

4H Members Win Trip To Capitol

Four Club Members Are Selected On Basis Of Their Outstanding Record

Selected on a basis of their outstanding records, four North Carolina 4-H Club members will be awarded a trip to the National club encampment in Washington, D. C., June 16-22. L. R. Harrell, club leader at State College, has announced.

Winners from among the State's 45,000 club boys and girls were: Oland Peele, Wayne County; Elizabeth Randle, Cleveland County; Louise Bunn, Edgecombe County; and Roger Pollock, Jones County.

Eighteen-year-old Miss Randle made her most outstanding record in clothing. However, she completed two canning projects, one room improvement project, two wildlife projects, and a library project in 1937. Not only has she excelled in her leadership activities and her project work, but she has also shown talent in dramatics, public speaking, and drawing.

Miss Bunn, also 18, has held the highest offices in her local club and in the county council and federation in her seven years of club work. She has completed projects in foods, clothing, room improvement, home beautification, gardening, and for two years served as a local 4-H Club leader.

Young Peele, 17, did his most successful work with swine. Beginning in 1931, he has raised prize pigs which have captured many awards at county and State fairs. His total profits from club work have amounted to $1,341.25. Oland is the second member of the Peele family to win a trip to the nation encampment in the nation's capital, an older brother having gone several years ago.

Seventeen-year-old Pollock has carried on various projects since joining a 4-H Club in 1931. His chief work has been with pigs, corn, and cotton. During that time, he has made a $1,174.78 profit from his enterprises.

VISITOR RECALLS MANY THINGS IN SOUTHPORT VISIT

had missed on my last visit.

The old wooden structure built adjacent to the subterranean vaults or chambers which once housed the power machinery, was still there, though black as if destroyed by fire. The vaults were dark and silent as a tomb, otherwise the ground around here was undisturbed.

Suddenly, to the right of the wooden structure, I observed an old landmark which during the thirty years had entirely escaped my memory, though I had observed it many times in the past. It was a yawning cavern with an arched brick, tunnel-like entrance, which led to subterranean chambers; perhaps a powder magazine. The entrance as it was thirty years ago, is still somewhat obstructed by shrubbery, and a little bush. I could remember that little bush, yet it could not have been the same one of thirty years ago. I mounted the steep concrete steps over the mound down to the parade ground, and moved along toward the blackened pits of Battery Bagley, lingering awhile around the old Company quarters, before returning to Southport.

I should be remiss if, at this writing, I failed to mention something of the quaint little town of Southport is small, it has within its midst a sight of such majesty as may be seen in few places.

THE OAK TREES
It was the following afternoon when my friend and I leisurely strolled toward Atlantic Avenue where Southport's public buildings are located. One might properly call this Avenue, "Giant Hall", for here are in evidence the great trees. I was particularly interested in the one which is in front of the building where the Flower Show was in progress. I was informed that these giant trees were five hundred or more years old. If one considers the slow growth of the Oak tree, then this must be true. The enormous trunk of this tree rises slantingly from the ground. I estimated its circumference to be more than twenty feet.

I was easily able to place my hand and forearm between the grooves of its bark. Its mighty limbs projected themselves far into the air, more than a hundred feet above the ground. So vast was its tree top, one could not immediately perceive its limits. This great oak was a tree in infancy, when that intrepid mariner discovered a new continut; a giant when the great Washington was at Valley Forge, a venerable patriarch and a silent witness of the great and glorious American Cavalcade.

An evening breeze blew from the Bay, the great tree heaved a mighty sigh which rose to a great crescendo, and it seemed to say: For I am the Prologue, and I tell a tale of ancient glory. Then all was silent, the great oak had spoken its message.

From here we paid our respects to an old friend, Captain W. G. Butler. We met the Captain and Mrs. Butler at their home and I was very glad to see him for I too, was of the old brigade.

In conclusion, may I pay my tribute to Mrs. Johnson; Rangelwald and his lovely daughter; also, to Major and Mrs. Brown, who were visiting from Florida, for their warm hospitality in making the evening before my departure one of the most pleasant and memorable occasions of my life.

And so I say to them, and to old Fort Caswell, and to the "Great Oaks of Southport", whose mighty chorus I shall listen to upon my next visit. "Au Revoir."

FARM WORK SHEET SHOULD BE FILED BY 18th OF JUNE
filing of a work sheet in no way obligates the owner or operator of the farm. It merely supplies information about the farm which serves as a basis for participation in the conservation program. However, the filing of a work sheet for each separate tract of land owned or operated by a producer is a necessary prerequisite to the filing of an application for payment.

