

Reunion Held In Honorees' Home

The relatives and friends of Mrs. Heneretta Carlyle met at her old home Sunday, March 14th, and held services as follows.

Mrs. Carlyle being confined to her bed, friends and relatives assembled in the parlor for religious services, Rev. G. J. Lewis, pastor, and Rev. E. B. Smith presiding. Songs were sung from the church hymnal and prayer was by her daughter, Mrs. Rose Phillips. Other songs were sung, and instrumental music was rendered by her son, James and granddaughter, Mrs. Ema Woodcock. Mrs. Phillips made an interesting talk relative to the long life and service of her mother.

Pastor G. J. Lewis submitted the text for the occasion by quoting the Scripture, 11 5-1. "For if this earthly house should be destroyed, we have one eternal in the heavens."

Rev. Lewis made an inspiring talk. In conclusion Rev. Smith, a grandson, recalled memories of his experience with his grandmother from childhood and brought up a good report. At this point the aged mother gave sanction to past records and testified that she was still on the King Highway and was ready for her summons any time. Then Rev. Lewis and his wife, Lettie, sang a song, "Give Me the Flowers White I Live and Don't Wait Until I Die."

The congregation sang, "Shake Hands With Mother Again". This part of the service was heart-rending while her many relatives and friends came to her bedside and carressed her. After devotional service was over a most delicious dinner was spread on the long porch of the old home and thanks giving was rendered by Rev. E. B. Smith. A company of about 60 persons enjoyed lunch. The afternoon service was spent in personal appearance and homage to honoree.

The following were present: Her only brother, Wesley Stanley, Linnie, his wife and son, Hercules; her children as follows: James Carlyle, Rose Phillips, Scattie Hewett, Geneva Grice, Perlie Milligan, sons and daughters-in-law, W. B. Phillips, Lella Carlyle; grand-children as follows: Rev.

Wire Rationing Program Stopped

The following telegram was received this week by County Agent J. E. Dodson from M. Clifford Townsend, Director, Food Production Administration, U. S. Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. S.:

"Discontinue rationing fence. Food Production Order Three being amended accordingly. Notify all committees and dealers."

This means that it is no longer necessary to issue purchase certificate for the delivery of wire fencing.

Club Meeting At Grissettown

The Grissettown Home Demonstration Club met at the home of Mrs. Melle Grissett on March 22. The club was called to order by singing "Columbia the Gem of the Ocean" after which the collect was repeated by all.

"Care of clothing" was given by Miss Eakes, after which she demonstrated a lesson on cooking.

Everyone had a very good time and the meeting was adjourned until April.

Oaks Plantation Is Called Modern Model Farm In Co. farming is the raising of Sicilian donkeys. In recent years several have been sold and one of the long eared products was presented to the Army as a mascot. At present, the farm still has seven of the long-eared, loud-voiced little animals, and they make an interesting sight.

The two wonderful farm fish ponds, one of them covering a large acreage, are also objects of much interest. These ponds, studded with cypress and with much of the surface covered with water lilies, are a beautiful sight.

Election Case Will Be Tried In New Hanover

There is great public interest in this case, and there was a large crowd present at both Monday and Tuesday's session of court.

Four divorce cases were disposed of. They were Ben Brown vs. Lizzie M. Brown; Elmer Bowman vs. Dorothy Mae Bowman; Gause vs. Gause; and Rosa Lee Mimms vs. Maryland Mimms. In connection with this latter suit there were certain provision which give the plaintiff a life estate in the home owned by Mimms in addition to two payments of $100.00 each made in lieu of all other claims of the plaintiff against the defendant.

SEASON CLOSES FOR FORTY DAYS

A considerable number of sportsmen tried for the Orton fishing during the last two weeks of the season and made some pretty good catches despite unfavorable weather. One sportsman got an eight-pound bass. The name of this fellow was not learned.

Included in the catches have been an unusually large number of bass that were just above the legal size. This indicates that the rains which came last year, after several years of very dry weather, started a big crop of young fish. The claim is being made that this summer and fall, as well as next year, will bring some of the best freshwater fishing that has existed in this county in a dozen years.
