Brunswick Is Glad To Hear

Since the recent publication of letters from Major R. I. Mintz, who is in charge of an air field in England, and from Captain Maurice Rosenbaum, who is with a field hospital in France, many nice comments have been received by the paper from friends of these men in various parts of the county. These people were interested in hearing, even indirectly, from the Major and the Captain. The same thing can reasonably be expected to apply to other Brunswick county men overseas. When relatives or friends receive interesting word from these boys it will be appreciated if part or all will be passed on to us for publication.

It takes thousands of telephone calls to build a bomber

... and this country is making more bombers than ever before

More planes, more ships, more of everything for war mean more Long Distance calls. And right now things are moving double-quick.

Today with war in its critical stage, everyday is a rush day for Long Distance telephone lines. You can help keep the lines clear for war calls by making only really urgent calls.

More calls get through quicker when everybody helps that way.

North Carolina TODAY AND TOMORROW

*This advertisement will appear in newspapers in large industrial centers, and magazines of national circulation.

North Carolina has an outstanding record among the states of our Nation for industrial development, commercial progress and civic advancement.

Nature blessed this state with such basic assets as mild climate, fertile soils and raw materials in abundance and variety. Today, these resources are contributing mightily to the winning of the war.

But North Carolina is not resting on its laurels. State agencies, railroads, industry and agriculture are cooperating in long-range plans to assure better times in the years ahead.

The Seaboard, a key railroad serving North Carolina, is proud of the constructive part it has played in the economic progress of the State. Through its Industrial and Agricultural Development Departments, as well as through other agencies of the Railway, the Seaboard will continue to plan and work with North Carolina for the brighter world of tomorrow.
