CAPABLE HANDS HOLD THE REINS!

DIXIE'S wheels of defense are turning at a tempo never before equaled. To the numerous factories, military bases, and the public at large, quick, dependable telephone service was never more important than now.

Providing and safeguarding this service in these fast changing times is a tremendous task. Southern Bell of necessity is a big organization with thousands of highly trained telephone veterans who have met and mastered many emergencies.

About 10,000 new telephone recruits, added during the past two years, are being trained by this experienced army for important positions on the telephone firing line, and more are being added daily.

In all, a combined force of 25,000 workers is rushing telephone expansion to meet the South's ever-increasing demands. Speeding up the delivery of supplies are four huge telephone supply bases located within overnight reach of every major industrial and military center in the South.

This army of loyal telephone men and women is working in harmony to expand and to safeguard the lines of telephone communication throughout the South.

Friday turned out to be a lovely time for a picnic at Bald Head, so a party went over from here in Capt. Charlie Swan's trim craft for the afternoon and supper. Mrs. Percy J. Farrell was hostess.

The party landed on the beach and immediately went to inspect the new (to us) radio beacon.

We bummed a ride with two general coast guardsmen to Mary Matthews cottage on the other side of the island.

Always the perfect hostess, Mary brought out ice water (which was most welcome as the day was warm), and delicious Toll House cookies. Then followed a trip to the surf, for some of us (others of us betook ourselves to those grand porch chairs) and then back to the boat for the evening meal.

Peggy Carr and Eloise St. George are visiting Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Gold in High Point this week.

the way down we raided the watermelon patch for mementoes of the days experiences.

Those who went were Marion Watson, Elizabeth Kiddoo, Elva Deitz, Eleanor Russ, Ethel Farrell, Mrs. Ed. Taylor, Beverly Brown, and this family.

Kate, Lee, and Anna Kathryn Garrett have just returned from a trip to Florida. . . and Kate tells us that she brought back some plants with her, mainly hibiscus, which blooms with such profusion there, and gerbera.

She, at least, agrees with last week's "Lighter Side" . . . She thinks that everybody ought to have more of everything in their yards. . . Incidentally, everything Kate sticks down seems to grow.

Joe Cochran spent last week in Atlanta, Ga., receiving training as an employee of Sears Roebuck Stores and has recently been promoted to Mgr. of the paint dept. in their store in Wilmington.

HOUSEWIVES COOPERATE IN PUBLIC SPIRITED PEACH DRIVE

Unlike war-torn Europe, America is not suffering from a shortage of needed foods, but is suffering from under-consumption, with more than 40% of our entire population undernourished.

A cooperative public spirited educational campaign sponsored by the Georgia-Carolina Board and Food Trades Industry in cooperation with the U. S. Department of Agriculture is now underway to increase the consumption of fresh peaches by everyone.

During the period July 24th through July 30th all housewives in this area and the South are urged to use more peaches and to have an adequate supply for year-round use by home-canning.

It is unknown by many the importance of this fruit in nutritional and dietary values. They are rich in minerals, some of which are calcium, iron, phosphorus and potassium; needed to build bone structure, protect the teeth, enrich the blood, and regulate body functions.

The abundance of value food factors in peaches includes Vitamin A, which helps growth and vitality and is nature's first line of defense against diseases of the nose throat and lungs; Vitamin increases appetite, stimulates digestion, and aids in protecting the body from nerve diseases; Vitamin C, needed to keep the body in good condition, aids in resistance to infection, and stimulates growth, and Vitamin G (B2), vital to nerve tissues and maintenance of body vigor.

REA Officials Enjoy Party

Raleigh people, all members of the REA board, and their wives had a very delightful house party at Long Beach last week. They used the large Swain cottage near the pavilion and it is understood that some of them plan to form another party and return to the beach before the close of the season.

Those in the party were, N. E. Canady, manager of the state REA board; Mr. and Mrs. Jim Anderson, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Thorne; Mr. and Mrs. L. M. Kiever, Mrs. Ann Copeland and Bill Armstrong, Mr. Armstrong is of Bridgeport, Conn.

Two Southport Boys Hunt Breeze

Monday was a rather warm day, which is putting it mildly, so early in the morning Douglas Jones, 13, and Franto Mollycheck, 11, decided they would go where the cooling winds do blow, and far from the maddening crowd.

For provender and equipment they took four cans of beans, three loaves of bread and some sandwich spread. Loading this into a small rowboat, they set out at 6 o'clock for Battery Island, one mile out in the river from Southport.

Nothing lives on the island except some hundreds of herons, a lesser number of gulls and a good sprinkling of villainous crows. Friends and relatives of the boys expected they would get tired of their adventure and return the same day. They did not. They stayed Monday night and all day yesterday, and for all that is known to the contrary, they are still there. However, unless they go to eating crow eggs, they will have to return home soon.

Leland Club Women Meet

Members of Leland Home Demonstration Club met July 15th at the home of Mrs. K. B. Dresser in their regular monthly meeting.

The meeting was presided over by Mrs. Dresser, president. Mrs. Marion S. Doshier introduced the new agent, Miss Genevieve Eakes. Literature on the lesson, "Refreshing Desserts" was distributed. A short discussion on this subject followed.

Refreshments were served by the hostess to the following club members: Mrs. Lee Blake, Mrs. O. W. Perry, Mrs. J. W. Withrow, Mrs. G. A. Lossen, Mrs. Joe Verzaal, Mrs. Doshier and Miss Eakes.

The next regular meeting will be with Mrs. O. W. Perry, on Tuesday August 18, at 3 o'clock.
