New Regulations For Hunting Are Given To Public

Laws Governing Hunting In This Area Followed Closely Recommendations Made To State Body

ALL HUNTING ON LAY-DAY BASIS

Deer Season Will Open On October 6, With Hunting Lawful On Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday

The State said the word yesterday on its new hunting laws, but to most North Carolina sportsmen the word will sound mighty confusing.

The exceptions by county, by game, and by dates were more numerous than the rules.

But on one point this time there could be no doubt. This fall deer, don't shoot. Up to now North game laws have specified only that only male deer could be killed. The new laws established by the State Wildlife Resources Commission stipulate: 'Deer must have antlers plainly visible to the

The 1947-48 season regulations portunities. If they can find wild turkey in Wake County they may bag two for the season. They may hunt deer for nine days longer and for the first time since 1945 in Western North Carolina. Wild turkey hunting was taboo Wake last year.

Except for the exceptions, the 1947-48 season dates will approximately the same as 1947-48.

The cautious hunter can avoid all complications, however, by confining his sport to wildcat, weasel and skunk. Unprotected by either season or bag limit, they may be hunter or trapped at will,

According to tentative plans, luncheon will be had at the Anchor-Hotel at Shallotte Point on the wick county end of the trip. This may be dependent on the time the party may be able to reach that place. Mr. Hemmer, the photographer in Sharpe's office, was here Mon-day and also visited several beaches. At Southport he secured two pictures that may prove worthy of national distribution. In addition to the waterway trip, Mr. Hemmer also plans to be back here in the near future to secure pictures of the shrimping industry. The time of this visit is dependent on when the shrimp may become more numerous than they now are. Pete Knight, well known Wilmington photographer, was with Hemmer on this week's trip.
