of the upper side of the leaf untouched. Therefore, fails to get the poison which is on top of the leaf. However, dust should be applied to the top as well to control the bean beetle that is eating all those round little holes out of your bean leaves. When you have completed gathering a crop from your beans, it is best to move the plants and destroy them immediately so they will not furnish a breeding and feeding place for this insect.
