Officers elected for the club were as follows: President, Mrs. Zelma R. Hewett; Vice-President, Mrs. Hazel R. Purvis; Secretary and Treasurer, Mrs. Luella B. Hilburn. Three project leaders were elected: Foods and Nutrition, Mrs. Hazel R. Purvis; Family Life, Mrs. Ruth Evans; Recreation, Mrs. Bertha Evans.

Plans for future club work were discussed and this was followed by an interesting illustration of dress materials by Miss McLamb. The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Zelma R. Hewett on October 2nd at 2:30 p. m. The demonstrations will be on Housing-Today and Tomorrow. There are nine members on the roll of the new club and many more are expected to join. All who are interested are invited to attend the meetings.

ly seen. And now they are coming back in much the same way and the first thing that most of them do is to lay aside their uniforms and get back into civilian clothes. Daily we see some young fellow, dressed pretty much as he was three or four years ago and with absolutely nothing about him to indicate all that he has been through.

D. J. Smith, Durham real estate man and Southgate Jones, Durham banker and real estate man, were here all of last week. Both are getting keenly interested in local properties and are setting about to see that some of it changes hands and becomes available for various uses. In addition to buying and selling they may undertake some development of their own, according to information.

A. R. Mooney, of Supply, is one of the farmer friends of the paper who never take a chance of their subs running out and missing a copy. Already paid up until the first of February, Mr. Mooney approached the Pilot's man last week with an inquiry if he could renew now for another year. He could and did and his present rating is that he is paid up to February, 1947, and he was an equally good rating as a friend of the paper.

This very friendly word comes to the State Port Pilot from R. G. Hewett, of Shallotte, first class, from somewhere in the Pacific. He asked that his paper be sent to his home address. Evidently he is on his way home. Continuing, he said: "I have been serving with an Aircraft Service in the Philippines and I now am on my way home. My mother, Mrs. H. G. Hewett, of Shallotte, sent me a subscription to the State Port Pilot some time ago and I have really enjoyed reading every copy of it. It was old when I got it but it was still news to me. I'd like to pass the word on to all Brunswick parents and wives, who have sons or husbands in the armed forces, especially if they are overseas, if you want to give them a present they will really appreciate, send them a subscription to the State Port Pilot."

NORTH CAROLINA—STATE OF Progress!

When the unpleasant job in which we are all presently engaged is safely behind us, North Carolina will turn from the destruction that is war to the arts of peace to again devote its full energies toward the building of a more progressive economy. Few states can equal the record achieved by North Carolina in the past two decades. In commerce, in industry, in agriculture; in education, in government and in social progress, the Old North State enjoys a justly earned reputation for being "out in front."

The future beckons with potentialities far greater than anything achieved in the past. A state of vast resources populated by a progressive and friendly people spells opportunity unlimited for North Carolina.

The Seaboard Air Line Railway, like North Carolina, made its full contribution to the winning of the war. When final victory is ours, Seaboard will join its friends and neighbors of this great state in the call... "Back to Progress."

Part 1 is up to us!

Long before his troubles vanish in her warm embrace... long before he sees home again, he can be there—if you will help him.

The first thought of thousands of weary men, now landing in the South, is to rush to the telephone and call home.

What a disappointment if they find all long distance lines busy and they can't get their calls through.

Your telephone company is doing all that is humanly possible and you can help, too, by skipping all unnecessary calls—and by cutting short the essential ones.

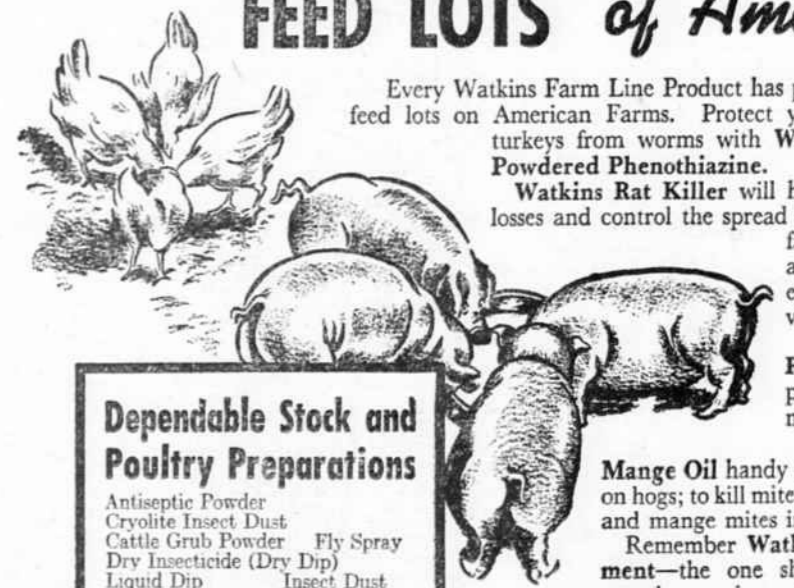

If you find this inconvenient, just remember what that first call home means to returning service men.
