Good Sales And Service For Many Years Has Been The Record At Chadbourn Warehouse

With a record of good sales and service for many years J. L. Pinnix and W. B. Daniel, proprietors of the New Brick warehouse at Chadbourn, are all set to do even better by the farmer customers who sell tobacco with them this season.

Coming to Chadbourn nine years ago Mr. Pinnix needs no introduction to the hundreds of farmers who sell on the Chadbourn market. He is known far and wide as a good judge of tobacco and will be found, along with his partner, Mr. Daniel, leading the sale, and seeing that every pile of tobacco brings its best price. Mr. Daniel has been on the Chadbourn market for three seasons, coming from the Whiteville market. Mr. Daniels has had a wide experience in selling tobacco in both the border and old belts and takes part in every sale.

Among the members of the warehouse force of the New Brick warehouse, besides Mr. Daniel and Mr. Pinnix, are Garland Griffin, auctioneer; T. W. Bruce, bookkeeper and bookman; Cameron Cashwell, clipman; Robt. Pinnix, floor manager.

The New Brick warehouse underwent an increase in floor space last season and is now one of the biggest and best in the county. It has good light and every facility and comfort for both farmers and buyers.

for this purpose to be devoted to the sale of tobacco.

Chadbourn merchants have made great preparations for the coming tobacco season and are looking forward to serving their patrons and customers of the market with excellent values in good merchandise.

Father And Son Operate Myers

George A. Myers And His Son Have Been Operating The Warehouse At Chadbourn For Some-time

George A. Myers, of Chadbourn, is one of the oldest warehousemen in the flue-cured tobacco section. He has been in the warehouse business in Danville, Va., continuously since 1892. Prior to that time, he raised tobacco on his father's farm. In 1913, he went to Manning, S. C., to run a warehouse. Two years later, he built Myers' Warehouse and started the Chadbourn Tobacco Market.

In his 48 years of experience in the warehouse business, he has made and kept thousands of friends among the warehousemen, farmers, buyers, and merchants, all of whom respect his ability and judgment. He has always done his best for the interest of the farmer. He is a firm believer in the auction system for selling tobacco and has always urged that it be continued.

Mr. Myers has been a director in the S. C. Belt Warehouse Assn. for a number of years. During that period, he has used his influence and time for the betterment of the farmers in this belt. In the Old Belt, Mr. Myers is a director in one of the largest warehouse concerns in the flue-cured section.

Under the careful eye of his father, George A. Myers, Jr., is following in his footsteps. He has been in Chadbourn working since his childhood, and in Danville, since his education was completed. He is rapidly gaining a reputation as a good warehouseman.

Young Mr. Myers, through his untiring efforts in helping farmers to get the most out of their tobacco, is making new friends daily. With both of the Myers running the sale, it will be hard for any pile of tobacco to be sold for less than market price.

Both Myers believe in an expert working force. They refuse to hire anyone but the best. With them this year are George H. Finch, auctioneer; J. Horace Lanier, bookkeeper; Clifton D. Cook,

Jones And Harris At New Graham

Both Are Experienced Tobacco Men And Grow Successful Themselves; Had Successful Season Last Year

The New Graham warehouse on the Chadbourn market will be operated again this season by Jack Jones and Cleveland Harris as proprietors and leaders of the sale. Both men, comprising the firm of Harris & Jones, are experienced tobacco men and grow tobacco themselves and know the business from the "ground up". They had a most successful season at Chadbourn last year and are looking forward to a good season this year.

Harris and Jones have no expense to bring together season one of the best and experienced warehousemen in the business in order that they can give their customers the best of everything in the sale of tobacco.

The New Graham warehouse force besides Messrs. Harris and Jones is composed, in part, of the following: J. H. Lanier, bookman; Martin Young, bookman; Clyde Brewer, floor manager; "Bill" Garner, bookman; Mrs. Willie Crowsy, bookman. The New Graham warehouse has been enlarged since last year with a new addition added to facilitate the sale and storage of tobacco. Many minor additional changes that will add to the comfort of both farmers and buyers.
