"We have 4,300,000 jobs to do today"

These are busy days for everybody in the telephone business. About 4,300,000 Toll and Long Distance messages go over the lines in the average business day. (That's in addition to more than 100,000,000 daily local conversations.)

We appreciate your help, especially when you're on a line to a war-busy center and the Long Distance operator says—"Please limit your call to 5 minutes."

Two Sons Have Enjoyed Leaves

Mr. and Mrs. Gray Fortunate To Have Two Sons Home At Same Time

Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Gray of Shallotte have had two of their sons home with them on leave from their respective bases. Homer L. Gray, Seaman First Class, returned on Thursday to Glenview, Illinois, where he is receiving training as an aviation machinist at the Naval Air Station. He had ten days at home.

Sgt. Elbert H. Gray, who is in the Marine Corps, is still at home on a fifteen day furlough. He is a member of the Military Police and is stationed at Parris Island, S. C.

Same Yuletide Tree Is Used For Five Years

Mrs. Yount Of Antioch Community Planted Small Cedar Five Years Ago; First Used As Pot Plant

"Use what you have to the fullest extent" is the slogan of the clothing groups in the 2,200 rural home demonstration clubs in North Carolina since materials are hard to obtain and clothing is relatively high in price.

Mrs. H. R. Yount of the Antioch Club in Brunswick County has carried the slogan a step further by using the same Christmas tree for the last five holiday seasons, according to Elizabeth Norfleet, home demonstration agent for Brunswick.

Mrs. Yount planted a small cedar by the house and the first Christmas it was about 15 inches high. It was placed in a pot and used as a table tree with proper decorations. Mrs. Yount replanted the small tree by the house and the second year she dug it up again and placed it in a bucket on a table for Christmas.

Again it was replanted and the third year it took its place on the floor with the children adding the necessary decorations. It was very carefully treated and again reset by the house. For the last two years it has been used as an outside Christmas tree to carry all the lights and decorations.

With the Christmas season rapidly approaching, Mrs. Yount and the other members of the family are making special preparations for the decoration of the traditional Christmas tree and for the usual celebrations.

week while driving down the old swamp-lined Pungo Turnpike from Plymouth to Wenona. There was a large canal on either side of the road, and the bear did not want to go into the water, so he changed his pace from a jogging trot to a full loping gallop. At 18 miles an hour, said Rea, the bear saw it was the car or the water, and he chose the latter.

Advises Keeping Dairy Cows Well Housed In Winter

Should Be Protected From Sudden Changes Of Weather Says Extension Dairyman

Dairy cattle should be protected from sudden changes of temperature during the winter and given quarters in which they can keep themselves clean, says A. C. Kimrey, Extension dairyman for the State College Extension Service.

He suggests that the cows be housed in a wide shed, open to the south, and supplied with plenty of hay racks. A good supply of such bedding as grain straw or shredded corn stover should be used at all times to keep the floor dry.

Many good dairymen believe that cows produce better when fastened separately in a lounging barn or shed, especially where they are not dehorned. Kimrey suggests that if cows are fastened, that they be allowed plenty of room for comfort. "Deep, dry bedding is essential for comfort," he says, "and it is also a distinct aid in preventing udder troubles."

Calves should have a barn to themselves. It should be so constructed that each baby calf will have a separate stall. When the calves grow older, they may be placed together and thus save space in the barn. "This kind of calf-barn arrangement, enables the calves to grow out much better and develop into better producers when they come into milk," Kimrey says.

As to general arrangements, he suggests that all dairy barns be planned and constructed so as to provide a maximum of cleanliness, comfort, and quietness for the cows. "These things will pay good dividends in the milk pail, all other things being equal," Kimrey explains.

Pine trees planted on idle acres prevent erosion and pay profits as a timber crop.

Woolen Clothes Need Extra Care

War-Time Conditions Demand Special Care Be Taken Of All Woolen Garments

Woolen clothing should be given especially good care under present war-time conditions so as to make it last as long as possible and remain in good condition, says Willie Hunter, Extension clothing specialist at State College.

She suggests a soft brush as a good aid in keeping a suit or coat looking its best and that the brush be used after every wearing of the garment. Tiny, unseen particles of dust combine with the natural oils that wool absorbs from the skin and this combination makes the garment look shabby at a relatively early date.

"If a napped fabric gets wet, wait until it dries before brushing it," Miss Hunter says. "Brush gently in the direction of the pile. However, around the collar and pockets, a stiffer brush will be needed."

When driving or sitting in a coat, it is well to unbutton the coat all the way, is another practical suggestion of Miss Hunter. This is to relieve the strain on the seams and buttons, and prevent stretching the back.

Overloading will stretch and strain pockets and often tear their corners. To prevent pencils and pens from jabbing holes in the garment, Miss Hunter suggests clips and well fitted caps.

Throwing clothing around and laying it carelessly over a chair is bad practice, according to the clothing specialist. The coat or suit should be placed squarely on a hanger as soon as possible after being worn, is her suggestion.

Resistance to coccidiosis is an inherited family trait, say researchers men of the Agricultural Experiment Station at State College.

Farmers Advised To Save Plenty Lespedeza Seed

Popularity Of Crop Is Increasing In All Parts Of State; Is Excellent Hay Crop

Growers should save plenty of lespedeza seed this fall because the popularity of this hay crop is increasing in all sections of North Carolina and relatively large acreages will be planted in the spring, says Dr. Emerson Collins, in charge of Extension agronomy at State College.

Lespedeza is not only proving an excellent hay crop but it is also being widely used as a temporary grazing crop for both hogs and cattle. This year feed crops have been short on many farms and lespedeza has provided a backlog of grazing that has enabled many growers to pull through in good shape.

Collins notes that the grazing of hogs on lespedeza, as shown by the demonstrations conducted by Ellis Vestal, Extension swine specialist, has enabled growers to produce some of the cheapest gains of any method of feeding. Only a small amount of corn was used and a good mineral supplement was kept before the hogs at all times.
