

The Lighter Side Of Life

Our Helpmate

Our copy for "Lighter Side" was lost last week so there was none in the paper. In that column we had written about the Valentine "war - sages" which the young girls of the Methodist church made and sold two weeks ago. We also mentioned that the same plan was going to be carried through at Easter, on a larger scale. Real ribbon and lace will dress them up for the occasion and they will do credit to any Easter outfit.

It's a swell way to help the government, a worthy cause, and get a substantial return on the purchase price for your war stamp books. All this and a pretty cottage, too.

Now that the new ration books are out we can see what we'll be allowed in the way of processed food for the next month. It seems to us that we in Brunswick are lucky. We can always have a garden, or at least we can buy the fruits of someone else's labor. They can't always do that in cities, you know.

Anyway, we believe that very few people in this county will even so much as be inconvenienced by the program. Now we wish we'd done what so many of the industrious women have done in this county; i. e. stocked our shelves with home-canned goods.

We may not have a choice from now on, but we'll have plenty of the substantial things to eat. If we're smart enough to plan a garden now and keep at it when the weather gets hot, we'll be doing our small share in winning the war.

Uncle Sam

CAN DEPEND UPON OUR FARMERS

American farmers are going to get enough food out of the ground in 1943 to run the Axis clear into the ground. ★

The farmer will work as hard as anybody in any factory in meeting the highest farm production goals in history. He will show the same self-sacrificing courage that our boys are showing. Why not? His sons are among those fighters—real "chips off the old block."

Oldsters and youngsters, over here and over there, Uncle Sam can be proud of them and he can depend on them.

WORMY PIG WILL NEVER GET BIG
The old saying, "A wormy pig will never get big," should be kept in mind this spring as thousands of new pigs are born, reports Dr. C. D. Grinnell, Experiment Station Veterinarian at N. C. State College. The roundworm, or ascariid, is one of the most common and injurious of these swine parasites.

To raise pigs that develop quickly and profitably, he urges that growers adopt an approved swine sanitation system. This includes the removal of all little from the farrowing pens and cleaning of the pens with boiling warm water to remove all dirt. Pay special attention to the udder.

Within 10 days after farrowing, haul (do not drive) the sow and pigs directly to a field which has previously sown to a forage crop. Allow no other hogs in this pasture except sows and litters similarly handled. Provide plenty of shelter and shade, and a safe supply of fresh water.

Since March 1941 the U. S. has delivered for shipment to the Allies about 4,000,000 tons of foodstuffs, at a cost of about $1,250,000,000.

According to C. C. Pratt, assistant farm agent in Northampton County, M. S. Bridgers, Jr., of Conway, had an outstanding flock of hens in 1942, with a profit of $2.82 per hen over all feeds costs.
