Come Back Home Jobs Are Waiting

A LOT of our patriotic neighbors left home to serve their country, either in the armed services or in war industries.

If you are one of them, we want you to know there is a warm welcome and a job waiting for you here.

We hope you will come back to make your home here among your old friends and neighbors. This is a good town with a lot of fine people—and a fine future.

Plenty of Jobs Here

In addition to the opportunities here with which you are familiar, some new ones have developed during the war. For instance, a lot of people around here have been making good money working in pulpwood. The tremendous war-time demand for pulpwood will continue because of the civilian demand that has been piling up and the many new industrial uses that have been discovered. Pulpwood has no re-conversion problem.

And that is typical of most of our business here. It runs along pretty steadily—no big ups and downs. You can enjoy security here and a nice way of living that doesn't cost every penny you make.

So come on back home to stay! We'll be mighty glad and proud to have you with us again.

Cut this out— Mail it to somebody you want to come back home

From where I sit... by Joe Marsh

Lawn Mowers—Prewar Versus Postwar

Will Curry isn't falling for those pictures of a postwar life of ease. He was sweating over his lawn mower the other day, when somebody shows him pictures of a mower that runs under its own power.

"Shucks," says Will, "I like a lawn mower that gives you some backtalk and exercise. It gets the old blood circulating and works up a wonderful thirst. Then," Will adds with zest, "there's nothing in the whole world that tastes as good as a wonderful glass of beer!"

From where I sit, there's a lot of good sense in what Will says. A little honest effort never hurt anybody. And there should be more to our post-war plans than how to make life comfortable and easy.

Outdoor work—work you do with your hands and your back—ought to be part of everybody's post-war plans. And on a hot day, as Will says, there's always that sparkling glass of beer as a reward!
