

EXHAUSTIVE FARMING DESTROYS THE LAND

Keeping land continuously in row crops or allowing it to lie in costly soil losses, according to E. C. Blair, agronomist of the State College extension service.

When the slope of the field and the type of the soil is such that soil is lost at the rate shown on the chart above, erosion will remove 7 inches of topsoil un-protected fallow land in 18 years,

Marmalade Good At Xmas Season

Food Expert Tells How To Make Dessert From Marmalade By Using Hot Pancakes And Rolling In Sugar

"Marmalade is good for break-and the same amount from continuously row-cropped land in 44 years.

A good sod of grass, however, brings erosion to practically a standstill. It would take 9,000 years to wash 7 inches of earth from a well sodded field. Erosion is so extremely little on a tract of virgin timber that the trees add organic matter to the soil faster than it is washed away.

fast, and it has its place in the school lunch. But have you ever thought of it as a dessert?" asks Cornelia C. Morris, State College extension economist in food conservation.

"Spread marmalade on hot, buttered pancakes, roll them up and dust with powdered sugar. Your family will like this dessert and call for it again.

"Marmalade will help stretch the Christmas dollar. Small jars of marmalade, attractively wrapped, make good Christmas presents; they help out in planning Christmas menus."

Marmalade is easy to make, Mrs. Morris stated. The best fruits to use are oranges, grapefruits, and lemons. Select fruits on which the skin is clear and free from blemishes.

(One orange, one lemon, and one grapefruit will make enough marmalade to fill six 10-ounce jars.)

Cut fruit into very thin slices with a sharp knife. Resharpen knife frequently while slicing the fruit. Measure the sliced fruit, then add three times as much water.

(One orange, one lemon, and one grapefruit will make about a quart of fruit. So add three quarts of water.)

Boil fruit and water for 30 minutes, or until fruit is tender. Let it stand over night, then boil again for 20 minutes. Measure the mixture and add an equal amount of sugar. Then cook rapidly until the syrup begins to jelly when poured from the side of a spoon.

Let the finished marmalade cool for a minute or two, then pour it into the jars. (If poured in immediately, the fruit will rise to the top.)

Youth Dies Of Strange Illness

Kenneth Allen White, 13 year-old son of Dan and Bessie White, native of Leland, died last Tuesday in Wilmington at the home of his parents after suffering from a strange malady for ten years. He was described as a

Peanut Hay Good Stock Roughage

Peanut Hay Is A Valuable Roughage For Cattle And Work Stock Dealers Professor Hostetler Of State College Says

Peanut hay is a valuable roughage for cattle and work stock, and pigs can utilize the gleanings left in the field after harvesting, said Prof. Earl H. Hostetler, head of animal husbandry research at State College.

Peanuts can be "hogged off", he added, but whether this is advisable depends upon the number of pounds of pork that can be produced from an acre of peanuts in comparison with other crops that can be grown on the same land.

But the price of peanuts is usually too high to justify feeding the harvested nuts to livestock, Professor Hostetler pointed out.

Even with low prices, the cost of shelled peanuts per pound is greater than the cost of corn or other feeds usually fed to livestock.

A given amount of shelled peanuts will produce more gain in weight in pigs than the same amount of any of the other common feeds, he admitted, but indiscriminate feeding of peanuts will produce soft and oily pork that is undesirable.

When hogs are shipped to market, deductions are made from the price of those animals which are found to be soft and oily from eating too many peanuts.

If the peanuts are fed to pigs under 100 pounds in weight, and then if the ration is changed to a corn, fish meal, and cottonseed meal ration the animals attain a weight of 100 pounds, the meat will usually be firm by the time the porkers are ready for market, the professor stated.

Claws attached to garden gloves save the hands and allow more efficient weeding and shallow cultivation of the garden.

"bright child, but from the age of three years till death, his legs were arrested in their growth by a formation which neighbors termed "turning to stone". As the disease attacked his digestive organs it became impossible for him to receive nourishment. His case was studied unsuccessfully by medics at the Duke hospital, in Durham, and James Walker Memorial, in Wilmington.

Funeral services were conducted by the Rev. Reuben Jarrell, at the Nelson cemetery, Wednesday morning.

Surviving are his parents, three sisters, Elizabeth, Betty and Myrtle White, and two brothers Edgar Paul and Dan White, Jr.

PRIZE 4-H COOK

ELLA DICKERSON, 19, a Pawneeville, named North Carolina 4-H food preparation champion by Extension Leaders, has completed four years as a club member. She prepared 670 meals for a family of 11, canned 600 pints of fruits and vegetables, made 138 garments in sewing club work, and gave two public demonstrations in foods and arts work. For three years she was declared the county's healthiest girl. Sales from her projects total $25.00, and prize winnings $20.00 on 38 exhibits. She receives an all-expense trip to the 15th National Club Congress in Chicago, Nov. 26-30, and will compete with other Southern State champions for one of two Servel Electrolux kerosene operated refrigerators. The maker also provides three college scholarships of $100, $200, and $300 for which sectional winners will compete.

Will Begin Operation Of Eel Smokery At Southport

(Continued from page one) All of the eels taken and bought will be smoked over hickory wood fires for about five hours before being shipped to cafes and hotels in the north and middle west. Mr. Worth has been engaged in this business for many years and is thoroughly experienced in his undertaking. He has extensive marketing facilities, and one inducement to his coming here was his belief that the eels could be found here the year round.

The Civic Club which contacted Mr. Worth and interested him in coming to Southport, believes with him that he can find an abundant year-round production. Eels are partial to brackish, dirty water and for this Cape Fear river is about the most celebrated stream in the state. There should be no difficulty in getting an abundant supply of eels the year round.

The method of smoking the slippery fish is high in favor with the consignee, and aids greatly in solving the transportation and keeping problem.

The Civic Club also has a good prospect of a party coming here shortly to establish a bullfrog ranch in Brunswick county. With two such industries claims can be made of having unusual industries.
