Home Grown Woods Being Used To Manufacture Pipes

Hitler's blitzkrieg is producing a small revolution among pipe smokers in this country. With the collapse of France, the supply of brier root has stopped and pipe manufacturers are again turning to American woods, says the U. S. Forest Products Laboratory, Madison, Wis.

The Laboratory research men point out that American woods make just as good pipes as does the foreign brier. The chief reason the majority of smokers use the brier pipe is that they have practically been brought upon that kind of a pipe and it is accordingly hard to wear them over to the American woods.

Because a similar shortage of brier occurred during the first World War, the Forest Products Laboratory is frequently being consulted in regard to substitutes for brier as well as to the seasoning of the different kinds of American pipe woods. One of the substitutes is mountain laurel root, an easily obtained wood, which the mountaineers of western North Carolina and West Virginia are now busy collecting. California wild lilac, madrone, rhododendron, and apple also produce good buris for pipes, equal in workability and beauty of grain, and equal or better in smoking qualities to imported brier. Another handsome burly wood is the mountain mahogany of the Sierras but the wood is hard to cut on a lathe and that may make it too expensive to work. Applewood, probably more largely used in cheap American pipes than any other wood, ranks high because of smooth working, ability to take a high finish, and fair resistance to burning.

One of the principal problems in using American woods for pipe making has been the seasoning of the blanks without undue losses from splitting and warping. Making the finished pipes fire resistant during the "breaking in" period has been another major problem. Wood experts at the Forest Products Laboratory deem it probable that research will shortly reveal a process of seasoning these woods with practically no losses due to degrade and at the same time will make them fire resistant and at a cost that can compete with the brier blanks. Once the pipe smoking public becomes thoroughly familiar with American pipe woods it may be unnecessary to again turn to the imported wood after the present emergency.

Negroes Wanted In Regular Army

Men Enlisting Before June 26, Have Choice Of Going To One Of Four Camps And Chance For Advancement

Sergeant J. M. Pate, Non-commissioned officer in charge of the Army Recruiting Station, Raleigh, has announced that his station has several vacancies left for negro applicants, who are qualified for enlistment in the Regular Army. These men now have a choice of being sent to Fort Bragg, Camp Davis, Fort Jackson, S. C., or Camp Croft, S. C. Also, they are given their choice in the various branches of the service now available.

Sgt. Pate announced also, that after this immediate quota was filled that men enlisting for service would not have the choice of assignment, as in the past. Only men enlisting for the Air Corps are assigned to any particular branch of service at the time of acceptance.

These vacancies are now open at the Raleigh station, but are to be filled with least practicable delay, and not later than June 26th.

Applicants possessing knowledge of any vocation and can qualify in other respects, are needed at once. The following specialist vacancies are now available: Painters, Carpenters, Mechanics, Chauffeurs, Bricklayers, Foremen, Truck and Tractor drivers, Road Machine operators, Dental technicians, Medical technicians, Draftsmen, Firemen, Typist, Clerks, Radio operators, Telephone operators, Cooks, Mess sergeants, First sergeants, Supply sergeants, Warehouse clerks and several others not mentioned.

Most of these men will be placed in one of the new Negro organizations now being formed, and will have a good chance for rapid advance in pay and stand an excellent chance for promotion to non-commissioned officers. In other words, a man enlisting now has a lifetime job with good pay, all medical attention, clothing and room and board given him without cost. He is also given a thirty day vacation each year, with full pay and an extra allowance during his vacation for food.

To be eligible for enlistment, the applicant must be between the ages of 18 and 35, single with no dependent, good moral character, good physical condition and must have the equivalent of at least a sixth grade education. Applicants 18 and not 21, must have the written consent of their parents or guardian. Applicants 21, that have registered, must present their registration card at time of acceptance. No applicant can be accepted who has been ordered to report for induction by his local Selective Board.

Navy Aviation Needs Mechanics

Unusual Opportunities Offered Boys With Mechanical Ability To Qualify For Good Jobs With Naval Air Corps

The Navy Department desires to obtain a large number of young men between 17 and 28, unmarried and who have mechanical aptitude, for Class V-2, U. S. Naval Reserve. These men, upon completion of recruit training, if qualified will be sent to an aviation school for training leading to Aviation Machinist, Aviation Metalsmith, Photographer and Aviation Pilot.

Men are paid, furnished free food, lodging, clothes and medical care while learning, and have an assured future in a growing industry which no doubt will be larger than the present automobile field after the present emergency is ended.

Schools are maintained for this specialized training in Florida at Pensacola and Jacksonville and in Illinois at Great Lakes.

Lieutenant Commander McFarland Wood the Officer in Charge of the Navy Recruiting in the Carolinas stated that this is not only the chance of a life time, but also the opportunity everyone has been waiting for to serve their country in a specialized field during the emergency recently declared by the President.

Commander Wood further announced that the opportunities for promotion in the rapid expanding Navy were never better than now. Practically 60% of the men in the Naval Service today are specialists and hold petty officer ratings with pay ranging from $60 to $157 a month. Those joining the Navy or Naval Reserve now will be in a favorable position to benefit themselves by not only serving during the present emergency, but should they desire to make the Navy a career, they may do so.

Selective Service Registration does not prevent anyone from joining the Naval Reserve or Navy. Investigate the Navy Schools and Trades at Wilmington.

SUMMER LIBRARY OPEN AT LELAND
and children's reading, fiction and non-fiction, also a large supply of magazines.

Miss Leah Skipper, librarian, says much enthusiasm has been shown. Records show the library has enjoyed a circulation of 728 books from May 13th to June 1st. Miss Skipper says this is a good circulation as so many are unable to take advantage of this opportunity due to means of travel during the library hours. Visitors are always welcome.

The people who do not patronize the library do not know the pleasure the children and grown-ups derive from it, even the pre-school children. It is an inspiration to just see their faces as they come and ask for books. It is also building a better community.

THE NEXT MEETING will be Tuesday July 1st at 8 P. M. Holden's Beach. A picnic will be served. All young people of the county who have graduated from high school are urged to join the club. Meetings are held semi-monthly at Bolivia school luncheon special announcement is made the contrary.

THE ARMY'S ON THE MOVE!

ARMY maneuvers on a scale vastly greater than ever attempted in this country are under way and will continue for several months. The scene of these maneuvers is the nine southern states served by Southern Bell.

It will be both a test and training for the army as well as for the civilian population which provides the vital means of communication, transportation and supply.

Essential to the success of these maneuvers is an adequate, dependable system of telephone communication. This the Southern Bell Company is providing whenever, wherever and in whatever amount the fast shifting armies require. This means that the Telephone Company, like the army, is keeping its sources of supply, transportation facilities and man power ready day and night so it can act on the moment. Past years of training and experience in meeting emergencies have already prepared our army of telephone workers for this big task.

It is the Telephone Company's plan to take care of the army's needs with little, if any, serious interference with the public's accustomed use of the service. During these maneuvers, however, there may be occasions when for short periods of time our facilities will be mainly required to meet the army's sudden and unexpected needs. Should this happen in your community, your wholehearted cooperation will be a helpful contribution to the successful advancement of preparedness.
