Carpenter told me to look up and say "hello" for him. You don't know it, Captain. Carpenter was about 10 years ago in the U. S. Marines. He left the service and became hunting and fishing editor on the Washington Post. Likewise he got to be a good friend of ours on numerous fishing trips to Southport. He went back to the Marines and jump. When he was all over there he stayed with the Marines as Press Man. He will be here this summer or fall.

Highway Commissioner Bringer is coming over this week to go fishing with us. The weather does not seem to be planning to go fishing—nothing else, so far as we are concerned. We will have no say about roads before, or while we are fishing on any other sunnyside. He wants to come butting in and to talk our fishing by going to talk roads to the Commissioner is going to get himself cussed out by yours truly.

Rainfall in Brunswick county has been rather checked in its distribution this summer. The good farming sections of Waccamaw, Shallotte and Lockwoods Folly townships, as well as much of Town Creek township, have had almost too much rain. In spots some of the crops are reported as having been injured. In contrast to the above places Southport has been rather dry, as the only heavy rain in some weeks fell at Southport Thursday.

Without having to take any money along with her Miss Polly Bennett of Shallotte can get inside any show at the Shallotte Theatre this week, if she carries a copy of this weeks issue of The State Port Pilot. At the Amuzu-in Southport Miss Alice Ann Fields will get the nod under the same conditions.

Sam Ragan, State News Editor of the Raleigh News and Observer and a very good friend of ours when we need an extra one, is to spend his vacation, beginning Saturday or Sunday, at one of our growing Brunswick county beaches. Naturally, this means that we will have to spend a good part of next week digging fishing worms. Sam is like us in one respect. He is pretty good for a country boy. On top of that he is a darn smart newspaperman.

With a lot of the very young folks, with whom we are proud to be rated as a friend, we know of no finer trio outside of Brunswick county than Helen, Robin and John Babbington of Gastonia. They were here last week with their mother, Mrs. R. B. Babbington. Their ages are about eight and nine, Helen and Robin are twin girls. John is the man of the family. All three are red headed and Helen and Robin are exactly alike. In fact, it may be said that John and his twin sisters are all three pretty much alike. All of them read this paper at their home in Gastonia and they knew us better than we knew them.

Every year we have wanted to spend a full day with some of the Brunswick county shore fishermen. Wanting was as far as we got. Sometimes we have managed to drop in on one and stay for maybe an hour. On such visits it usually happened that there were no fish to be handled at the moment, and all we could see would be the fishermen waiting on the alert for a school of fish to show up. Some time this year we aim to take a holiday, a full one, put on a pair of boots or at least an old pair of pants and spend a day at Little Beach, Shallotte Point or wherever we can get to go with some assurance that the boys will be catching fish.

Through the courtesy of our good friend, Wells M. Sawyer, a painting that is one of the best ever made of any Southport scene will be on exhibition here at the State Port Pilot office for the remainder of this week. Everyone is invited to see it. The finishing touches were put to it this week, and it is worth seeing. It is a study in oak trees, a home in Southport and glimpses of the river in the background. Mr. Sawyer, now spending the summer at Southport, is widely known for his painting. This Southport painting will shortly be placed with his agents at a price of $580.00.

There is a great deal more fine farming land right near Southport than the average traveler by highway imagines. One illustration can be found a mile from town. Herbert Swain, farming on the land adjoining the former Dr. Fergus farm, has some of the best tobacco in the county. He has completed his 3rd cropping and is on the 4th this week. He says he will get 1500 pounds of topgrade tobacco per acrea.

WHAT CATHOLICS BELIEVE THE MASS

The Mass is the Last Supper of Christ over again—the most sacred ceremony of the Catholic religion. By the Mass the Blessed Eucharist and Crucifixion are renewed. Everything in the Catholic Church centers about the adorable sacrifice of the Mass. For its celebration the altar is erected, our churches built, our priests ordained. It is for the worthy reception of Christ's Body and Blood effect by the Mass that the Confession of Sins prepares faithful Catholics. "I am the living bread which came out of heaven; if any man eat of this bread he shall live forever; yea and the bread which I will give is My flesh for the life of the world." John 6:51.