Mr. Finn also explained that all requests for changes in the land to be regarded as a farm in accordance with the definition of a farm under the 1938 program must be filed by June 18. "Only those tracts of land operated as a unit may be included under a single application for payment," he said, "and in order for a tract of land to be considered as a unit, information must be filed by the above date showing that it is being operated as a unit."

In reviewing performance under previous Agricultural Conservation Programs in the East Central Region, Mr. Finn said: "In 1936, 383,000 applications for payment were received, representing approximately 628,000 farmers. In 1937, more than 400,000 applications were filed. Approximately three-fourths of the 1937 payments have been made to date, and it is expected that the remaining payments will be made at an early date."

Interesting Development Regarding Fisheries, Inc.
Monday morning a member of a large wholesale chain grocery spent several hours here with W. B. Keziah secretary of the Southport Civic Club. They went over the building and in addition to the main object of canning shrimp, Clams, oysters and packing crab meat, a survey was made to get some idea of the approximate volume of fruits and vegetables that might be obtained during the summer months in order to keep the plant in continuous operation.

This concern was only interested in an outright purchase of the plant. It is understood that the party will return this week with the hope that a definite price can be named.

Confession
J. Edgar Hoover, director of the federal bureau of investigation, announced Franklin Pierce McCall signed Saturday a detailed confession that he kidnaped and killed James Bailey Cash, Junior. Hoover, who named the 21-year-old truck driver as the single-handed kidnaper and killer, said the police investigation was closed and turned the case over to state prosecutors, less than two weeks after the crime. The FBI chief said the eight-page confession was signed shortly before the victim's parents attended funeral services for their five-year-old only child.

While on active duty, a Reservist will be placed on the same status and receive the same pay and allowance as are provided by law for enlisted men of the Regular Army. Initially, all members of the Reserve will be ordered to active duty in the grade of Private. However, a former noncommissioned officer of the Regular Army or a trained Specialist, would experience little difficulty in obtaining at least the highest grade formerly held in the Regular Army, as his records would clearly indicate his qualifications and former attainments.

Each Former Service man who possesses the desired qualifications is urged to apply at nearest Army Post or United States Army Recruiting Station where he will be furnished full information concerning enlistment. The Reserve offers opportunities of keeping in touch with the Army and insures the man of the quickest means of doing his bit in the event of emergency.

"WHO BUYS THE FINEST TOBACCO?"

I KNOW BECAUSE I'M A TOBACCO PLANTER. FOR YEARS, AT AUCTION AFTER AUCTION, CAMEL HAS BOUGHT MY FINEST LOTS. LAST YEAR CAMEL PAID ME HIGHEST PRICES. I SMOKE CAMELS BECAUSE, TO MY WAY OF THINKING, THE COMPANY THAT BUYS THE FINER GRADE OF TOBACCO IS BOUND TO PUT OUT A FINER CIGARETTE. MOST PLANTERS FEEL THE SAME

Mr. Wells speaks for many tobacco growers when he says: "Most planters smoke Camels because they know the finer grades of tobacco bought for them." And as many who know tobacco, they know that Camel's FINER, MORE EXPENSIVE TOBACCOS make a world of difference in smoking pleasure. Try Camels.

DAVID ELMER WELLS gives you a mighty good reason for smoking Camels

NO MATTER WHERE YOU LIVE

Modern REFRIGERATION IS ONE CONVENIENCE YOU CAN HAVE

WE GET a lot of pleasure out of selling Superflex refrigerators because there's nothing we can think of that brings so much pleasure—and profit—to our customers. They usually are people living far from town, where there aren't many other "conveniences." And that's where refrigeration is most important.

Most Economical

If there's any other refrigerator that operates as cheaply as Superflex, we never heard of it. The burners do 24 hours' work in about two hours and go out automatically. There's no continuous flame, and the cost for kerosene for a whole year is about $10—less than $1.00 a month.

Here's how we look at it—"Made by Perfection Stove Company", ten years of use in American farm homes, and the satisfaction these refrigerators are giving even on the equator, in Africa and the East Indies, is proof enough for anybody that they give dependable, trouble-free service. They have no moving parts to wear or get out of order, and no connections. You can use them, and move them anywhere, any time.

Saves Labor, Food, Money

Think of the thousands of times some steps this refrigerator will save in your home, the fewer trips to markets, the greater variety of foods you can keep fresh, ice cubes for refreshing drinks, dairy frozen desserts, dairy products and other foods kept cold, fresh and marketable.

Let us demonstrate Superflex in your kitchen. Just mail a card or telephone us. No obligation.
