Whiteville Banker Received Hearty Endorsement By Native District For Third Vice-President Of N. C. Bankers Association

WAS ENDORSED LAST APRIL BY GROUP 6

Group 6, Which Includes Columbus County, Passed A Similar Resolution At Meeting Last April

J. N. Coburn, executive vice-president of the Waccamaw Bank and Trust Company here, has received the hearty endorsement of his native group in Group 1, meeting in Washington recently, for the place of third-vice president of the North Carolina Bankers Association.

The following is taken from a recent issue of the Weekly Herald, of Robersonville: "Group 1, North Carolina Bankers Association, at its annual meeting in Washington last Saturday, unanimously endorsed J. N. Coburn as third vice-president of the North Carolina Bankers Association, the election to take place at the spring meeting of the state association.

The resolution was drafted and presented to the bankers at Washington by D. R. Everett. The reaction to the resolution was exceedingly favorable, and Mr. Coburn's name will be presented for third vice-president at the N. C. Bankers Association's annual meeting.

Mr. Coburn is a native of Martin County, having received his first training in banking at Robersonville. For the past several years he has been associated with the Waccamaw Bank and Trust Co. at Whiteville as cashier. He is located in the Sixth Group, N. C. Bankers Association, and due to the fact that the president's office has not been filled by a man from this group since 1915, Mr. Coburn's chances of being elected to this office are very favorable.

At the April meeting of the Sixth Group at Lake Waccamaw last April, a resolution endorsing Mr. Coburn for the place was unanimously adopted.

Waccamaw And Leland Split Bill

Waccamaw Girls Triumph Second Time Over Leland Girls; Leland Boys Win By Score Of 31 To 6

The Waccamaw girls continued their winning luck by winning over the Leland girls 24-14 on Thursday night on the Waccamaw court. The Waccamaw girls were forced to some hard work to attain this victory, because of the fast and excellent pass work of the Leland girls. Lyla Bennett was high scorer for Waccamaw with 12 points with O. Norris following with 7 points. M. Clark led the Leland team with 6 points and King and Douglas caged 4 points each.

This was the sixth victory for the Waccamaw girls in the county series. They have dropped only one game and that to Bolivia earlier in the county series.

The Leland boys baffled the Waccamaw boys with fast playing and easily chalked up a 31-6 victory. Although the Waccamaw boys worked zealously they were unable to gain any lead over the fast Leland team. Willetts ran the score up for his team with 12 points, aided by scoring from most of the other players. Smith caged 4 points for Waccamaw.

Washington Man Is Here Fishing

R. Kilbourne Castell of Washington, D. C., an official of the Penn Mutual Life Insurance Company, came in this morning for a couple of days or so of the Brunswick county fishing. He was introduced to this section by Bob Wilson, Outdoor Editor of the Washington Herald-Post.

Since Mr. Wilson is understood to be planning a trip of his own, it is suspected that he sent Mr. Castell down as a sort of advance agent to see if the fish were biting.

Warns Against Fraudulent Jobs

Some Offers Of Vocational Training Being Made With "Guarantee" Of Jobs; These Are Unauthorized

Federal Security Administrator McNutt warned persons interested in vocational training for defense jobs to beware of unlicensed commercial schools "guaranteeing" jobs to persons who pay "stiff fees" to take their courses.

McNutt said that although Congress "has voted money for this type of training and tens of thousands of young people are being trained without expense to them through public schools and the NYA, complaints in increasing numbers are reaching my office that unlicensed schools are springing up in many parts of the country to exploit the unemployed, particularly youth, by offering to train them for important jobs in defense industries."

"While there are some excellent private vocational institutions, the public should beware of unlicensed schools," Mr. McNutt said. "These unlicensed schools advertise widely often guaranteeing jobs at high wages. They charge stiff fees, have inadequate equipment, no supervision, and are wholly money-making ventures."

Persons who are interested in training should see the nearest office of the State employment service or write to the State vocational education department, Mr. McNutt said.

Legion Post To Aid Aviation

Boys Interested In Entering Army Or Navy Air Corps May Receive Help And Encouragement From Legionnaires

Crawford Rourke, commander of the Brunswick County Post No. 194, American Legion, says that the local organization will be glad to assist in every way possible all boys who desire to enroll in either the army or navy air corps.

In order to maintain a balance between men and machines in the nation's expanding aviation program, great emphasis is being placed upon the training of army and navy pilots. Roughly, the requirements are: Applicant must be at least 20 and not over 27 years of age; must have at least two year's college credit, or be able to pass a written examination; be of good moral character, physically and mentally sound.

The boys will receive pay while they are training, and those who successfully complete the training period will be commissioned second lieutenants in the army or ensigns in the navy at more than $200.00 per month.

The part that the local legion post proposes to play in the program is to help boys get in touch with the proper sources of information, and to help create a wider, healthier interest in the development of aviation.

White Hope For Heavy-weight Title Known Here

(Continued from page 1) rounds. And after I hit him I prayed that he wouldn't get up. The way I was fighting, I believe I could have gone about fifteen rounds. Chappie had rubbed me down with warm olive oil during the rest of the fights and when I started out I felt like my joints were just moving in oil.

The reason I didn't follow with my left hand was because I saw Gates start a left hook just as he came off the ropes and I didn't want it to be a double knockout. The first time we clinched Gates tried to work on my body and told me that he was going to keep punching and that I had better tie him up if I could. So after that I tied him up every time I could.

Kimball worked on Wilson enough in the first two rounds to win those stanzas 10-8, 10-8. He fought cautiously, a little too carefully Mike Ronman thought, and was careful not to have the fight a repetition of last year. When he went into the corners after the back-pedaling Wilson, he went in with his eyes open and his jaw protected.

But he wasn't ready for Wilson's lead. Last year the cadet had won on counter-punching, had followed the plan of action strictly during the first two rounds Saturday.

Standing in the corner with Wilson during the awarding of the trophies, he couldn't figure out where the punch had come from. Three times in that brief interval he turned to the grinning cadet and asked what he had been hit with.

Wilson's ring career has to be successful for he has a wife to support. That's not known widely on the campus although there have been questions about the little cross which he has always kept with him. Saturday was the first time he didn't wear the keepsake into the ring.

"No place there for love", he explained.

Wilson's place in the finals was earned by an earlier third round technical knockout over Alex Rolison of the Citadel.

Southport Boatmen Have Good Luck With Whiting (Continued from page one) that the price is unusually good. This has ranged from four to five cents per pound for all brought in. At this rate the boatmen have been making more money than they usually make during an extra good shrimping season, and with less work. Only two men per boat are required for the fishing and there is much less work than is entailed in dragging for and cleaning shrimp. The boats have also been putting in fewer working hours.

This week the good fishing weather is apparently continuing and more boats are being put into service. Although the boats are using shrimp trawls, they are not bringing up much shrimp with the fish, sometimes only a dozen or two at a haul. This may and may not argue for good shrimping in the summer and fall. The habits of the shrimp are still more or less a matter of guess work. With regard to the presence of the small fish in such numbers, it is argued that it all points to great spring, summer and fall sport and commercial fishing. The big fish follow where the little ones go, in order to make a meal of them.
