suspended upon payment of the costs, the defendant to be on probation for a period of 5 years. James McNeil was faced with a similar charge and the same sentence was pronounced by Judge Burney.

Mrs. Edna Anderson was given custody of her four minor children, Charles E. Willis, William E. Willis, Francis C. Willis and Emma L. Willis through a court order signed by Judge Burney following his inquiry into the facts of this case.

Douglas Ballard was convicted of murder and was given 2 years on the roads. Jennings Robinson, found guilty of forcible trespass, was given 6 months on the roads, judgment being suspended upon payment of costs, the defendant to be on probation for 5 years.

The case against Ronnie Varnam for non-support was continued.

In the matter of J. P. Pretlow vs. J. L. Hamme the defendant was permitted to file answer, and the judgment obtained by default was ordered stricken from the records.

In the case of J. L. Hamme vs. R. F. Hamme, Jr., the plaintiff was ordered to amend his complaint to make its charges more specific.

Ulysses Williamson was found guilty of being drunk and disorderly resisting arrest and assaulting an officer. Given 30 days on the roads, judgment was suspended upon payment of costs, the defendant to be of good behavior for two years.

Trial of Joe G. Mullis for passing a worthless check was remanded to Recorder's court for trial.

Trial of Bryant Brown and Emma Hewitt on charges of fornication and adultery was also remanded to Recorder's court.

John Hazelton pleaded guilty to charges of assault. Judgment of 6 months on the roads was suspended upon payment of costs, the defendant to be on probation for 5 years.

The following defendants were found not guilty: Thomas McDonald, assault and threat to kill and breaking and entering; Ben McLamb, assault with a deadly weapon; Roland Ganey, trespass; Albert Ellington, threat to kill and using profane language in a public place.

Middletons Purchase Big Tract From Goldsboro Men

The original Fort Caswell reservation consisted of 2,700 acres. Of this acreage 300-acres was sold back to the government at the beginning of the recent war. Fort Caswell forms a part of this 300-acres and this tract is still owned by the Navy. Following the sale to the government the Chase estate sold the remaining 2,400 acres to the Goldsboro interests and their sale of 900 acres to the Middletons leaves them still owing around 1900 acres of the original Fort Caswell tract.

for the serving of warrants and attending court as witnesses, the same as other officers.

The need of having these additional officers at the basin is obvious. The property value when the 500 ships that have been assigned to the basin have all been stored will run into the millions. Also the basin will have a large force of workers and it is necessary to have both police protection to maintain order and to protect property.

Captain Ford said that in a year's time approximately 700 men would be working at the basin. For the immediate present there will be about 265. When asked about housing for these men and families, he stated that it was the expectation and hope to employ local men as far as possible. This means that Brunswick county men and men from nearby other counties will be given preference if they can qualify for the work that is to be done.

SOUTHPORT LADY DIES SATURDAY

PIPELINE DREDGE BACK TO BASIN

extensive repairs were made at the Newport News Shipbuilding and Dry Dock company. Reports are to the effect that the return journey to the Brunswick county basin will be made this week.

The dredge has a 33 inch pipe line and is reportedly to be the most powerful machine of its kind east of the Mississippi river. It is credited with the ability of moving around 1,000,000 cubic yards of mud per month. At work on the basin since early spring and with only the one interruption that came with the explosion of the turbine, it is expected to complete the job of dredging the huge basin in December.

MORSE HOME IS BEING REMODELED

Robin's Nest, two miles from town, and on the home of Col. and Mrs. Earl I. Brown.

Some years ago the State News Bureau stated that there were but two captain walks remaining on homes along the coast of North Carolina. Both of these two, according to the Bureau, were on homes in the eastern part of the state. This statement was obviously in error as there are three such reminders of old times on houses in this section.

Captain walks, a sort of cupola or lookout on the top of old time homes along the coast, were so named because of the fact that they were built to permit fishermen and sailors to look and see if the sails of the ships on which they worked were anywhere in sight. In those days little was known of the whereabouts of a ship from the time it left port until it was sighted returning.

All interested veterans and non-veterans residing in the Brunswick County Area may contact a recruiting representative in the Southport Post Office every Tuesday from 10 a. m. until 2 p. m., or they may come to the U. S. Army Recruiting Station, Room 203-205 Post Office Bldg., Wilmington, N. C.
